Our Heritage Disappearing

Years before the coming of the machine and assembly line, the people of this area worked on the land or went down to the sea with only what their skillful hands could create. Everything from the schooners they sailed in to the straw hats on their heads was the work of great craftsmen.

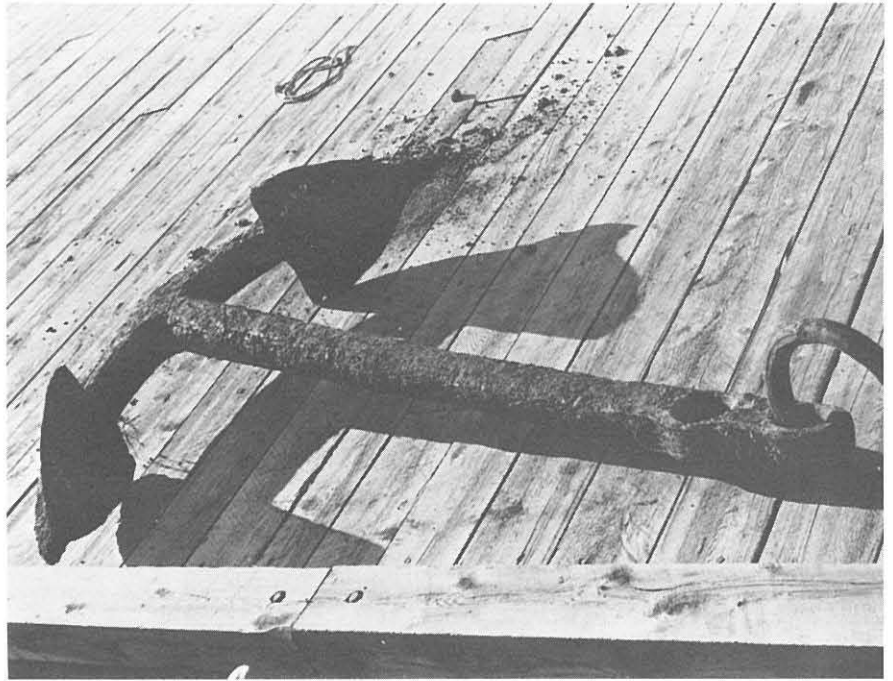

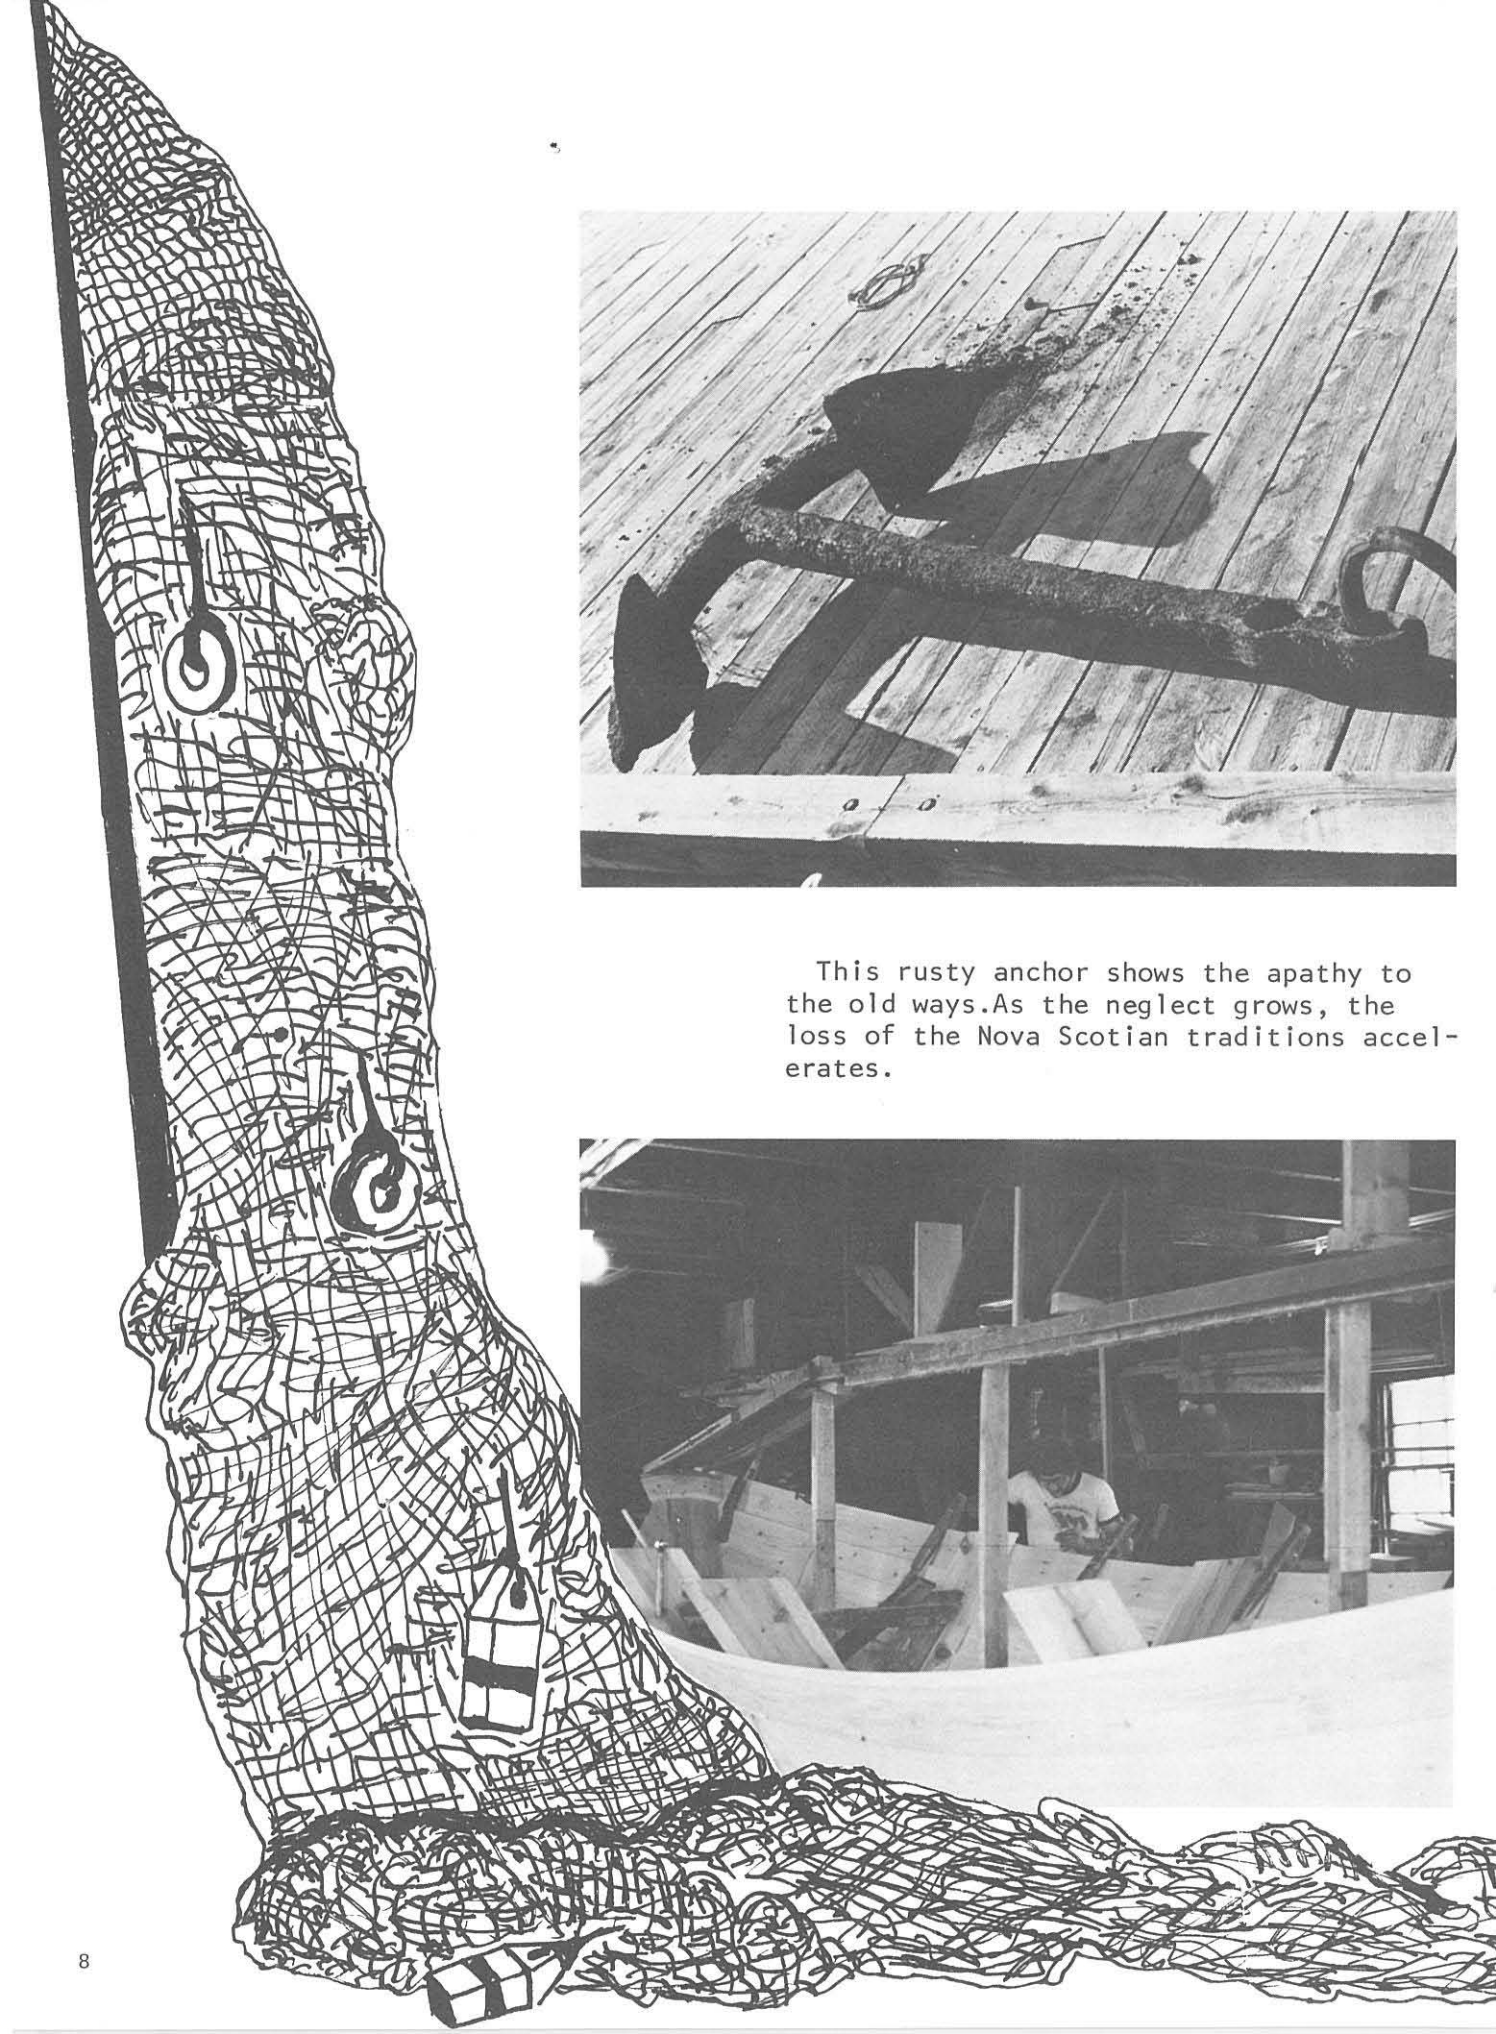

Some think of these as the "Golden Years" but there were many hardships and trials in their lives. The size of the villages and the interdependence of one on another's ability to produce useful goods, made the communities very close knit. The craftsman worked with a sense of pride in his workmanship, and with the need to accomplish something that would be useful to the community.

Gradually the world changed. Tractors replaced oxen and plow, store bought clothes replaced those made by hand, and the wooden sailing ships were replaced by metal ships. Slowly the craftsmen and their work began to disappear, for they and their work weren't necessary for survival anymore.

The dory is still a symbol of Nova Scotian shipbuilding. Although the manufacturing of these versatile boats has declined to the work of only a few craftsmen, they are still shipped to customers all over the world.

This rusty anchor shows the apathy to the old ways. As the neglect grows, the loss of the Nova Scotian traditions accelerates.

While the artisans of today produce works that will appeal and sell to the public, the artisans of yesterday produced works that were used for the continuation of their way of life. These then are the real craftsmen, those which had the ability to create the tools of their communities. And each had their own standard of workmanship and the tools they made each had their own distinctive style to the basic traditional design.

There was a bond that existed between the craftsman, his creations and their functions. His work linked him to his community and his community to him.

So now it is only a few people that carry on the work of creating the articles so necessary in the past. Soon, unless we try to stop and learn about some of these crafts, they will have lost those that were such a large part of our Nova Scotian heritage, and the only ones to blame will be ourselves.

Thanks to, Wayne Davidson and Freeman Rhuland for their generous cooperation and to Adams & Knickle Ltd. and Atlantic Dories.

EDITORIAL

Tourism plays a key role in the lives of most communities, logging towns, mining communities or fishing villages, there is still some significant historical value pertaining to each.

The town of Lunenburg holds much of its heritage to the shipbuilders, blacksmiths, wheelwrights, sailmakers and dory builders and to the famed Bluenose I and II. There is a lot of pride to be had in a small town from such a work of excellence and beauty. Why then do we allow this vessel to maintain such important and vital tourism months, in ports such as Halifax? Why do we allow songs to be written, claiming that this ship is from Halifax town? It is about time we stood up and claim what rightfully belongs to us and show some of that old mariner's spirit.

