From the Pastor's Desk

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK:

29th Sunday of Ordinary Time: Whose Image Do You Bear?

Imagine a physician standing beside a critically ill patient while alarms sound and precious seconds disappear. A policy manual lies nearby, but no manual can make the deepest decision: Is this person merely a case to be managed or a life entrusted to my care? In that instant, skill, conscience, law, and compassion converge. The clinician must act within legitimate structures yet answer to a truth higher than efficiency or power—the inviolable dignity of a human being made in God's image.

Today's Gospel brings us to precisely that intersection. The Pharisees and some Herodians ask Jesus a perplexing question: Is it lawful to pay the tax to Caesar or not? If Jesus says "No"—the answer many of his hearers want—he can be accused of sedition, of subverting the emperor's authority. If he says "Yes"—the answer they do not want—he risks losing credibility and respect among his followers. Yet Jesus masterfully reframes the issue. In effect, he asks: "What do we owe to human authority, and what do we owe to God?"

To make sense of this Gospel, let us begin by noticing who comes to Jesus. The Pharisees send some of their disciples along with the Herodians. Ordinarily, these two groups would have had little use for one another. The Pharisees resented Rome's control, while the Herodians were willing to work within the Roman system. Yet opposition to Jesus brings them together. They begin with flattering words, telling Jesus how honest and fearless he is, but they are not looking for instruction. They are setting a trap designed to make him choose between appearing disloyal to Rome and appearing disloyal to his own people.

Jesus' response is brilliant. He asks them to show him the coin used to pay the tax. That detail matters. Jesus does not pull the coin from his own pocket; they produce it. On that denarius is the image of the emperor Tiberius, together with words presenting him as the son of the "divine" Augustus. The other side connects imperial rule with religious authority. For a faithful Jew, the coin carries more than monetary value—it carries Caesar's claim to power and even a suggestion of divinity. So when Jesus asks, "Whose image is this and whose inscription?" he makes them say aloud what the coin represents.

If Jesus' question is brilliant, his answer is even more so: "Repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God." Sometimes we hear those words as though Jesus were simply dividing life into two separate boxes—one for government and another for religion. But he is saying something much deeper. Caesar has a legitimate claim: taxes may be owed, laws should be respected, and citizens have responsibilities to the common good. Yet Caesar's claim has limits. The coin bears Caesar's image; you and I bear the image of God. Here Jesus quietly but powerfully points us back to Genesis: every human person is created in God's image and likeness.

So, what belongs to God? Not simply one hour on Sunday. Not merely the prayers we say or the offerings we place in the basket. Our conscience, our work, our relationships, our our citizenship—our entire life—belongs to God. Jesus was not telling us to withdraw from society. Christians should pay what is owed, obey just laws, vote, serve, and work for the common good. But no government, political party, profession, market, or ideology may take God's place. The real question is not only, "Should I pay this tax?" It is, "Have I allowed any earthly power to claim the part of me that belongs to God alone?"

Perhaps the best way to answer that question is to ask another: What does it look like when a person truly gives to God what belongs to God? It means allowing God to shape the way we see and serve the person before us—especially someone who is sick, frightened, vulnerable, or easily overlooked. Because every human life bears God's image, caring for another person is more than a professional responsibility or a generous gesture; it can become a genuine act of discipleship. Few vocations make that truth more visible than the vocation to heal.

