

October 2026

Dear Praying Friends,

Being involved in the work of Bible translation puts us on the front lines of spiritual warfare. We sometimes fight small battles, like emotional, financial, or family issues. But sometimes, we struggle, or watch our fellow soldiers struggle, with very present and dangerous situations in which we can only cry out for God's deliverance. The WorldView family has been watching one of our translation works deal with just such a situation and we are begging God for His protection. Please pray with us for an end to the conflict surrounding our Liangmai translation team. They face real and imminent physical danger from tribal warfare in their area. Some faithful soldiers, national pastors, have already been killed. Pray for their families and friends. Pray for protection. Pray for the work of Bible translation to continue. Pray for peace to prevail.

We praise the Lord for the following milestones in printing and distributing completed translations in Uganda:

- The Ma'adi New Testament 2026
- The Runyankore Bible 2026

To God be the glory!

We are still trying to finalize timing and details for a trip to Cameroon, where a team is starting translation work on Bibles in three separate languages. It looks like that trip will take place in early 2027.

On the home front, God closed the door for our son Jonathan to go to the university in Italy. He recently completed a summer season as a tour guide in Alaska, and he is now back in South Carolina considering his options for future studies. Our daughter Vicki and her husband Alex just celebrated their first anniversary and are doing well. Our daughter Cara is doing some volunteer design work for a local Christian theater as well as some freelance illustration work. Our daughter Julia works part time and is taking classes in film production. Pray for our children (and their parents!) as they seek to please the Lord with their lives.

For His Word,
Dan and Jenn Olachea