To preserve and treasure what is ours should be true to hold in all the old ways, in our Lunenburg craftsmen as well as the memories of which a yearbook is built on and for. To some a yearbook is just a publication of photographs and prints, while to others it is a record of cherished moments of events that can never hope to be repeated. I hope that this book will do the latter for as many people as possible, especially the graduating class of '81.

Dave Hardly Johnson

"Animal"

Dave was born and was enrolled in school. Throughout his life our animal became increasingly interested in eating, drinking and sleeping. He ate, drank and slept, ate, drank, drank and slept, ate, drank, drank, drank..... His future plans are to sober up enough to realize he is finally graduating after two previous attempts. We wish this eccentric member of our class, the best, and he will be missed.....as usual.

Might have been the gin.....

But I have promises to keep,
And miles to go before I sleep....
And miles to go before I sleep.

I, J. Edward, in crazy mind and body, leave my supply of bad jokes and lab locker to anyone who dares to get near them. To the teachers I leave the last Kinley, Shona.

Bruce Ivan Langille
"Bruce"

Bruce is an ancient mariner indeed, having been born, raised and schooled in Lunenburg. He played on the Sr. Boy's Hockey Team, was a member of the Sr. Choir and likes hunting, motorcycling and 'lumpin! We hope Bruce's future life is a happy one.

"A man's work is from sun to sun, but a student's work is never done."

Last Will and Testament:

Stephen William Lohnes
"Lou"

Stephen was born in Lunenburg and attended each of our 2 schools. He collects coins, reads, draws and swims and has had several part time jobs through high school. Stephen wants to attend University after graduation.

"Susan"

Our resident 'chip chomper' and 'caramel chewer', Susan, was born and schooled in Lunenburg. Susan was co-head of the Christmas Dance Committee and belonged to many of the other school committees. She also was a member of the Sr. Girl's Hockey team. We don't know what the future holds for Susan but we know she will be holding some caramels.

"Yesterday is but a dream and tomorrow only a vision, but today, well lived, makes yesterday a dream of happiness And tomorrow a vision of hope Look well, therefore to this day."

Last Will and Testament

Megan Claudia Marnitz
"Megan"

Megan was our first 'foreigner', having been born in Capetown, South Africa. She came to Lunenburg when she was three and just stayed. Megan enjoys all sports, music and writing, and hopes to be rich and famous when she finishes school.

