

All Time Negro League Managers

Trying to compile the won-loss records of Negro League managers is a difficult to almost impossible task for several reasons.

- Newspaper coverage was not always very good for many of the teams.
- For “league” games, many teams like the Brooklyn Royal Giants and Cuban Stars were very sporadic in reporting game results to the “league” office.
- Teams often changed managers during the season and trying to split won-loss records between multiple managers for one season can at best be a guessing game.

The following list of “All Time Negro League Managers” includes Negro League managers who won at least one “league” championship. This list represents the best current research. These records should in no way be considered an absolute. They are being continuously updated as new research is completed. This research does however give you a good indication of who were the top managers in Negro League baseball how they fared in “official” Negro League games and games against teams of top level completion. Games against “non-league” opponents, semipro teams, industrial teams and teams of a lower level of competition are not included in these records.

6. Late in his career, Grant "Homerun" Johnson also managed the Pittsburgh Colored Stars of Buffalo.

Frank Leland

Frank Leland was one of the pioneers of black baseball. Leland started his baseball career as an outfielder with the Washington Capital Cities (National League of Colored Baseball Clubs) in 1887.

In the spring of 1887 he moved to Chicago and helped local businessmen Henry Elby, Albert Donegan and William S. Peters organize the Unions baseball club. Shortly after the team was formed, they obtained a lease from the City of Chicago for the team to play at South Side Park. The team went professional in 1898 and became the Chicago Unions. Frank played outfield for the team through the 1889 season. From 1896 to 1900 Leland was the traveling manager for the Chicago Unions and William S. Peters was the General Manager.

In 1901 Frank Leland merged the Chicago Unions and Columbia Giants to form the Chicago Union Giants. As both owner and manager, Frank Leland developed one of the most formidable teams in the West. They dominated baseball in the West and Midwest for many years. The team changed its name to the Leland Giants in 1905. Leland's team compiled a won-loss record of 112-10 (.918) for the 1905 season. According to former Giants' shortstop, Jimmy Smith, the Leland Giants had a 43 game win streak in 1905 that started on May 19th and ended on July 16th when they were beaten by the Spalding baseball team.

Before the start of the 1907 season, Leland improved his roster by hiring Rube Foster (P), Pete Hill (OF), Bill Gatewood (P) and Mike Moore. Foster also took over as field manager of the team from Leland. The 1907 Leland Giants team compiled a record of 110-10 (.917) for the season. During the 1907 season they had a 48 game winning streak. The Leland Giants team had another strong season in 1908 when they went 64-21 (.753).

Foster and Leland parted company in 1910 when Rube formed his own team. The two fought over the name "Leland Giants" and Foster won the legal right to the team name. Foster changed the name of his team to the Chicago American Giants in 1911. Leland's team became the Chicago Giants. The 1910 Chicago Giants played in the Chicago League and played an independent schedule during the season. The Chicago Giants played through the 1912 baseball season.

Over his career, Frank Leland owned and/or managed the following teams:

Year	Team
1896-1900	Chicago Unions
1901-1904	Chicago Union Giants
1905-1909	Leland Giants
1910-1912	Chicago Giants

Frank Leland passed away on November 14, 1914. He was only 45 years of age.

Notes:

1. Tinti Molina was the owner and manager of the above Cuban Stars teams that played in the United States.
2. The Cuban Stars were also called the 1921 Cuban Stars of Havana (.462).
3. Research by Gary Ashwill (Seamheads) credits the 1921 Cuban Stars with a record of 36-42 (.462).
4. Research by Gary Ashwill (Seamheads) credits the 1922 Cuban Stars with a record of 18-43 (.295).
5. Research by Gary Ashwill (Seamheads) credits the 1922-23 Santa Clara Leopards with a record of 15-12 (.556).
6. It is important to note that there were only between two to four teams in each Cuban League season.
7. During the 1937-38 season Tinti Molina, Jose Olivares and Julio Rojo all managed the Habana team.
8. Augustin "Tinti" Molina was elected to the Cuban Baseball Hall of Fame in 1942.

