Clarissa J. Corbin is a seasoned corporate trainer, project manager, and business consultant with more than 25 years of experience in designing and delivering high-impact learning for professional audiences. As President and CEO of Projections Training Solutions, she works with federal agencies, private-sector organizations, and international clients to provide results-driven training in leadership, project management, business analysis, workplace communication, and emerging technologies such as artificial intelligence. Her background includes senior instructional and leadership roles with organizations such as Boston University, Columbus State University, and Graduate School USA, where she has built a reputation for versatility, professionalism, and strong learner outcomes.

Over the course of her career, Clarissa has trained more than 10,000 professionals worldwide and has served clients including the DoD, NASA, FEMA, Microsoft, Citibank, Del Monte, and Symantec among others. She is also a sought-after speaker who has presented for organizations and events including the Federal Highway Administration, the Department of Health, the Federal Reserve Bank, the Pentagon, and the International Institute of Business Analysis. Known for making complex topics practical, engaging, and immediately applicable, she brings a rare combination of executive presence, instructional expertise, and real-world business experience to every classroom, workshop, and consulting engagement.

Clarissa holds an impressive portfolio of professional credentials, including PMP, MCT, MOS, MCCT, ECBA, CSM, Project+, and ITILv4, and she continues to stay at the forefront of professional development and instructional innovation. Having completed the Google AI Essentials certificate, she now incorporates leading AI tools and platforms such as Microsoft Copilot, Claude, ChatGPT, Grok, Gemini, and Perplexity into her professional development, consulting, and training work. Whether she is teaching government or corporate professionals, coaching teams, speaking to leadership audiences, or designing learning experiences, Clarissa is recognized for delivering polished, relevant, and forward-looking instruction that equips professionals to perform at a higher level.