"Go placidly amid the noise and haste
And remember what peace there may be in silence."

-Desiderata

Last Will and Testament:

I, Megan Marnitz being of confused, elastic mind and too much body, leave to my Sr. High teachers my brother. He may be slow, but when you get him you can't miss him. And to my brother, Athol, I leave my Sr. High teachers, you can't miss them either. To Marion V.P., the rest of the school and the world, years of torture, mingled with hope, happiness and fulfillment.

Brian Ross McLeod
"Sam"

Brian was born and raised in Lunenburg and like the rest, was doomed to our Lunenburg schools. "Sam" likes partying, hockey, sitting on the radiator, singing in the Sr. Choir, and in his spare time is a vital member of 'Pyramid' and provides music for our Jr. Discos. Brian's future plans are as yet undecided but we wish him luck in anything he decides to do.

Sueann Elizabeth Meisner
"Sueann"

Our resident "smile" was born in Lunenburg and happily, stayed to go to school here. Sueann loves swimming, reading, partying and in school was co-head of the Grad Dance Committee. Sueann plans to become a respiratory technician and we hope she finds a-cute heavy breather.

"Be like a duck:
Be calm and unruffled on the surface, but paddle like the devil underneath"

Last Will and Testament:

I, Sueann Meisner, being of confused mind and shattered nerves leave to Mr. Jobb my collection of embarrassing moments and to my fellow classmates I leave a wish for happiness and success in whatever they do, and a 'thank-you' for the memories.

Laura Susan Meister
"Laurie"

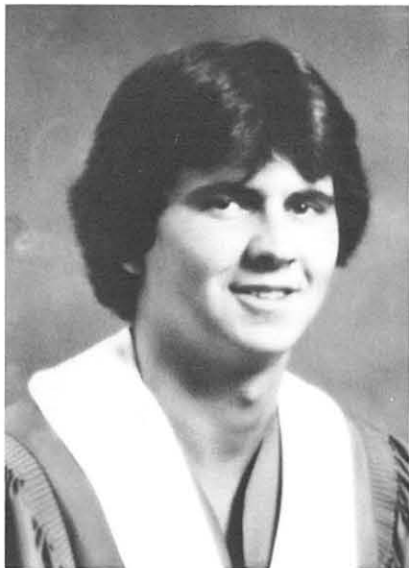

Laurie is one of our imported models. She was born in Bethlehem, Connecticut, U.S.A. and joined the LHS squad of 81' in Grade 11. Laurie belonged to the Winter Carnival and Christmas Dance Committees. She was also in the Sr. High Chorus and the photography club. Laurie's future is in oceanography, beginning at the Bedford Institute of Oceanography.

"Never let yesterday use up today."

Last Will and Testament:

I, Laurie Meister, being of wrinkled mind and questionable body, leave to all, my ability to take d'sordered and deranged class notes and still just barely pass tests (most of the time!) Also, I leave sewing machine #9, which is permanently JINXED from my use, to anyone who wants it in hopes that they will have better luck with it than I.

Michael Joseph O'Connor
"Mike"

Mike is a new crazy in our class. He was born in Lunenburg but went to school in Mahone Bay. He came back to Lunenburg from Parkview Educational Center in grade 12. Mike enjoys any sport especially sailing and basketball, and hopes to be successful! We wish him luck!

"I wish I knew as much about one thing as some people think they know about everything."

Last Will and Testament:

I ain't leaving anything, because I need everything I got!

Timothy Gerard Ritcey
"Icky"

Timmy was born, schooled and raised to a tall, dark and handsome height in Lunenburg. He likes sports and was on the Sr. Boy's Hockey team and played baseball during the summer. Timmy also coaches the Girl's Hockey team. Along with being active, Icky loves watching T.V. and sleeping. Tim's future plans are as yet undecided but you'll probably find him in a gym some where.

I'm so far behind I think I'm first.

Last Will and Testament:

I, T.R., being of crazy mind and macho body, leave to Mr. Lewis the best wishes to his baby kangaroo, and to the teachers of L.H.S. I leave.

Adrian Christopher Rowlands
"Martian"

Adrian was another of our true Lunenburgers having been born and raised as one of "Hell's Acres" angels. His main interests lie outside of the school, being a mechanic at heart. Fast cars, ATV's, and fishing fill Adrian's time although he has been known to enjoy a good horror movie whenever one comes along. This member of the school's "radiator committee" will put his talents to use next year as he plans to attend L.R.V.S. to study industrial mechanics.

"If you don't count on something then you won't be disappointed when it doesn't happen."

Last Will and Testament:

I, Adrian Rowlands being of sleepy mind and small body leave to anyone who wants it, my seat on the radiator and to LHS, I leave.

Deb enjoys sewing, swimming, soccer, skiing, music and was a member of the Seagull Staff, Winter Carnival and Christmas Dance Committees. Although Deb's future plans are undecided, we hope her future will be a happy one.

"This is just the end of a beginning!"

Last Will and Testament:

I, Debra L. Schwartz leave to all the teachers one more Schwartz. Brace yourselves! To L.H.S. I leave a 'thank- you' for the many fond memories.

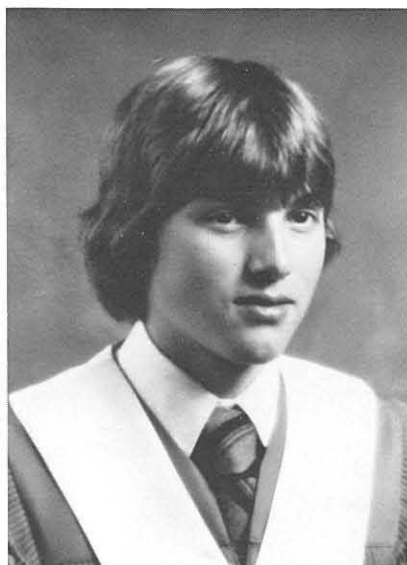

Elizabeth Anne Skinner
"Elizabeth"

Elizabeth was born and 'all that jazz' in Lunenburg. She was very active this year participating in several intramural and interscholastic sports, various committees and the senior music program, with her main claim to fame being her 'co-queenship' of the Christmas Dance Committee. Elizabeth's goal is to do something somewhere.

"I never found a companion that was quite so companionable as solitude."

Last Will and Testament:

I, Elizabeth Anne with an "e", being of feeble mind and body, leave to Lisa Courtney my questionable talent for singing harmony and to Katrina Beck I leave my unused ability to handle stress on 'one of those days'. To the teachers of L.H.S. I leave the thought that everything I didn't say will be said by a Skinner yet to come. Finally, I leave with the rest of the '81 graduates many a memory.

Thomas Weldon Spindler
"Tex"

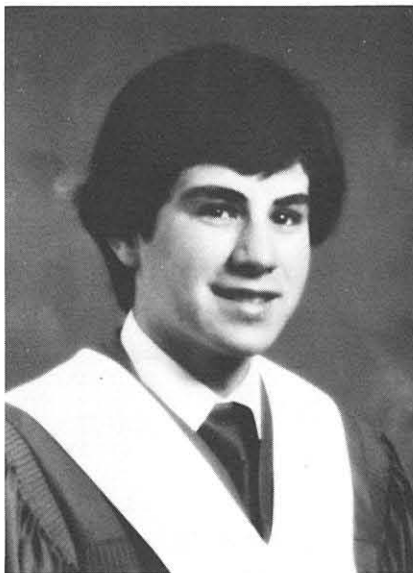

This handsome native Lunenburger was very involved in school sports having been the Athletic Association's co-chairman on the 1980/81 Student's Council and playing defense for the Sr. Boy's Hockey Team. Tom was the co-head of the business department of the Seagull as well as being active on the Christmas Dance Committee. He likes travelling, all sports, especially sailing and hockey and has been known to dabble in the Culinary Arts. Tom's future is undecided but university is a likely step for him.

"Life is a game of making decisions, Ponder each wisely and when in doubt punt"

Last Will and Testament:

I, Tommy Spindler, being of unconfident mind and streamline body leave one 20 pound bag of chicken feed to all the other "attached" men of the school in hopes that they will be able to use this to keep themselves from being henpecked.