Buck won two (2) regular season Negro American League titles (1953 and 1955) and three (3) Negro American League - Western Division titles (1949, 1950 and 1951). He also won the second half of the 1948 Negro American League season.

Note – Buck O'Neil also managed the Willie Mays All Stars for their 1962 post season barnstorming tour.

William S. Peters

William S. Peters was one of the early pioneers of black baseball long before there was a Negro National League. Before he became involved in baseball, he was a successful black businessman in Chicago, Illinois.

In 1887 with the help a young ball player by the name of Frank C. Leland and fellow businessmen Henry Elby and Albert Donegand, Peters organized the Unions baseball club. Shortly after the team was formed, they obtained a lease from the City of Chicago for the team to play at South Side Park. The Unions team was managed by Abe Jones in their inaugural season and Peters played first base.

The team went professional in 1888 and changed their name to the Chicago Unions. When the team went professional Abe Jones was retained as manager and Peters was the starting first baseman. Peters continued to play first base for the Chicago Unions through the 1894 season. He took over as manager of the team in 1890.

In 1901 the Chicago Unions and Columbia Giants were combined to form the Chicago Union Giants. The team was also called the Peters Union Giants. One of the Union Giants best seasons was in 1909 when the team went 46-10 (.822). The Union Giants billed themselves as “the oldest colored team on the road.”

A summary of William S. Peters’ baseball career is as follows:

Year	Team
1887	Unions (amateur team)
1888-1900	Chicago Unions
1906-1917	Chicago Union Giants

In 1917 William Peters sold his team to Robert S. Gilkerson who changed the name of the team to Gilkerson’s Union Giants.

1. Posey formed the Homestead Grays in 1912 from the Murdock Grays. He undoubtedly managed the team during most or all the early years of the team.
2. Besides managing the Grays, Posey also owned the team.
3. The Homestead Grays played hundreds of games during the years they played an independent schedule.
4. In 1932 Posey owned both the Homestead Grays and Detroit Wolves.
5. Won-loss records for Cum Posey as presented here are incomplete for his managerial career.

Note-

1. Lazaro Salazar played in the Negro League, but never managed a Negro League team in the United States. He is listed here because of his Negro League connection as a player and his great career as a manager in Latin America.
2. During his career in Latin America he won fourteen (14) league championships.
3. Salazar is considered the greatest manager in the history of professional baseball in Mexico.

Note - George Scales is considered the “greatest” manager in Puerto Rican baseball history.

Henry Walter “Slick” Schlichter

Henry Walter “Slick” Schlichter was the founder and co-owner of the Philadelphia Giants.

In 1902 Walter Schlichter and Harry A. Smith, sports editor of the Philadelphia Tribune, recruited Sol White to help them organize the Philadelphia Giants. Sol White played shortstop and served as the team’s captain. Charles “Kid” Carter (P), Frank Grant (2B) and Andrew “Jap” Payne (OF) were the team’s other top players for the Giants 1902 season. In their first year of operation the Philadelphia Giants were credited with a record of 81-43-1 (.653).

Before the start of the 1903 season, Schlichter strengthened his roster by signing William Binga (3B), Harry Buckner (P), Robert Footes (C), Bill Monroe (1B) and John W. Patterson (OF). The Philadelphia Giants had an outstanding season and challenged the Cuban X-Giants for championship series at the end of the season. Unfortunately, the Cuban X-Giants behind the outstanding pitching of Rube Foster prevailed.

After being defeated by the Cuban X-Giants, Walter Schlichter was determined to field a championship team for the 1904 season. The first step in his plan was to sign Andrew “Rube” Foster (P), Pete Hill (OF) and Dan McClellan (P/OF). At the end of the season the Philadelphia Giants behind the pitching of Rube Foster, avenged their loss to the Cuban X-Giants by defeating them for the “Colored World Championship.”

In 1905 the Philadelphia Giants beat the Brooklyn Royal Giants for their second straight championship.

