

Source: National Weather Service data for Daniel K. Inouye International Airport. Annual temperature derived by averaging daily high and low temperatures to determine monthly averages, then averaging monthly high and low temperatures to determine annual average.