Jeffrey Harold Steeves

"Jeff"

Jeff was the "travellin' man" of the class having been born in Windsor, N.S., then moving to Waldwick, New Jersey and Mississauga, Ontario, before joining us in grade four. He was Vice - President of the Student's Council and co-head of the business department of the Seagull as well as being a member of the Sr. Boys Hockey Team, Grad Dance and Winter Carnival Committees, Sr. Band and Camera Club. He also coached the Sr. Girl's Hockey Team. Outside of school he is a sailing, tennis and golf enthusiast. Although Jeff is undecided about his future, we hope he isn't late for whatever he chooses.

"The trouble with being punctual is that there's nobody there to appreciate it."

Last Will and Testament:

I, Jeff Steeves, being of pertinaciously determinitive mind and body leave to others with similar traits of habitual tardiness, my various collection of used and unused excuses in hopes they will have as much success as I.

Jennifer Jayne Tanner

"Jennifer"

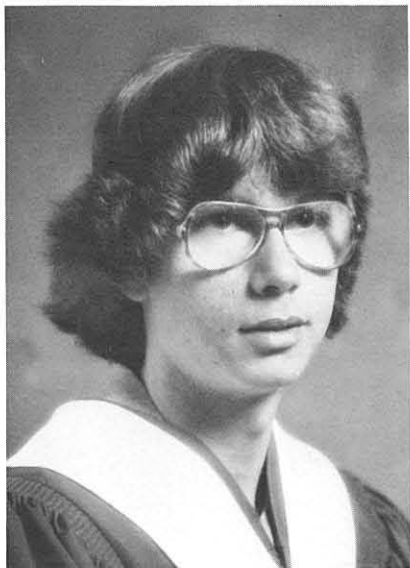

Jennifer was born in Lunenburg and attended town schools since grade primary. She filled her graduating year by playing Girl's Hockey, curling, being Head Prefect, on Grad and Christmas Dances and co-ordinator of the 1981 Winter Carnival. Jennifer's future plans are to attend Miss Murphy's Business College and study to become a Medical Secretary.

"If at first you do succeed-try to hide your astonishment!"

Last Will and Testament:

I, Jennifer Tanner, being of tall and stretched body and shrunken mind leave to anyone the ability to be able to sit anywhere but the back without being told to move over to one side to get out of the way of the one behind! And to the teachers.....Good-Bye!.

Timothy Lee Tanner
"Tanner"

This friendly giant was born and raised in Lunenburg. He enjoys hunting and motor-cycling and goes "lumpin" when school is in or out. This year Timmy was found plugging away on the ice in the Sr. Boy's Hockey Team. Tim's future plans are undecided, but whatever he does we hope the best for him.

"There's always got to be a way."

Last Will and Testament:

I, Tim Tanner, being of unsound mind and body, leave my books to anybody who wants them.

Lily Lei Li Wong
"Lily"

After arriving in Lunenburg from Hong Kong, our 'quiet foreigner' adapted to school life by joining Driver Ed. and the Sr. Girl's Basketball team. From time to time she abandoned her silent composure to practice her Kung Fu on her favorite classmate, (B.M.)! Next year Lily will travel to Halifax to attend Dalhousie.

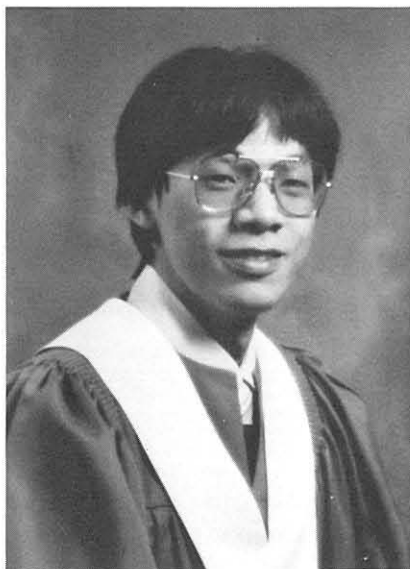

患難之交才是真正朋友

"A friend in need is a friend indeed."

Last Will and Testament:

I, Lily Wong, leave my Chinese-English dictionary to Mr. Brison, in hopes that he will learn our Chinese language.

Raymond Ying Kit Wong
"Raymond"

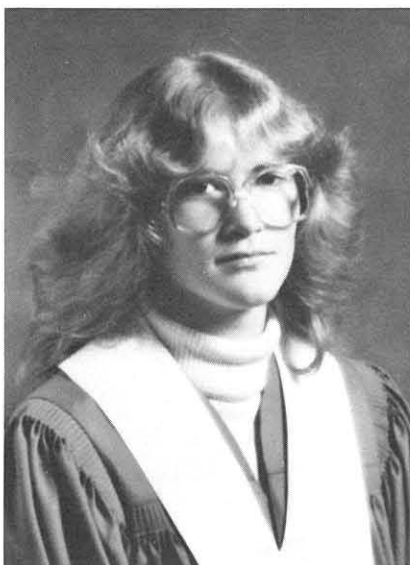

As one of the newest class imports, Raymond joined our gang this year after arriving from Hong Kong. He quickly became a true member of the class with his questionable laugh and calculating mind. The roads of the town were terrorized as he involved himself in Driver Ed. The future will see Raymond continue his Canadian education at Dalhousie University.

只有冷靜的心才會學到 更多的事物。

"Keep your mind cool anytime, and you will learn more."

Last Will and Testament:

I, Raymond Wong, being of logical mind and Kung Fu body, leave my mind to the moral and weak people. To Mrs. Andrews I leave my shadow, so she won't forget her second son. Finally, I leave my carelessness to Tommy Spindler.

Susan Ann Wright
"Ann"

After seeing her first light in Lunenburg, Ann moved to Chester only to return to town joining the class in grade 2. She was a member of the Yearbook staff, several committees and the Sr. Girl's Soccer team. In her free time she has been known to do some partying and 'hits the slopes' whenever possible. Ann's future plans are to move to Halifax and study to be a Marine biologist. See you in the sea.

"There's nothing more annoying, than two people who keep on talking while I'm interrupting."

Last Will and Testament:

I, Ann Wright, being of ridiculous mind and strange body, leave my ability to do things (w)right to anybody who is brave enough to try. To Carolyn Covey, I leave all my sympathies in hopes that she may overcome the Covey speech impediment.

Was THAT a Party?!

The evening was bright and clear on the night of the class reunion. The grads of '81 were twenty years older and showed it. The music was provided by the partners of SUPERIOR MUSIC, Eddie Kinley and Jeff Steeves, which meant the poor listeners would have to endure a whole night of Bruce Springsteen and David Bowie. The caterers, Lily and Raymond Wong, made the festival much more cheery with their terrific French Cuisine and Chinese disco dances.

The first people to arrive, Jayne 'Tinkle' and Mike 'Macaroni' O'Connor drifted off into a dark corner and weren't seen until much later in the evening. Soon after, Sueann Meisner and Lori Bezanson arrived and with their wild cries of "PARTYTIME!", the get-together really began to swing. Mark Almeda and Denise Cook got into a war of wits. Little did "Cookie" know that "Alfie" had followed his life long ambition to be a physics mastermind. Mark finally and soundly beat her. In despair Denise went to the powder room to change into the extra clothes she always carried with her in her camera case.

Stephen 'Lou' Lohnes came prancing in and looked around at the other late arrivals. Megan Marnitz, author of the world renowned, Wretch Publications, Grieb's Complete Book of Dirty Jokes, had just flown in from the airport and was complaining that her arms were tired. Graham Crouse had just flown in and parked his UFO on the front lawn.

"Hey you turkey!" yelled Christina Collins, "You've got that piece of Space junk in my parking spot!" Rotten then proceeded to chase after poor little Graham with her trusty hockey stick. The two ran past Laurie Meister and Laurel Hayes who were having an intelligent conversation about brown American scallops being better than Canadian white ones. All

Laurel could say was "Pity! only in America eh?"

A four way argument was erupting between Ann Wright, Timmy Dauphinee, Claudine Ernst and Bruce Langille, as to the best colour for Z-28's. Bruce was arguing that blue for a Z-28 was best because you could park on a hill in the summer and no one could tell someone was making out. Ann said autumn bronze was best because you park the car among some leaves and no one could tell you were fooling around. Claudine said "Fwig off you guys, green is the best." Tim Dauphinee was quiet because he didn't make out. Finally he said, "Geez, you fellas, I'll have to get a Monza."

