We are very grateful to be celebrating 50 years in business this year! 2026 will be a big year! We will be celebrating 3 huge milestones;
50 years in business, 25 years of our Annual Round-Up & Trade Show and America's 250th birthday!

With ever changing weather hitting the region, be sure to keep adequate protein and mineral in front of your cows, horses, sheep and other critters. Free choice minerals for cows are vital to ensure they clean and breed up and assist in a more uniform calf crop. With today's cash value for cattle, mineral and protein supplementation provides a very good return on investment.

BEAVERS BOOST LATE SEASON FORAGE

- Beaver ponds raise the water table and spread moisture across the land. That means more prime forage in late season.
- In places where beavers have returned, producers report lusher riparian zones and better grazing, even in drought years.
- Letting beavers do what they do best can help make more of your acres productive—naturally.

RANCHER INTERVIEW WITH PATTI ADAIR!

1. What is your background?

I am a proud wife, mother of three, Deschutes County Commissioner, and fourth-generation Oregonian. My Oregon roots date back to 1884 when my family settled in Eastern Oregon near Ukiah. I was born in Pendleton, Oregon, and grew up in Heppner on my family's ranch on Little Butter Creek. From a young age, I was deeply involved in my community as a 4-H member. I am a University of Oregon Duck who later earned her CPA license from Central Washington University.

Public service and philanthropy have always been a significant part of my life. I have personally led efforts to raise several million dollars for charitable causes, including schools, a hospital, and the Union Rescue Mission, a program for homeless women and children. I also worked as an auditor and a full-cycle accountant at Moss Adams. My extensive financial background provides me with a unique insight into promoting fiscal responsibility and ensuring strong oversight of our tax dollars.

I am in my second term serving on the Deschutes County Commission. On the County Commission, I have built a reputation as a hard worker and problem-solver who delivers real results and puts people first, not politics. In less than two terms, I have successfully fought for safer communities, protected our natural resources, and advocated for our veterans.

My husband Bob and I live on our ranch in Sisters with our dogs, horses, and cats. When not occupied with official county duties, you can find me with my horses or supporting local businesses

2. What made you decide to run for Congress?

I am running for Congress because I understand firsthand the challenges that families and communities in the 5th Congressional District are facing. I want to address rising electricity costs and make healthcare both more accessible and more affordable for working-class families. I am also running to support the local ranchers, farmers, and small business owners who are the backbone of our communities. I am also running because our current Representative has consistently put her extreme politics and obstructionism ahead of problem-solving. Instead of working across the aisle to deliver solutions to Oregon's problems, our current Representative has sided with the extreme left. She voted for the largest tax hike in American history, to shut down the government, and against eliminating taxes on tips and overtime. In Congress, I will be different. I will focus on fighting for Oregon's 5th Congressional District, not political parties or special interests.

3. In Congress, what will you do for Central Oregon Ranchers and Farmers?

If I am elected, Central Oregon farmers and ranchers will have a partner who understands the land, the work, and the challenges they face. I grew up on a ranch and have spent much of my life serving rural Oregon - protecting natural resources, fighting for affordability, supporting small businesses, and being a strong fiscal steward for our families.

I will fight for local control, not one-size-fits-all mandates from Washington or Salem. I'll push back on burdensome federal regulations that drive up costs and make it harder to operate, and I'll work to cut red tape so our producers can focus on running their farms or ranches, not filling out endless forms. I will also champion fair markets, sensible tax policy, and rural infrastructure — including roads and broadband — so our local farms and ranches can compete and thrive.

My record shows I bring people together to solve real problems, and that's exactly how I'll show up for Central Oregon's farmers and ranchers in Congress.

4. What are your proudest accomplishments as a County Commissioner?

I am most proud of Deschutes County's veterans village program. The program provides shelter and services for homeless veterans. It has been successful in helping veterans transition out of homelessness. I am also proud of saving Worrell Wayside Park in Bend from becoming the county headquarters parking lot. The park is over an acre and is a unique lava outcropping. Additionally, I am proud to have led the effort to secure two new circuit court judgeships for Deschutes County.

5. Why are you a better choice than your opponent, Congresswoman Janelle Bynum?

I am the better choice because I am a problem-solver with a proven record of working across the aisle to deliver results. Over my two terms on the Deschutes County Commission, I have consistently united Democrats, Unaffiliateds, and Republicans. I will always put our district and people first, not any political party or special interests.

On the other hand, Janelle Bynum has consistently proven that she is an extremist who puts politics first. In Salem, her votes left our families worse off and less safe. In Congress, she voted against eliminating taxes on tips and voted to shut down the government twice. Because of her, our troops risked going without pay, veterans did not have full access to their benefits, and Oregonians did not have full access to SNAP.

In fact, after Bynum voted to shut down the government, I had to lead the Deschutes County Commission in allocating $70,000 to combat the food insecurity directly caused by Janelle Bynum's failure to govern.

The people of the 5th District deserve better than Janelle Bynum's extreme partisanship and obstructionism.

6. What is your pitch to the voters of the 5th district?

I love Oregon. I am a fourth-generation Oregonian who is running for Congress to stand up for Central Oregon values. I'll fight for water certainty, protect private property, cut red tape, and rein in federal overreach that hurts our rural communities. I believe in balanced budgets, safe communities, and keeping family farms and small businesses strong for the next generation. I will fight for you - not Washington insiders or special interests. Together, we can get Oregon moving in the right direction so that families can once again enjoy living here and working people can get real value for their hard-earned money. I have a proven track record as a problem solver, and I'm ready to take that mindset to Washington, D.C. I will deliver real solutions for the people of the 5th District.
