Dear friends,

God has been good to me and blessed me as I serve Him daily in my prayers for our missionaries as they serve the Lord. He keeps me reminded of their needs and service daily. Not too long ago, He gave me the suggestion to change my prayer time.

I always pray in the morning after awaking at 7:30 am, and I am finished at about 10 to 10:30. Then I got to thinking about the fact that those who live on the other side of the world were always sleeping when I prayed for them. The Lord encouraged me to start praying for them at night when they would be awake and starting their day. So, I go to bed at 7pm and start to pray for all the missionaries along the eastern coast of Asia and their ministries. I pray until I fall asleep at somewhere around 9:30 pm or later.

I ask that you continue to pray for me personally, and that I will continue to be faithful in my prayers for all who serve with BMFP.

May God keep you faithful,

Alice Burge