On a billboard outside the reunion hall the poster heralded the 'French Bomb', sponsored by Chevy Olds. Yes, it was Shelah Allen who flounced in with Susan Lohnes as the opening act. Susans' specialty was eating caramels and telling sick jokes, and Shelah as the main attraction, ignorant impressions of the classes' "favorite" high school teachers. The M.C. was Elizabeth Skinner who had married Magician John Cleveland. The only thing she didn't like was the way John kept appearing and disappearing.

Jennifer Tanner was now Mrs. Bobby Cleveland. She was very happy, for she had finally trained him to respond to the love punches, and kicks she periodically gave him.

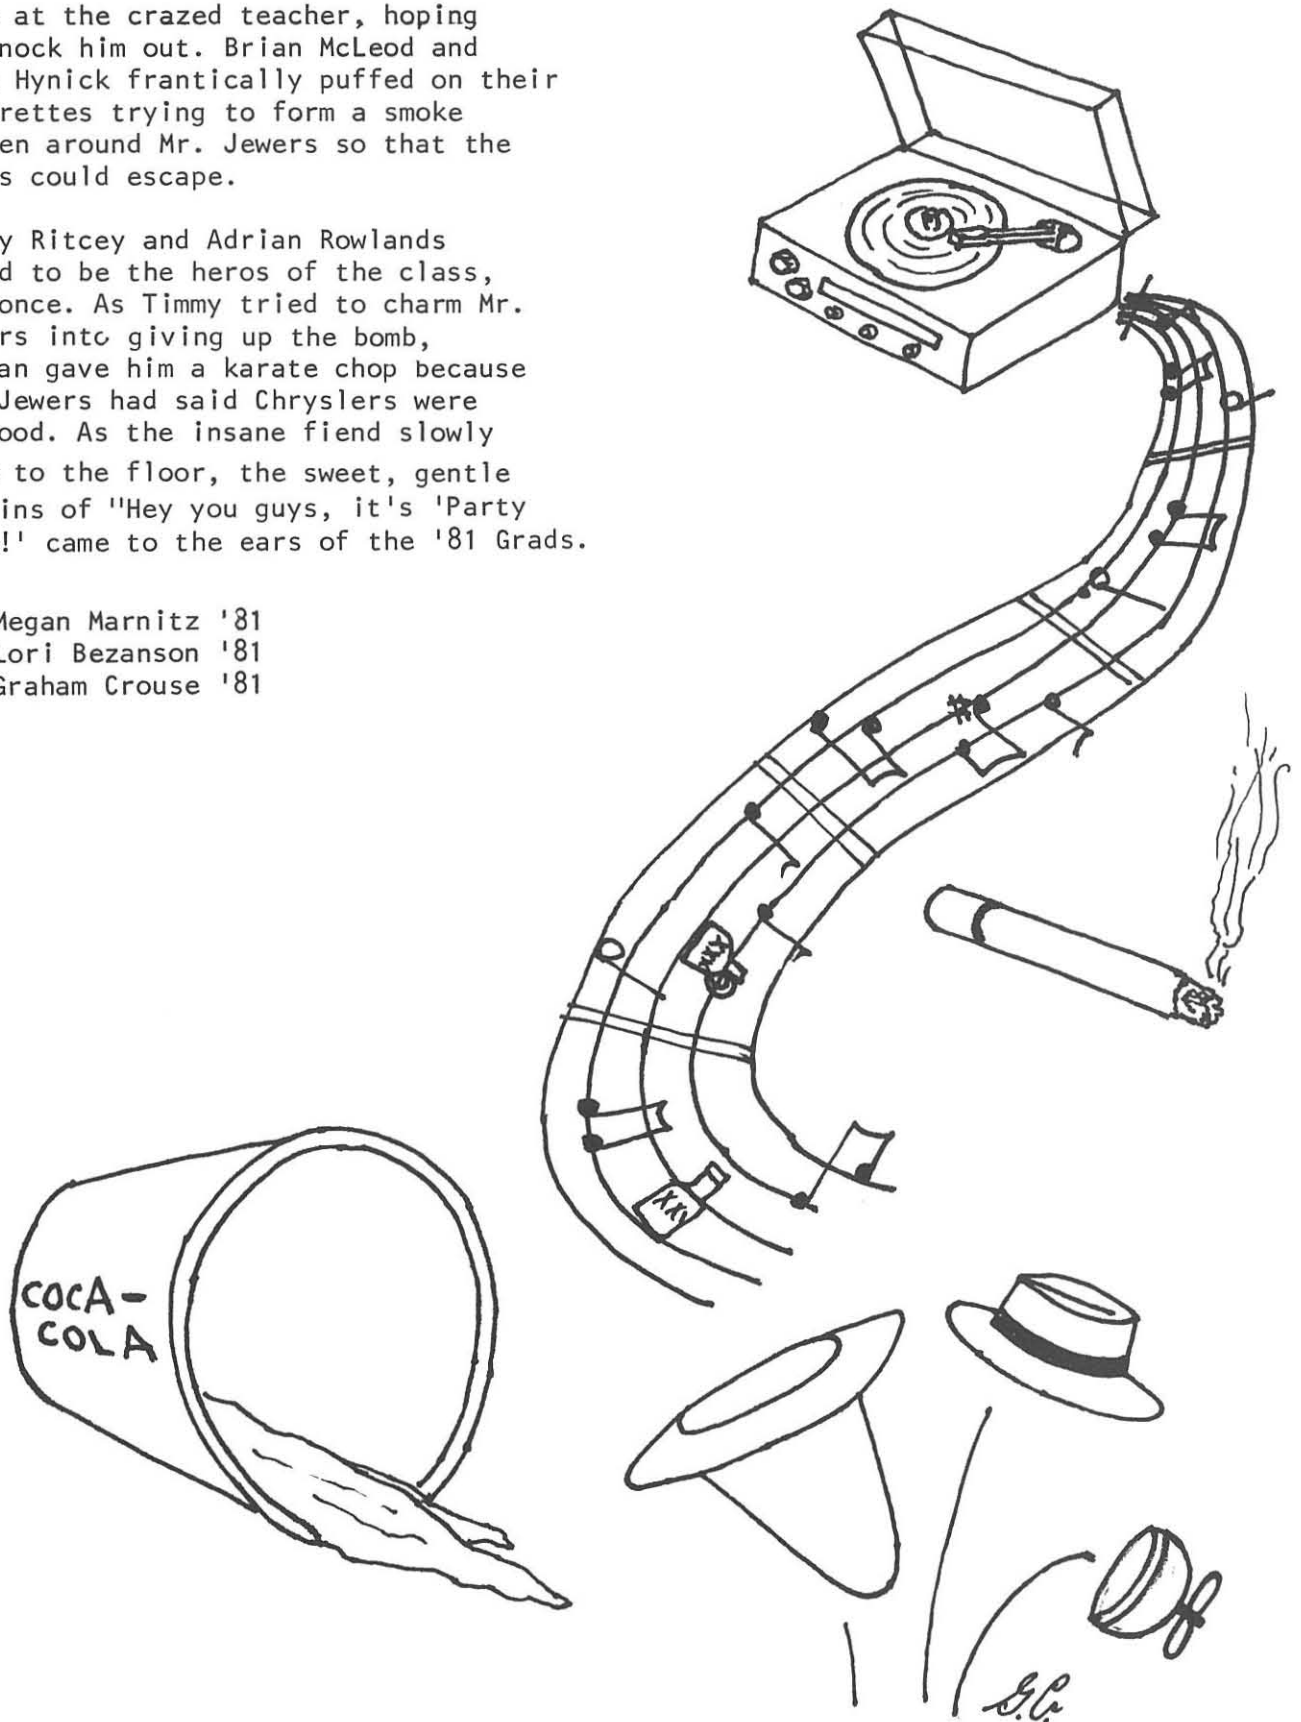

Suddenly, old Wayne "Banana" Jewers rushed in and yelled, "I've got you now you rotten little kids! I'm going to blow you up with my 'banana' bomb!"

