NEHIR AKANSU

Nehir Akansu is a violist / composer of crossover styles, she has PhD in interdisciplinary art. Her field of research is on improvisation focusing on the fusion of folk music and jazz, in collaboration with audiovisual and contemporary dance. Her musical trajectory expands on the international musical journey from classical/contemporary music to jazz and world music styles, focusing on improvisation since 2016, when the turning point was in Santiago de Compostela.

In the meantime, she was a violist intern at the Real Filharmonía de Galicia. She had the opportunity to discover Galician folk music, the Foliada nights, where musicians gather to improvise all night long. This image of joy and freedom made her change her mind to become a versatile violist in the world of music. She is currently dedicated to jazz performance in Jazz Big Bands, creating artistic projects with fellow musicians, dancers, visual artists and also teaching jazz improvisation workshops under the title Improviola Jazz. She teaches at Yamaha music school and Sedajazz in Valencia, Spain. She is a member of International Viola Society since 2022 as young generation ambassador.

JOSEPH ALFRED

Joseph Alfred is a Middle Eastern violinist and a visionary in the artistic world. He is best known as the founder of the CANTOS Foundation for Arts and Development, based in Alexandria, Egypt. A lifelong advocate for music and cultural exchange, Joseph began his musical journey in choral singing in 2015, later founding the CANTOS Vocal Ensemble in 2020—an initial step toward his broader dream of building a vibrant artistic community.

In 2024, after years of planning and international collaboration, Joseph officially launched the CANTOS Foundation, an inclusive non-profit organization dedicated to nurturing artistic talent across disciplines. Under his leadership, CANTOS has grown into a dynamic hub offering workshops, seminars, and performances that highlight both emerging and established artists. Joseph's mission is to build cultural bridges and foster creativity without borders. Through CANTOS, he champions diversity, accessibility, and the integration of both Arab and international art forms. His work emphasizes the importance of education, the inclusion of artists with disabilities, and intercultural partnerships that connect Alexandria to Mediterranean and global artistic scenes. With bold vision and unwavering dedication, Joseph Alfred continues to inspire a new generation of artists to dream, create, and connect through the transformative power of the arts.

She currently teaches music theory at the Istituto Musicale Sammarinese in San Marino.

ANNE CALOUSTIAN

Anne loves to mix sounds, colors, scents, words, and things...Creative cocktails — of every kind. She studied music in Paris, then in the United States. A violist, holder of the French Certificat d'Aptitude, chamber music professor, and founding member of the Trio Nausicaa and the Opale Quartett. Over time, she discovered the world of clowning, storytelling, and musical burlesque theatre. She toured with Jean-Paul Farré in Les animaux malades de la piste, created children's shows — Musique mon amour, Alto Bel Canto, Le secret de Grand-Père — and performed with the Hope Ensemble, playing Cristal Baschet and an acoustic-electric MIDI quinton. Then she began to dance, to sing, to improvise — freely and simply. And between two artistic adventures, Anne created Graine de Perle. Born one day in January... or perhaps February... sometime when it's not too warm. Since then, between two melodies, Anne often sets out for the desert — to breathe, to find inspiration.

EIRA DUO

Celia Cortes Manzanares and Iryna Neporozhnyia first met in Rotterdam in 2018 and have collaborated since 2023 as members of Olga Trio. With this ensemble, they debuted at the IV Concurso Nacional de Interpretación de Obras de Mujeres Compositoras (CIMCO), where they were finalists. Since then, they have been actively working with female composers based in the Netherlands. Both are also student members of NSKA (Dutch String Quartet Academy), further enriching their artistic development within a supportive and innovative environment. In May 2025, they launched a new project: Eira Duo, for piano, viola, and electronics. Eira Duo is a collaborative initiative dedicated to amplifying the voices of contemporary female composers while honoring the overlooked legacies of women throughout history. Blending live performance with storytelling, the duo presents music alongside narratives that illuminate composers' inspirations and cultural contexts while sharing their own creative journey. Their original composition serves as a bridge between past and present—connecting traditions with innovation and embedding their artistic voice within the continuum of classical music.

ANDREW FILMER

Malaysian violist and musicologist Dr Andrew Filmer is an associate professor at the Institute of Music at UCSI University in Malaysia. Andrew was a Festival Artist at the 48th International Viola Congress in Thailand and performed and presented at Congresses in Brazil, New Zealand, Germany, and Poland. He was Editor of the Journal of the American Viola Society and has been an advisor for the Australia and New Zealand Viola Society for over a decade. Andrew's interests have included scordatura for viola, editorial approaches, collaborations with composers, and the use of technology in education. Andrew's research has been published in the United States, United Kingdom, France, Australia, and New Zealand. He has presented research twice at Cambridge University, and he was a scholar-in-residence there in early 2023. Andrew has facilitated masterclasses and guest lectures at the Yong Siew Toh Conservatory in Singapore, the Royal Northern College of Music and the Royal Birmingham Conservatoire in the UK, the Elder Conservatorium in Australia, and the New Zealand School of Music. Andrew has a wide range of interests: he was part of a three-person team that constructed the first two harpsichords built in Malaysia, and was a member of the New Zealand jazz band The Troubles, whose inaugural recording was released by Rattle Records. Andrew completed his PhD at the University of Otago in New Zealand in 2013 with violist Donald Maurice and composer Anthony Ritchie as supervisors, and previously studied in the United States with Anthony Devroye of the Avalon Quartet.

