CHURCH PLANTING MISSIONARIES IN MOZAMBIQUE, AFRICA

Furlough Update

We have now been in the States for just over a month, and it has been a joy to reconnect with our friends and family. Our time at our home church in Tennessee has been especially meaningful, and we have begun visiting several of our supporting churches as well. It is always a privilege to preach the gospel and share how God is working in Mozambique. Please continue to pray for us as we travel, asking God to use us to encourage others through the testimony of His work in Mozambique.

Church Camp

Each year, the teens from our home church attend church camp—a wonderful opportunity to disconnect from daily distractions and grow spiritually. I was privileged to serve as a counselor and to preach during camp at the start of the month. We praise the Lord for the six young people who made professions of faith and for the many others who strengthened their walk with Him. Please continue to pray for the teens of our church as they grow in their faith.

Family Update

Our daughters have loved spending time with family here in the States. For many, it was their first opportunity to meet Kinsleigh, since she was born in Mozambique.

We also have exciting family news to share: our family will be growing this year, as Christen is expecting another baby girl around Thanksgiving! We are grateful that the Lord has entrusted us with another child. Christen and the baby are both doing well, and we would appreciate your prayers for a healthy pregnancy.

English Club

One of the men we have been working with in Mozambique—and who will be part of the church we plan to start next year—is an English teacher. We are eager to use every tool available to reach people with the gospel, including the English language. Many, especially among the younger generation, are eager to learn English, and we hope to use this as a bridge for ministry. This past month, we launched an online English Club that features group discussions on various topics, followed by a time of preaching in English. Please pray that God will use this opportunity to reach even more Mozambicans with the gospel.