From the Pastor's Desk / Parish News

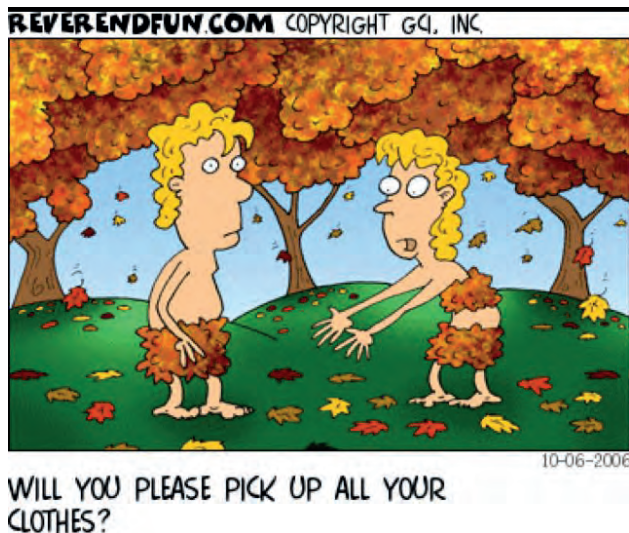

That vocation to heal brings us naturally to October 18, the Feast of Saint Luke, evangelist and, by ancient Christian tradition, a physician. Because the feast falls on Sunday, the Twenty-Ninth Sunday in Ordinary Time takes liturgical precedence. Even so, Saint Luke offers us a living illustration of today's Gospel. In his writings, the sick, the poor, the wounded, and those pushed to the margins are never invisible; they are seen, approached, and treated with dignity. In that same spirit, at all our Masses this weekend we will extend a blessing to all healthcare workers, asking Christ the Divine Physician to sustain those whose knowledge, steady hands, moral courage, patience, and compassion become instruments of His healing.

Here at St. Andrew the Apostle Parish, many healthcare workers embody that healing vocation in extraordinary ways. They see their profession not simply as a career, but as a ministry in which the Lord guides their judgment, strengthens their compassion, and works through their care. Today we commend them in a special way and offer our prayers for their continued call to serve.

So, what does it look like when a person truly gives to God what belongs to God? It looks like allowing faith to shape not only what we believe, but how we live and whom we notice. This week, each of us might begin with two simple practices. First, make time to call, visit, or pray with someone who is sick, homebound, grieving, or overwhelmed. Second, offer one of your own gifts—medical knowledge, a listening ear, a meal, transportation, or a few hours of service—to meet a real need in our parish or community. Saint Luke reminds us that God's mercy becomes visible when it is carried to another person. As we bless our healthcare workers today, may their example move all of us to place our abilities, our time, and our hearts at the Lord's service. That is what it means to give God what belongs to God: not a portion of ourselves but a life made available for love.

With a loving and grateful heart,
Msgr. Louis Marucci, VF, Ph.D., D.Min., Pastor

Capital Campaign Update

Thanks to the generous support of our parishioners, our Building Up the House of the Lord Capital Campaign has reached $1,222,275 in pledges!

If you have not yet made a pledge we invite you to prayerfully consider supporting the campaign. Every pledge and donation helps minimize the amount we will need to mortgage for the project.

Pledge cards are available in the Parish Office.

You can also support the campaign by requesting memorial donations to the St. Andrew's Building Fund in lieu of flowers when a loved one passes away.

29th Sunday in Ordinary Time: Stewardship Priority

"Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's." - MATTHEW 22:21

Everything we are and everything we have belongs to God. We aren't "owners" of anything, we are merely "stewards" of the gifts God has given each of us. All God is asking is that we give back a portion of what He gave us. This is the essence of Stewardship. God should be our first priority in everything. All else comes second, especially our money.

Ministry Spotlight: Legion of Mary

The Legion of Mary is a worldwide Catholic lay organization whose members seek to grow closer to Jesus through devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary, prayer, and service to others.

Here at St. Andrew the Apostle, our Legion of Mary members play an active role in the spiritual life of our parish. From participating in the May Crowning to creating the beautiful floral carpet for our Corpus Christi procession, their dedication helps foster a deeper appreciation for our Catholic faith and traditions.

Most recently, the Legion of Mary organized a Rosary Rally on October 3rd as part of the Diocesan Chain of Life. Parishioners gathered along the roadside in peaceful prayer, serving as a public witness to the dignity and sanctity of all human life.

Are you looking for a way to deepen your faith and serve others? The Legion of Mary welcomes those interested in growing closer to Christ through Mary while making a meaningful difference in our parish community. Contact queenoftheapostles97@gmail.com.

October is the Month of the Holy Rosary — a beautiful invitation to slow down, spend time in prayer, and reflect on the life of Jesus with Mary.

If you've never prayed the Rosary before, or it's simply been a while, this short video from Bishop Robert Barron is a wonderful place to start.

National Vocation Awareness Week November 1–7, 2026

God Has a Calling for Each of Us!

Every person has a unique purpose in God's plan. National Vocation Awareness Week is a special time for Catholics across the United States to celebrate and encourage vocations to the priesthood, diaconate, and consecrated life.

Throughout this week, we are invited to pray for those who have answered God's call and to encourage those who may be discerning a vocation to religious life. A vocation is more than a calling to serve—it is an opportunity to experience the joy and fulfillment that come from following God's plan.

