WHO WE ARE

SJCA is a non-profit organization established in 2010 that helps teach people how to grow food, farmers, and community. Together we're planting seeds of knowledge, sustainability, and connection that will feed Arkansas for generations.

SPONSORS ARE NEEDED!

YOUR SUPPORT WILL LETTUCE GROW...

BURNS PARK FARM/GARDENS

- A new public space in partnership with the City of North Little Rock, providing hands-on horticulture and environmental education.
- Pollinator habitat, native plantings, teaching and demonstration spaces where neighbors and students learn how things grow.
- Free and open to the public, with programming for schools, families, and community groups.

WEST LITTLE ROCK FARM STOP

- Farm Stop store brings locally grown/made food to consumers and is open year-round.
- Two weekly seasonal markets bring Arkansas growers face to face with the people who buy their food.
- Support local farmers who can sell directly at both markets and keep close to every dollar of each sale.
