

The Clubhouse Chronicles

Celebrating Independence on the Course

Nothing says July 4th like an annual golf tournament at the Club. For generations, members have gathered to celebrate the holiday with friendly competition and camaraderie on the course. The roots of this tradition trace back to 1928 when a newspaper clipping describes members working to prepare the grounds for golf on Independence Day, offering an early glimpse into the Club's connection to the holiday. Today, the tradition continues as the annual Flag Day tournament, bringing members together year after year.

Fun Fact: Back when the tournament first came out, the entry fee was a golf ball. The winning team would get half of the entered golf balls while second and third place received a quarter each.