“Speak, Lord, for your servant is listening.”
1 Samuel 3:9

All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day: A Parish Remembrance

Throughout November, the month of All Souls', parishioners are invited to bring framed photographs of deceased loved ones to be placed in the sanctuary as a sign of prayerful remembrance. Please write your name and phone number on the back of each frame. Photographs will remain in the sanctuary until the Thanksgiving Mass.

Second, parishioners are invited to complete a Memorial Envelope and have their deceased loved ones remembered on the Altar through the Month of November, (until the beginning of Advent). All Souls' Day envelopes were mailed to all parishioners, and extra envelopes are available in the vestibule.

We also invite parishioners who have buried a loved one to a special Memorial Mass on November 2 at 6 PM, All Souls' Day. St. Andrew the Apostle Parish retains records only for those whose funerals were celebrated through our parish. If your loved one was buried from another parish and you would like the decedent included in our remembrance, please contact the parish office (before October 28th) and provide the necessary information. Together, let us entrust all the faithful departed to the mercy of God and surround grieving families with the hope of Christ.

Catholic 101

Did You Know? All Souls' Day is part of a special time of remembrance in the Church. November 1 is All Saints' Day, when we celebrate all the saints in heaven, and November 2 is All Souls' Day, when we pray for the faithful departed.

Parish News

IN THE SPIRIT OF ST. LUKE...CONGRATULATIONS Dr. John Flamma and Dr. Lisa DiMedio!

We offer heartfelt congratulations to Dr. John Flamma and Dr. Lisa DiMedio, a married couple from our parish who were chosen to receive the Diocese of Camden's St. Luke Medal from Bishop Joseph A. Williams today. The St. Luke Medal is given for healthcare workers who exemplify outstanding Catholic moral principles in their practice of medicine. Dr. Flamma recently retired after decades devoted to internal and emergency medicine, including service affiliated with Penn Presbyterian Medical Center. His career placed him where illness and injury often demanded rapid judgment, calm discernment, reverence for life, and fidelity to the vulnerable person entrusted to his care. Retirement has not meant retirement from discipleship: both he and Dr. DiMedio continue to serve our parish through our Shepherd's Guard Ministry.

Dr. DiMedio is a board-certified internist with more than three decades of experience and who serves her patients through Jefferson Health in South Jersey. She describes her mission as providing excellent medical care while treating every patient as family. That is deeply consonant with Catholic moral practice: no patient is merely a diagnosis, appointment, or problem to solve, but a neighbor whose dignity commands attention.

Through Shepherd's Guard Ministry, John and Lisa also show how healthcare workers can place their gifts directly at the service of the parish—by volunteering their professional knowledge, helping the community respond wisely to a medical need or emergency, offering calm and compassionate assistance at parish gatherings, and supporting health education and preparedness. Physicians, nurses, EMTs, therapists, aides, and other healthcare professionals volunteer in this Ministry to be present at Mass to keep a safe watch over the congregation in case of a medical emergency. As such, their training becomes a ministry of presence, readiness, and care to assist in case of an emergency.

Renaissance Center / Compassionate Outreach

Updates from our Senior Ministry for the weeks of October 18 and October 25

"You don't stop laughing when you grow old. You grow old when you stop laughing."

Dear Seniors, Make sure your plans include our annual Halloween Party! This year the theme is "Halloween Roundup!" The party will be held on October 29th in the Parish Hall, during our regular hours, and all seniors are invited. Any type of costume is good, but you might want to make it something with a Western Flair. Just be comfortable because there will be dancing!

Our annual auction will be held on November 10th! Start gathering your nice, slightly used items to donate. We don't sell clothes, but last year we made a killing on purses and jewelry! Bring your items to the center during our regular hours.

This Tuesday, October 20, Cecelia will lead us in Line Dancing, followed by our "Growing in Faith" presentation. This month Jim will continue with the "Signs" from John's Gospel. On Thursday, we will start with a relaxing "Breathe and Stretch" class, and move on to the "So" cards. The questions on the cards are designed for deeper discussion about yourself and the world.

On October 27th, we will explore the wisdom behind some quotes by The Blessed Fulton Sheen! Then, hold on to your seats for "Armchair Travel" to Wyoming, the cowboy state, where cattle outnumber humans four to one!

We meet in the Upper Room on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Plan to arrive between 9:30 AM and 10:00 AM, and stay until the end of lunch, about 1:00 PM. We serve breakfast and a delicious lunch, and there is no cost or commitment. The group looks forward to meeting you!

Just send me a note at themschoot@churchofstandrews.org, and I will send you a schedule.
