Student Consultation

School districts need autism resources, training, and support to accommodate a diverse range of needs and supports. Turning Pointe is available to address student and school-specific challenges. Customized trainings combine special education, behavioral research, and clinical expertise to support students on the spectrum, honoring each child's unique strengths and needs.

What Student Consultations Offer

- Observation/assessment of individual students by board-certified behavior analysts and certified autism specialists
- Review of current behavior plans and environment, and recommendations for adaptations
- Functional behavior assessment for target problem behavior
- Training for the implementation of an updated behavior intervention plan
- Skill-based assessment as needed

Why Partner with Turning Pointe

- Evidence-based training developed by certified autism specialists, special educators, and therapy professionals, drawn from therapeutic autism day school experience
- Deep experience providing appropriate educational accommodations and therapeutic interventions, including ABA, OT, social work, and speech therapy
- Interactive, scenario-based learning tailored to real education and school situations
- Flexible sessions aligned with education, training, and staff development goals
- Authorized Continuing Education Provider (ACE) by Behavior Analyst Certification Board and Advanced Autism Specialist-certified to provide high quality, cost effective training programs.

Turning Pointe Autism Foundation partners with schools and educators to build supportive, effective school environments where autistic students and their support teams can succeed.