HENRIK FRENDIN & FREDRIK EMILSON

Henrik Frendin is professor of viola and chamber music at the Academy of Music in Malmö, alongside his work as a soloist, chamber musician, and film music conductor. Through a long international career, he has established himself as his country's foremost ambassador for his instrument, known for his versatility and progressive approach. With the Western classical music tradition as his foundation, he moves freely between genres and is a pioneer in exploring the viola in the electroacoustic sound world. Through a 20-year collaboration with instrument maker Richard Rolf, he has contributed to the creation of a new design for electrified string instruments, resulting in two custom-built violas with unparalleled tonal qualities. In 2011, the latter instrument was premiered in the electric viola concerto «Music Noir» by composer Daniel Nelson with the Radio Symphony Orchestra and conductor Enrique Mazzola, broadcast live in 35 countries. These unique instruments form the sonic backbone of the work «Sandhamn – Suite for electric violas, electronics and moving images».

Fredrik Emilson is a composer, director and artist who initiates projects where music interacts with visual and narrative elements. He composes across a broad spectrum: from enormous land-art sound installations in national parks to film music and contemporary classical music including the Grammy-nominated CD «Viola con forza» with Henrik Frendin. Fredrik Emilson directed and composed the music to the animated opera film «Love and War» with the Radio Symphony Orchestra and Royal Opera Chorus, which won Best Animated/ Experimental Short Film at the Los Angeles Film Festival and Best Short Film at Nordic Panorama. He is one of the originators of the «Für Alle collective» – an artist group that has created TV series, radio programs, records, and theatre plays. As a film music composer, he has recently written music for the feature film «As Long as the Heart Beats» and composed music for 24 films in the drama series «The Sandhamn Murders».

Certified in Paul Rolland String Pedagogy, her work emphasizes ensemble training, early instruction, and culturally informed repertoire. She recently led a Central American workshop for string teachers, promoting Latin American rhythms in classical training. Her viola festival in Puebla and projects across Latin America aim to enhance technique, musicality, and cultural identity, connecting students deeply with Colombian and Latin American music.

MATTHEW JONES

Described by 'Fanfare' Magazine as 'the finest violist since William Primrose', Matthew was born in Wales and studied with Rivka Golani. He has recorded 27 solo and chamber CDs, including multi award-winning 'Britten: Reflections' with pianist Annabel Thwaite, streamed more than 4.5 million times, the only complete recording of Prokofiev's 'Romeo and Juliet' excerpts as transcribed by Borisovsky, a critically lauded recording of the York Bowen Sonatas and a disc of his own chamber compositions.

Matthew is Professor of Viola and Head of Chamber Music at the Guildhall School of Music and Drama. His unique approach to teaching (inspired by his studies of mathematics, Alexander Technique and Yoga/Meditation and performance psychology) has led to one of the most sought after teaching studios in Europe. His performances, masterclasses and workshops on enhancing performance have reached tens of thousands of musicians.

He is also a composer and passionate chamber music teacher. In the last four years alone, groups he has mentored have won the Trondheim, Banff, Bordeaux and Borciani International Competitions.

ANNA JURRIAANSE

Anna Jurriaanse is a Dutch violist currently completing her Master's degree in Berlin with Julia Brembeck-Adler while holding an academy with the Deutsches Symphonie-Orchester. She previously studied at the Royal Conservatoire in The Hague with Ásdís Valdísarsdóttir and in Tilburg with Emllyn Stam. From the very beginning, chamber music has been central to her path: with Pelargos Quartet, a highlight was performing Stockhausen's Helicopter String Quartet, which sparked her passion for contemporary music. In Berlin, she co-founded Ensemble Utak (flute, harp, viola), focusing on modern repertoire. After doing a course with Ensemble Modern she was invited to join the International Ensemble Modern Academy for several projects and took part in the Lucerne Festival Contemporary Orchestra Academy. Anna has also held academies with the Netherlands Philharmonic Orchestra and the Netherlands Chamber Orchestra. Balancing orchestral, chamber, and contemporary work, she thrives at balancing the good old classics and the contemporary world.

Honors include the National Education Commission Medal (2017), the Gloria Artis Medal (2021), and the Silver Cross of Merit (2021).

SARAH NIBLACK

Sarah Niblack, «The Practice Professor» is a Paris-based professional violist and the innovative founder of SPARK Practice, a revolutionary system for musical learning and performance. She has dedicated her career to helping musicians overcome the barriers of traditional practice. Her unique methodology is a powerful synthesis of four distinct fields: the elite training of a top-tier conservatory musician, the mental toughness of a competitive athlete, the brain-based learning strategies of neuroscience, and the self-awareness of mindfulness. Educated at the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music and the ORR de Paris, Sarah has an extensive performance career with orchestras like the Orchestre National d'Ile-de-France, and the academy of the Orchestre de Paris. However, it was her personal journey—navigating performance anxiety, injury, and even a five-year break from music—that inspired her to create SPARK Practice and the Intentional Practice System. With over 20 years of teaching and coaching experience, Sarah now provides musicians with the tools to practice with intention, regulate their nervous system, and perform with confidence and joy. She is also the founder of Classical Revolution Paris, making classical music accessible to new audiences.