Tommy Spindler jumped onto his trusty steed, saying "Hi Ho Sharon Away!" and rode her off to the tennis courts. Debbie Schwartz screamed and ran behind the hulking form of Timmy Tanner while throwing her homemade bran muffins at the crazed teacher, hoping to knock him out. Brian McLeod and Jane Hynick frantically puffed on their cigarettes trying to form a smoke screen around Mr. Jewers so that the class could escape.

Timmy Ritcey and Adrian Rowlands tried to be the heros of the class, for once. As Timmy tried to charm Mr. Jewers into giving up the bomb, Adrian gave him a karate chop because Mr. Jewers had said Chryslers were no good. As the insane fiend slowly sank to the floor, the sweet, gentle strains of "Hey you guys, it's 'Party Time!'" came to the ears of the '81 Grads.

Valedictory

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. You see before you tonight thirty-two very excited, very proud, very apprehensive students. Graduation night was something we worked towards, something we looked forward to all our school lives, but it was something in the future. Now, suddenly, and it does seem sudden, this night is upon us. In just minutes we will no longer be students of L.H.S. but graduates of L.H.S. It is a term that we have worked hard to acquire and are proud to bear, but it means that we are thrust from the distinction of being the Grade 12 class, and the leaders in our school, to the obscurity of being graduates, as countless others before us. We must begin to work from the bottom again, among new people, and we must work hard, before we will be able to gain any kind of recognition for ourselves.

We are standing on the threshold of infinite possibilities. Every possible avenue of further education is open to us: work, vocational schools, universities, and each of us has chosen our path for next year. We're looking forward to our futures, but at the same time we are wondering if we have made the right choices. It is with eagerness that we look to next year, and the following years, each of us wanting to prove we are up to the challenge of competition in a wider field than we have experienced in school. We see also what we are leaving behind, and it saddens us.

For thirteen years we have interacted with the same people, and through those years both strong and casual friendships have been developed. Along with the friendship, a sense of unity has emerged. Any class is a mini social structure with its leaders, its followers, its athletes and its academic achievers. We have overcome the barriers that such a structure suggests. Each of us has a place in our class and each is important to it. We have acquired a closeness and a sense of sharing with everyone in a large unit, and that is something that we will never likely be a part of again. Several times this year we have gotten together as a class, often for fun things like a pot luck supper or a car wash, and once, sadly, for a funeral. We will always have our friends, but the closeness we have felt on those occasions we will never again feel with such a large group of people as strongly as we have felt it with our classmates. It's an experience we have benefitted from and it saddens us to know that this bond will inevitably be broken by the breaking up and dispersal of our class as each of us follows our chosen careers.

The closeness we feel is heightened tonight for we share common emotions. We share excitement, and sadness, and pride, and we share thankfulness. The thankfulness we feel is directed towards our parents and our teachers, and they indeed should be thanked for, truly and honestly, if not for them we would not be here tonight.

Our parents have contributed greatly to our education. Not only have they seen us through countless tests and assignments and constant grumblings on one subject or another, but they have instilled in us morals and values. They have given us a sense of right and wrong. They have imparted to us a knowledge of the social graces so that we might be socially acceptable. Our glory tonight is also theirs.

A part of our glory tonight also belongs to our teachers. They taught us the things they were supposed to teach us and more. Some of the best times we have had in school this past year have been when one of our teachers has participated in an informal discussion with genuine interest, or has joined in on a joke. The discussions sometimes made us think about what is going on in the world today, or what possibilities exist for the future. Sometimes they made us question our values or showed us another side of human nature. Whatever the result, they taught us more than learning from a book and they showed us that teachers are not always the monsters they are made out to be.

Our experiences in school, our interaction with our teachers, our classmates, our friends and family, and even our community, have played a part in preparing us for what we now have to face. There are numerous challenges awaiting us. I know that every person sitting on this stage tonight will be able to overcome any obstacle, or meet any challenge that stands in the way of achieving his or her goal. They have what it takes; they have the strength, the persistence, the warmth and the compassion. They possess qualities that make me proud to be a member of the Grade 12 class, and there is not one person in my class that I don't consider a friend.

We are leaving something special behind, but we have new challenges facing us. We will be making new friends and we will become functioning adults in society. We will contribute our skills, whether they be that of a parent, a doctor, a mechanic, or an artist, to those already in existence. We will become the leaders of the social and political spheres.

ACR

We are leaving the security of life as students at L.H.S., knowing what will happen from day to day, to enter an uncertain and often traumatic world. The problems of the country will eventually fall into our hands, and, while we may not have any more answers than today's leaders do, we will be meeting them with fresh ideas and enthusiasm.

There is one last thing I would like to say to the graduates of 1980. In your quest for realizing your goals, and in making new friends, keep in mind the words of John Wesley from his book, Rules of Conduct:

Do all the good you can,
In all the ways you can,
In all the places you can,
At all the times you can,
To all the people you can,
As long as you ever can.

Thank you!

1980 was the most successful year ever for the senior girls. The results of 1980 were the culmination of several years of hard work and practice by the girls on the school teams as well as various summer teams. As the previous year the majority of the girls played on the Lunenburg under 18 summer squad who walked away with various titles including Under 18 Provincial and Maritime Youth, Metros Woman's Soccer League, Lunenburg Indoor Invitational, and Nova Scotia Senior Woman's Championships.

By unanimous decision the girls decided to play in the Nova Scotia Triple A High School division as opposed to the A division reserved for smaller schools such as Lunenburg. In a fifteen game season the team had 13 wins, one loss and one tie. As a result Lunenburg came first in the regular season play in the Lunenburg County League. They went on to win the County Championship (a first). The big event of the season was the triple A championship tournament held in Lunenburg where the host team captured the provincial triple A tournament by defeating Riverview 3-2 in overtime. This was the first time an A school won the triple A crown!

The key to the teams success was defense. We attempted to keep the opposition out of our end and wait for breaks or offense. In order to achieve this we utilized a "sweeper" to pick up the "through balls" and an attacking center fulback to bolster the offense. With superb goaltending from Yvonne Lohnes and good defensive coverage by Carolyn Covey the team allowed only  $\frac{1}{2}$  goal a game (10 shut outs!). Denise Cook had a good season as an attacking center half. The offense was held by Jayne Falkenham and Susan Perry: the former a great ball handler who moved the ball up field and offered fine crosses to the goal mouth and the later skilled in the art of putting the ball in the net (14 goals).

It takes 15 players to make a team and this year we had one of the finest teams ever, in spirit, as well as statistics. They deserve to be champions. Thanks ladies, and thanks Mr. Sayer for the greatest season ever.

Our Jr. Curling Program had a very good year. A Lunenburg team won our Youthspiel in February, Mike Myra's team placed into the Regional playoffs, Tracey Brake's team won the Lunenburg County Jr. High Curling Classic, Kent Saunder's team placed 4th in the Woodworth Bonspiel and Todd Mayo's mixed team won the Mini-Event at the Policeman's Mixed Bonspiel in Halifax.

With a keen group of young curlers, you can be sure that Lunenburg curlers will be a force to be reckoned with in future years.

Many thanks to our coaches, Mr. Brian Fogelson, Mrs. Marian Cyr, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mayo, and our "new" coach, Miss Gilleen Alcoe. Thanks also to Stephen Rhodenizer, who covered our activities in his Hack to Tee (Jr. Edition) in the Progress Enterprise.

The 1980-81 hockey season has been one of struggles for the Lunenburg Mariners. One of the problems was whether there would be a hockey team this year. The numbers of eligible players seemed to be small, but the response to a list was sufficient to form this year's edition of the Mariners. A core of dedicated "twelves" have helped to keep the team going.

Another difficulty has been to mold a crew of individuals of different talents and personalities into a cohesive team capable of winning games. It has been an uphill battle, but there are signs of improvement. This was evident by the Mariners' exciting 8-7 victory over Lawrencetown in the Western Region final. This allowed Lunenburg to advance to the Provincial "A" Tournament in Cape Breton.

A third problem area has been to arrange sufficient games for the year. After some delays and scheduling problems, a four team South Shore High School Hockey League was formed. Bridgewater, Lawrencetown, Barrington and Lunenburg were the league entries. This provided six regular and some playoff games.

