Da' Gullah Rootz

BIOGRAPHY

GuHah

/'gala/

noun

1.

a member of an African American people living on the coast of South Carolina and nearby islands.

2.

African Culture Spoken in Charleston, Beaufort, Savannah, and some parts of Florida.

Gee·chee

f'ge,cHe/noun

df

an English creole spoken by some Black people in parts of South Carolina and Georgia.

For over three decades, Da' Gullah Rootz has been a magnetic force in the Southeast, fusing warm reggae rhythms with the vibrant traditions of Gullah-Geechee culture. Based in Charleston's Lowcountry, his music is a rich tapestry woven from world-beat sounds, roots rock energy, and soulful dub—deeply informed by ancestral Gullah heritage

With more than 30 years of consistent performances, Da' Gullah Rootz has dazzled national and regional audiences, delivering up to 250 energized shows per year in the Southeast alone. His stage presence is charismatic and inviting—he effortlessly toggles between lovers-rock, smooth and upbeat island vibes, creating an inviting atmosphere of "peace, love and unity.,, Stylistically, he honors reggae legends like The Wailers, Steel Pulse, Burning Spear and Jimmy Cliff, while embedding Gullah-Geechee elements—sweet harmonies, toasting lyrics, dub culture—resulting in a sound that's both global and locally rooted. Performance highlights include headline sets at MOJA Arts Festival and collaborations with seasoned Jamaican artists.

In essence, Da' Gullah Rootz is a cultural bridge: a devoted performer whose warm vibes, roots forward vision, and Geechee soul uplift and connect communities through music that honors both tradition and innovation.
