NEW ZEALAND HUNTING ADVENTURES

Travelling to New Zealand and hunting in the South Island offers a unique experience with stunning landscapes, diverse wildlife, and challenging hunts. The South Island is known for its breathtaking mountains, fiords, and vast wilderness, providing a picturesque backdrop for hunting adventures. Additionally, the region offers opportunities to pursue game like Red Deer, Fallow Deer, Wapati, Tahr, and Chamois in their natural habitats, creating memorable and authentic hunting experiences.

Why should I choose New Zealand to hunt a Red Stag:

New Zealand Red Stags are highly desirable to hunt due to their impressive size, majestic antlers, and challenging behaviour.

The country's unique environment has allowed these stags to develop large, symmetrical antlers that attract hunters seeking a rewarding trophy.

The rugged terrain of New Zealand adds an element of challenge to the hunt, making it both thrilling and memorable for those seeking an adventure.

The combination of the stunning landscape and the opportunity to pursue such iconic game makes hunting New Zealand Red Stags a coveted experience.

Our Alpine Species:

Hunting Bull Tahr and Chamois in the South Island of New Zealand offers a thrilling experience for several reasons. The challenging mountainous terrain provides a demanding and adventurous hunt, testing your skills and endurance. Bull Tahr, with their majestic appearance and thick, dark manes, present a coveted trophy for hunters. Chamois, agile, and elusive, make for an exciting pursuit in the alpine landscapes.

The combination of diverse topography, unique game species, and the sense of accomplishment in successfully navigating and hunting in this challenging environment makes it an unforgettable experience for hunting

NEW ZEALAND HUNTING ADVENTURES

We offer a variety of different animals to hunt including:

RED DEER

On game estates also exceptionally large trophies of 18-40+ points (s.c.i 350-600+) are being harvested. Red Deer can be found from river valleys and native timber to the open high country tops. Weighing up to 450 lbs, and of reddish in appearance Stags (males) and Hinds (females) come together during the rut (roar) between late March-end of April.

FALLOW DEER

The cunning Fallow Bucks are an excellent hunt, and venison that will make ones mouth water! The rut (croak) overlaps that of the Red Stag around mid April and is an amazing experience to hear the two deer species challenging their rivals. Trophies are measured by palmation, points, length and spread and free ranging can rival that of estate deer.

HIMALAYAN TAHR

With two properties of over 35,000 acres of private hunting in the heart of Tahr country we are able to glass them from the river valleys. Preferring rocky mountain outcrops till the rut, trophy Bulls are sought after for their capes and horns (11-14 inches) and the experience of a truly affordable mountain hunt to rival that of any other species.

CHAMOIS

Chamois are a mountain Antelope that are found in smaller family groups unlike Tahr. Weighing around 90 lbs they are extremely agile and alert animals with a playful and unpredictable nature. They can be found from river valleys to rocky peaks at a generally lower altitude than Tahr. Bucks and does have nearly identical features with horn length from 8-11 inches.

ELK/WAPATI

The largest of our game animals found on private estates producing exceptionally large antlers.

ARAPAWA RAM

Descendants of the Merino sheep, their characteristic black wool and spiralling horns will curl from 1 ½- 2 ½ turns.

ALPINE GOAT

Weighing 80-120 lbs they inhabit rocks and hills, coming in a variety of colours and horns.

VARMINTS

Wallaby (macropus rufogriseus), Possum, Rabbit, Hare. Great fun and can be hunted day or night.

WING SHOOTING

Paradise duck, Pheasant, Mallard, Swan, Goose, and Pukeko. Only able to shoot during their season.