Lawrencetown captured first place and went on to defeat LHS and Bridgewater in the playoffs to win the SSHSHL Championships trophy. Barrington and the Mariners have yet to play their consolation series. Lunenburg had placed third, and Barrington fourth in the league standings.

Best wishes for the future are extended to all departing and graduating players including: Tim Ritcey (captain), Mark Almeda, Tom Spindler, Jeff Steeves, Brian McLeod, Tim Dauphinee, Bruce Langille and Tim Tanner.

This years Student's Council consisting of six executive members and twelve classroom representatives was kept active during the school year. We sponsored several discos with the help of the newly formed dance committee, provided various organizations with grants and updated the Constitution. On October 31, a Hallowe'en dress-up day was held. Christmas was celebrated with classroom decorating, a pancake breakfast, a class singing contest and a visit from Santa Claus.

Student's Council fund raising activities consisted of a chocolate bar campaign, a candy campaign and a volleyball-a-thon.

The Council is also involved in community activities. We canvassed for the CNIB and have representatives on some community committees.

In closing, the Council would like to thank all those who helped us in any way during the year. A special thanks is extended to our staff advisor, Mr. Gary Chamberlain.

Le 23 septembre 1980 the students of français of Lunenburg High's onzième et douzième année, left the land of the Bluenose for a week-long visite to La Belle Province. Our groupe travelled en train on a trip that took 21 hours to reach Montréal. After spending 2 days in Montréal the group transferred to Québec City where we passed three enjoyable days.

The aim of the voyage was to expose students to the French Canadian experience allowing them to use their culture, environment and cuisine while at the same time utilising their français in true life situations.

Our résidence in Montreal was Hôtel Windsor, an older yet comfortable hotel with a lot of finesse. While in Montreal we had a walking tour of vieux Montreal taking in some fine cafés and boutiques as well as a tour en autobus of the metropolitan area. We also visited le Parc Olympique, Place Ville Marie and Le Planétarium Dou utilising the city's métro system. In Montreal we ate at La Crêperie Bretonne where we had soupe à l'onignon and the choice of every type of crêpe imaginable. The final evening in Montreal we dined at Les Filles du Roi where we had a gourmet meal consisting of boeuf bourguignon and black forest cake for dessert.

In Québec City we had a bus tour of La Ville de Quebec with stops at the Aquarium de Quebec, La Citédelle de Quebec as well as Place Royale. Our chauffeur-guide provided us with information of cultural and historical significance. Because of inclement weather we decided to spend our first afternoon shopping at Place Laurier. After a délicieux souper-dîner at Marie Antoinettes a restaurant chain unique to Quebec, the girls were let loose for 3 hours of shopping. This was followed by a soirée at the Disco Roule where we roller-skated to French disco music.

The following day we embarked on a walking tour of the haute & basse ville stopping at such places as Musée du Fort and Château Frontenac. That evening we had a fine meal of Coq a Vin at La Bastille.

QUÉBEC

Our final day was a tour en autobus of the Beupre Coast with stops at Le Zoo de Québec, Ste. Anne de Beaupré, and Atelier Placé (a sculptur's shop) among other things. On our retour we stopped at a restaurant on a farm in the countryside (La Maison de la Fine Goeule) where we had salade francaise, pâté and tarte sucrée. The final night we had a ride in a caliche (horse drawn carriage).

We packed our bags Sunday evening to begin our trek through old Quebec to the gare of the ferry. We crossed the Fleuve St. Laurent to catch our train at Levis which left at 3:25 a.m.! At 10:00 o'clock that night the students, Mme Eddy and myself were tres fatigués. We had a typical ride back to Lunenburg on our green school autobus. We were back home after a pleasant séjour in Québec. We were back to homework and books but "C'est la vie!"

Winter Carnival

Our 1981 Winter Carnival began on the night of February 16, when Shelah Allen officially opened the week. Following this the Junior and Senior coronation took place with Frank vonPossel as Master of Ceremonies. Both the Juniors and Seniors were judged by our 3 judges, Mr. and Mrs. Schaffelburg and Mrs. Gus Vickers. Valerie Corkum was crowned as the new queen by Sharon Zinck. Sueann Meisner was first lady-in-waiting and Lisa Courtney was second. The Junior queen, Tracey Lee Mayo was crowned by Heather Smith. First lady-in-waiting was Sheri Follet and second was Erika Tanner.

Tuesday was "Freaky Fifties" where many students participated in dressing for the occasion. After school there was a volleyball-a-thon, which was well attended by our students.

Wednesday was declared "Country Day", where again many students participated. Three-fifteen, the beginning of the various class competitions which included; balloon shaving, jello feeding, onion eating, arm wrestling, potatoe relay, hula hooping, lemon sucking, cracker eating, lifesaver pass and string relay. This action-packed afternoon held lots of fun and excitement for everyone watching and participating. Wednesday night was the country dance, where nothing but country music was played. Many students came and had a great time.

"we're here for a good time"

Thursday morning saw the Senior Girl's Hockey Team challenge the Bridgewater girls; the score being 7 to 2 for Bridgewater. This event was enjoyed by many teachers and students who came to watch.

After school saw the ever funny Boy's Beauty Contest, which was won by Martha Hooper, alias Tim Ritcey. Thursday evening was the Scavenger Hunt, where the object was to go out and find the most unusual thing in the time span of one hour. The objects brought back ranged from tombstones to Christmas cards from people like Joe Clark, Herb Grey and Pierre Trudeau. The most unusual object was brought in by the 5K's, which was a toilet.

Activities began in the rink on Friday morning at nine o'clock, starting with free skating for grades 5-10. Following this the Senior Girl's Hockey Team challenged the Boy's Hockey Team to a game. The guys were allowed to wear skates but had to use a broom, and still won with a score of 3-1. Next the graduating class charged against the teachers in a game of broom-ball, to win 1-0. The only goal scored was by Jayne Falkenham. In the gym after this the grade 11's and 12's played a fun game of soccer baseball, with the 11's beating the 12's 19-17.

Friday night was a very successful dance, hosted by Wayne Mitchell and Greg Larson from CJCH.

Saturday morning was the car rally with Frank vonPossel being the winner.

Throughout the week the classes were competing to collect points in the various competitions. Grade 11L edged out front and won this years, "Best Class in LHS."

The week went so fast, but all in all it held something for everyone. A special thanks is extended to everyone who participated in any way.

thoughts of a seagull

The seagull, All alone in the barren world with expansion of the land, sky and sea.
Drifting in the heavenly sky over the earth
so wide, feeling of lust and of death Seeing things from so far up, and even though still searching, seeking to find.
Ever reaching upward trying to grasp the meaning of life for living.

The seagull, all alone drifting hopelessly drifting over the wild oceans so blue.
What is all in the mind
is wondering, what is life
Where is the place that gives the answer to the questioning of life?

return trip

Mile after mile, far as the eye can see
Blue upon blue, unchanging and true
The rolling waves, always changing and new
The endless lure of the changing sea

Day after day, the view ever new
Changed only by shifting winds that blow
Sometimes soft, with gentle waves that flow
Sometimes harsh, with pounding waves that renew

Time after time, as one stands and watches
There suddenly appears, like some floating spirit
A tall dark shape, no one would fear it
A returning ship, come home to unload her catches.

EVENING

Hope, it draws the evenings end
Beyond the shadows of the sun
My dreams at last I comprehend
My failure in a world where I Am still alive while others die.

My mind goes dancing with the wind
My life a turmoil with the sea
Success to touch yet all but me
To wander through the paths of wise
To grasp the shadow as it dies.

The sun is gone my life is spent
Before the waters edge I stand
A brilliant rose within my hand
I walk away horizon bound
To plant the rose in futile ground.

TERRY FOX

In Newfoundland on an April Day
Terry Fox set out on his way,
To run this country from east to west
His heart set to do his best.

