Hand-Crafted Mother of Pearl

Mother of pearl inlay is a decorative technique that uses thin, hand-cut pieces of natural nacre—the iridescent inner layer of shells such as oyster and abalone—embedded into the urns surface. The process involves carving precise recesses, fitting the inlay, then leveling, polishing, and sealing with a protective clear coat. Because nacre naturally reflects light with subtle color variations, no two inlays are identical, giving each piece a refined, handcrafted look that adds depth, elegance, and a truly unique touch.
