SPARKS EMPLOYMENT

This program is designed to build real-world confidence, capability, and independence in participants preparing for employment. Through practical, hands-on sessions, participants develop essential job-readiness skills including résumé writing, interview techniques, workplace communication, and understanding employer expectations.

The group focuses on both the technical and social aspects of employment – helping participants learn how to present themselves professionally, engage effectively with colleagues, and navigate workplace environments with confidence. Activities may include mock interviews, role-playing workplace scenarios, job search strategies, and guided applications.

Participants are supported to identify their strengths, explore career pathways, and build sustainable routines that align with their goals.