The Philadelphia Giants joined the multiracial International League of Independent Professional Baseball Clubs in 1906. They won both the International League title and defeated the Cuban X-Giants for the “Colored World’s Championship” during the 1906 baseball season.

Before the start of the 1907 season the Philadelphia joined the National Association of Colored Baseball Clubs of the United States and Cuba which was the first organized colored baseball league of the twentieth century. Schlichter served as the “league’s” president from 1906 to 1909. Even though the Philadelphia Giants lost Rube Foster, Pete Hill and three other players to the Leland Giants before the start of the season; they still field a strong team that was led by the hitting of John Henry “Pop” Lloyd. Schlichter’s Philadelphia Giants won their fourth consecutive “Colored World’s Championship” at the end of the 1907 season.

In 1908 the Philadelphia Giants led by the hitting of Spottswood Poles were considered the best team in the East. At the end of the season the Philadelphia Giants faced the Chicago Leland Giants in a championship series. This was the first time the best team from the East played the best team from the West in a championship series. During the series each team won three games. There does appear to have been an attempt to play a seventh and deciding game of the series.

Walter Schlichter’s dominance of black baseball in the East started to fade in 1909 when Sol White left the Philadelphia Giants to take over the reigns of the Quaker Giants. The Philadelphia Giants suffered another major loss in 1910 when Pop Lloyd left the team.

No longer being the best team in the East and forced to deal with player defections, Walter Schlichter disbanded the Philadelphia Giants according to an article that appeared in the New York Age on August 3, 1911.

Over their nine year career some of the best players in black baseball appeared on the roster of the Philadelphia Giants. These players included: Harry Buckner, Rube Foster, Charlie Grant, Frank Grant, Pete Hill, Grant “Home Run” Johnson, John Henry “Pop” Lloyd, Dan McClellan, Bill Monroe, Mike Moore, Bruce Petway, Spottswood Poles, Dick Redding and Sol White.

Even though Walter Schlichter’s tenure in black baseball was relatively short, he was very successful. His Philadelphia Giants teams were considered one of the first dynasties in black baseball history. During his baseball career, Walter Schlichter is credited with having won the following championships:

Year	Team	Championship
1904	Philadelphia Giants	Colored World’s Championship
1905	Philadelphia Giants	Colored World’s Championship
1906	Philadelphia Giants	International League of Independent Professional Baseball Clubs Title
1906	Philadelphia Giants	Colored World’s Championship
1907	Philadelphia Giants	Colored World’s Championship
1908	Philadelphia Giants	Colored Champions of the East

Walter Schlichter also was a highly respected boxing referee and a sports writer for the Philadelphia Item during his professional career.

Notes:

1. In 1902 Walter Schlichter, sports editor for the Philadelphia Evening Item, formed the Philadelphia Giants. Schlichter was the team's owner and general manger. Sol White was the field manager.
2. In 1903 the Philadelphia also played in the predominately white Tri-State League.
3. The International League refers to the International League of Independent Professional Base Ball Clubs
4. NACPC stands for the National Association of Colored Professional Clubs which lasted from 1907-1909.
5. The won-loss record presented here for 1908 is based on the research of Gary Ashwill (Seamheads) and in no way represents the won-loss record for the entire season.
6. Both Sol White and John Patterson managed the 1909 Philadelphia Quaker Giants.
7. The 1910 Brooklyn Royal Giants were managed by both Sol White and Clarence Williams.

8. The 1911 New York Lincoln Giants were managed by both Sol White and John Henry “Pop” Lloyd.
9. Both Sol White and Bill Francis managed the 1924 Cleveland Browns.
10. Research by John Holway credits the 1924 Cleveland Browns with a record of 17-34 (.333).
11. Both Sol White and Andy Harris managed the 1926 Newark Stars. The team had a dismal record of 1-10 (.091) in “league” and 7-11 (.389) in overall play. The 1926 Newark Stars folded before the Eastern Colored League reached mid-season.
12. Sol White was elected to the National Baseball Hall of Fame (Cooperstown) in 2006.
