

Dear Co-laborers,

We have made it through another year, serving the Lord. We want to look back at all that God has done throughout this year and all that we have learned. A year filled with growth in the ministry as well as in our personal lives. We are so thankful for God's leading and the faithful support you all provide.

The beginning of 2025 was a rough start. We lost our school and our church all in one go. It was a painful experience, but we learned that our God had better plans for us as well as how faithful and loving our supporters are. If not for the Lord's hand and your outpouring of love, we never would have made it through.

Once we took time to recover and get back on our feet, the Lord opened many doors for us. Teresa began to travel and share the gospel through helping women and children that went through trauma. She taught them how they can heal from the pain and embrace Christ to grow in strength.

Her Bible studies have also continued to grow in size and in strength. Women from all over Lima come to learn about the Bible. Her impact on these ladies' lives cannot be understated. They need guidance, strong biblical teaching, and love. She looks forward to another year of growth.

Patrick's ministry changed as well. The Lord opened up doors for him to travel and teach pastors. It has been a mobile seminary of sorts. While he traveled, he also taught seminary classes online and in-person for pastors in Lima that wanted training. The need for training pastors is great, so Patrick has been building God's kingdom by strengthening pastors to care for their flock.

We also had struggles in our family. Ezra's diagnosis of Tourettes changed our plans for the future. We had decided to take a short furlough to raise more support, but the goal has changed from just raising more support to getting him treatment. God has been faithful, and he's still the same little boy he's always been. We are looking at a May return date. The doctors feel like six months to a year of treatment will get him back on the path.

We look forward to another year of serving God, strengthening His kingdom, and growing His people. Please pray for us as we begin planning our furlough. We still have so much to figure out, like insurance to pay for Ezra's treatments.

We will be switching our prayer letter cycle to one every two months. With a furlough coming up and all the changes heading our way, we want to make sure we are sending out letters with solid information. Thank you for understanding.