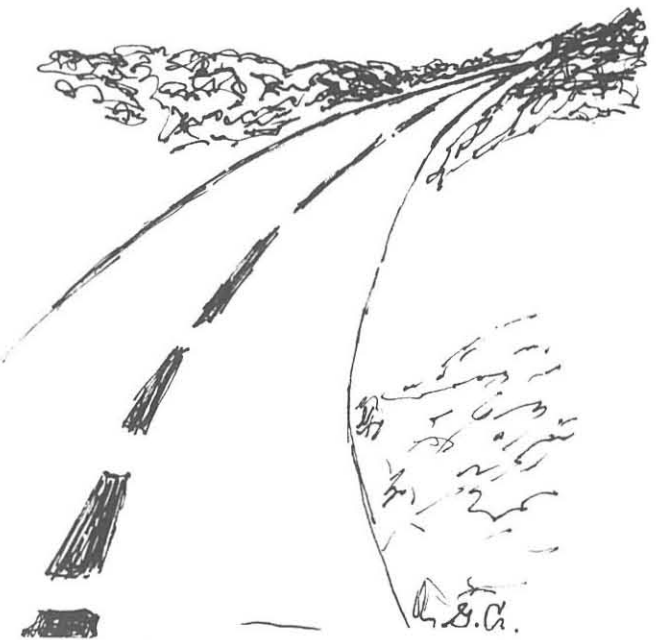

His aim was not of personal gain
Nor glory or of personal fame.
He ran for the great hope of others
For fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers.

He lost a leg to a feared disease
This is why he ran with hopeful ease
To raise money for a charity
The Canadian Cancer Society.

Through the eastern Canada countryside
Running along with hope and pride,
Raising money along the way
Each and every passing day.

Till one day in Ontario
His great quest came to a low.
Cancer developed in his lung.
He had hit the bottom ladder rung.

Canadians rallied to the course
To honor him without pause.
Millions of dollars came from rich and poor
Terry Fox had opened the door.

Wind and Snow

The children are all inside sitting by the fire, outside the wind and snow will blow as long as they desire. Inside it will be nice and warm, outside it will be freezing. The wind and snow will be brothers, you know along the winter season.
The wind is blowing harder and the snow is getting deeper, covering all the ground down deep. In the morning all is quiet, the wind has disappeared, but the snow is still on the ground, as white as St. Nick's beard.

-Vicki Wagner '88

HOCKEY

The anthem played so loud and clear,
The people sat around and cheered,
The players took their places.
Then glanced to see the faces.

The puck is thrown down on the ice,
And skates dig in to make a slice.
The players sweat, the players crawl;
Until one lands against the wall.

And as the goalie tries to smile
He ducks the puck and rests awhile.
The players stand so brave and bold,
Proud of the stick within their hold.

Assembly 2000

The objects moved down the line
Each separate, yet all the same
The wheels and gadgets whizzed around
Constantly turning but moving nowhere
The workers themselves worked
As a well greased machine
If the gears ever jammed
A tremendous crash of Heaven and Hell would be heard.

This would be a matter for the great thinkers
This madness placed before them
It would soon be corrected and things
Could return to normal.

The loose screw caused it all
The worker responsible would be terminated
Made an example for his peers
That anything less than perfect is useless.

This would be a matter for the workers
This madness placed before them
It would soon be corrected and things
Could return to normal.

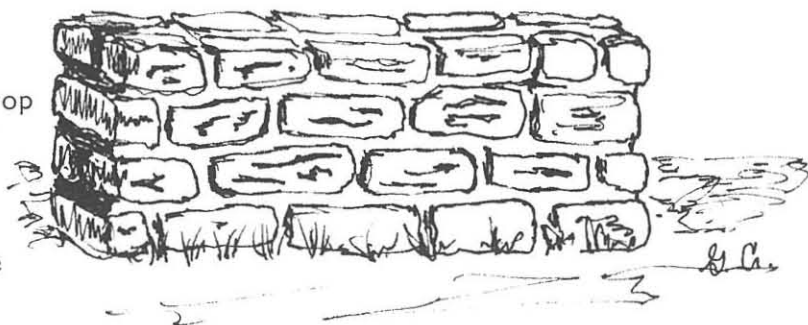

They hoped it would never happen
Again, but some didn't.

-Eddie Kinley '81

The Garden

Through an orchard shadows fall
The grass beneath where dew gems drop
Tis pride that cometh before a fall
I look toward the sunlights bend
My feet remain, Alas I stop.

This wall of stone I must not scale
The other side not in my reach
One drop of water in a pail
Yet roses grow upon this wall
My strength returns, I shall not fall.

-Sueann Meisner '81

where once a tree stood

Tonight
I watched from flats
Of earth above the sea
To catch a view of life today
The past

A stump
On battered ground
The earth so full of life
But still it stood, no move it made Asleep

Perhaps
Tomorrow's breath
Will cover yesterday
And I will stand alone again
To watch

-Jayne Falkenham '81

Insane

It's so fun to be insane
Everything looks so small.
This pebble that I'm sitting on
Is really twelve feet tall.
To watch the people scurry-by
In their world far away
It makes me grin
To think I win
At a game I don't have to play.

-Jayne Falkenham '81

Once and Again

The sun comes up quietly now.
All life that once was here,
is gone, never to return again
unless revived by some new shining star.

This star far off from any one known thing will bring new life to the dead gone place that was struck by human carelessness to hurt and destroy all life here.

The sun came up noisily once ready to show life's new joys, no pain, no sorrow showed itself
for no one believed in it.

Now, as I looked back
I remember the place, all beautiful however now it's black and barren for someone believed; only a small chance to save it now.

A small chance that life still lives on to start the world all anew, simple and yet later, so complicated
so soon there will be no escape.

This complicated life to be is not as bad as it seems,
for this is the life of love
where there are no losers nor winners.

Ode to the Yearbook Staff

(for Thomas)

For a deadline
But life is so full of deadlines seldom met
And yet
A small room
For the day
For our cause
Why?
Dedication, challenge, insanity...
But the cost? (Wac knows)
And hunger!
A groan, to a sigh
Look!
Success...
We've done it!
Freedom
(until next deadline)
Can it be done?

His faith in us
His determination
Yes!

-Shelah Allen '81

To the Grads

We travelled on a rocky road, stumbling through haggard years,
in the twilight of reflected stars.
With only each other for support,
and strength in our yearly plight.

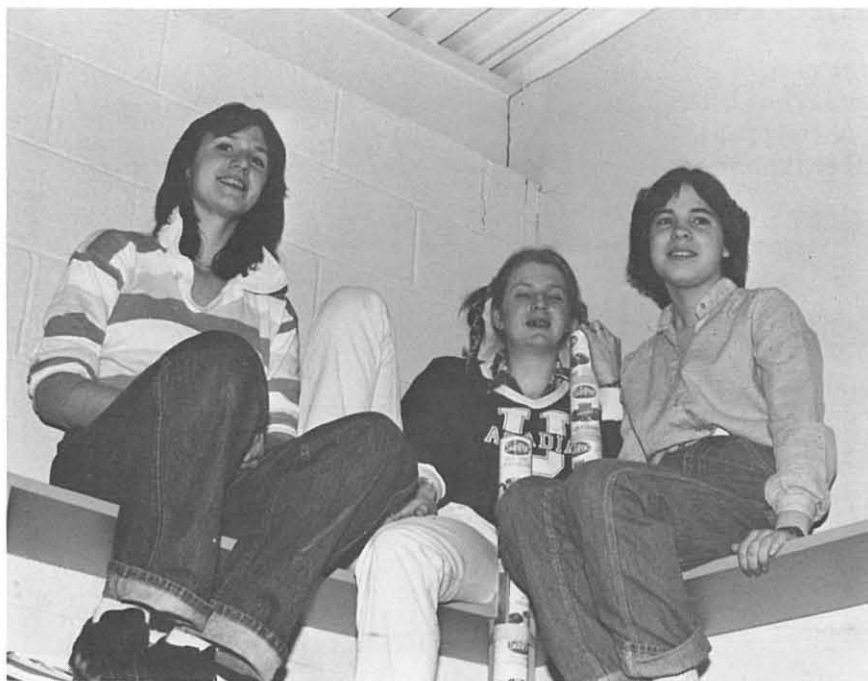

Then a separation of our stoney path,
came to our view on the horizon.
An End, we thought.
How could this be?
But slowly the cross-roads approached.

The travelling of different paths,
has now begun.
But it was not an end,
but a beginning,
and a hastening toward the sun.

And the darkness became even brighter,
as we rose into our individual heavens.
For theskies around now glowed,
with the power of our hope,
life and love.
