Matthew 11:28

Come to me, all you who labor and are burdened,
and I will give you rest, says the Lord.

November 1, 2026

Saints possess a couple of special qualities that the rest of us could do to emulate. The first is an ability to see through God's eyes. Saints do not see the world and everyone in it as the world does; they see them as the Creator of the world does. They look at people who are poor in spirit, or poor in material wealth, and glimpse the kingdom of heaven. They look at those who are meek, whom the world sees as weak or lazy, and see those who receive the promise of a new heaven and a new earth. They look at those denied justice and see them receiving God's ultimate justice. The second quality saints have is the tenacity to build the kingdom here and now in whatever way they can. They work tirelessly to bring the beatitudes to fruition. They dedicate their lives to ministering to the poor, to comforting the mourning, to working for righteousness, to showing mercy, and to making peace—despite any fear of rejection or persecution. Every All Saints Day we hear the Beatitudes, reminding us what is truly blessed. May they guide us on the road to the kingdom.

When do you fail to see blessings as God sees them? Which beatitude can you work to bring to fruition this month?

Solemnity of All Saints

Rev 7:2-4, 9-14 | 1 Jn 3:1-3 | Mt 5:1-12a

Written by
THE FAITHFUL DISCIPLE

GROW AS A DISCIPLE | PRAY, STUDY, ENGAGE, SERVE

Today's feast reminds us that we were not made for this world. We are destined to live with God in his heavenly kingdom. Our first reading from the Book of Revelation contains a vision John received which gives us a glimpse of what we'll see there: "a great multitude, which no one could count, from every nation, race, people, and tongue standing before the throne and before the Lamb," crying out his praise in a loud voice. For us on earth, the question is: How do we live so that one day, we will join that chorus of all the saints? The Gospel of Matthew gives us a road map to kingdom living. Those who will inherit the kingdom of heaven are those who are "poor in spirit," those "who hunger and thirst for righteousness, the merciful, the peacemakers," those "who are persecuted for the sake of righteousness," and those against whom "every kind of evil is uttered falsely because of [Christ]." With these words, we're reminded of the many faces of holiness. May we strive to pattern our lives according to the Beatitudes and so take our place among the ranks of all the saints in heaven.

GO EVANGELIZE

PRAYER, INVITATION, WITNESS, ACCOMPANIMENT

Today's responsorial psalm invites us to pray, "Lord, this is the people that longs to see your face." There are so many longings in our hearts – longings for belonging, longing for love, longing for justice. But the ultimate longing of our heart is for the Lord, even if we don't yet realize it. Part of our work in evangelization is to help awaken people's awareness of the ultimate desire of their hearts. As St. Augustine famously wrote, "You have made us for yourself, O Lord, and our hearts are restless until they rest in you." Spend some time in prayer this week asking the Lord to increase your own longing for him, as well as that of anyone you want to come to know the Lord better.

PRAY

Being a saint, perhaps, has something to do with longing for the Lord as our greatest and highest good, preferring nothing to him. As St. Thomas was praying before a crucifix toward the end of his life, the Lord said: "You have written well of me, Thomas. What reward will you receive from me for your labor?" St. Thomas Aquinas responded, "Domine, Non Nisi Te – Nothing but you, Lord." May we pray to desire nothing but to be counted among the children of God. For so we are.

Lectio Divina for the Solemnity of All Saints

We begin our prayer:
In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.

Almighty ever-living God,
by whose gift we venerate in one celebration
the merits of all the Saints,
bestow on us, we pray,
through the prayers of so many intercessors,
an abundance of the reconciliation with you
for which we earnestly long.
Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit,
God, for ever and ever.

(Collect, Solemnity of All Saints)

Reading (Lectio)

Read the following Scripture two or three times.
Matthew 5:1-12a

When Jesus saw the crowds, he went up the mountain, and after he had sat down, his disciples came to him. He began to teach them, saying:

"Blessed are the poor in spirit,
for theirs is the Kingdom of heaven.
Blessed are they who mourn,
for they will be comforted.
Blessed are the meek,
for they will inherit the land.
Blessed are they who hunger and thirst for righteousness,
for they will be satisfied.
Blessed are the merciful,
for they will be shown mercy.
Blessed are the clean of heart,
for they will see God.
Blessed are the peacemakers,
for they will be called children of God.
Blessed are they who are persecuted for the sake of righteousness,
for theirs is the Kingdom of heaven.
Blessed are you when they insult you and persecute you and utter every kind of evil against you falsely because of me.
Rejoice and be glad,
for your reward will be great in heaven."

Meditation (Meditatio)

After the reading, take some time to reflect in silence on one or more of the following questions:

- What word or words in this passage caught your attention?
- What in this passage comforted you?
- What in this passage challenged you?

If practicing lectio divina as a family or in a group, after the reflection time, invite the participants to share their responses.

Prayer (Oratio)

Read the Scripture passage one more time. Bring to the Lord the praise, petition, or thanksgiving that the Word inspires in you.

United States Conference of Catholic Bishops
CATHOLIC.BIBLE

Contemplation (Contemplatio)

Read the Scripture again, followed by this reflection:

What conversion of mind, heart, and life is the Lord asking of me?

Blessed are they who mourn,/ for they will be comforted. What grief do I carry? How can I offer comfort to others who have experienced some sort of loss?

Blessed are the merciful,/ for they will be shown mercy. When have I received the gift of mercy? With whom should I share that gift?

Rejoice and be glad,/ for your reward will be great in heaven. What has brought me joy this week? How does my hope of heaven affect how I view my life in this world?

After a period of silent reflection and/or discussion, all recite the Lord's Prayer and the following:

Closing Prayer

The LORD's are the earth and its fullness;
the world and those who dwell in it.
For he founded it upon the seas
and established it upon the rivers.

Who can ascend the mountain of the LORD?
or who may stand in his holy place?
One whose hands are sinless, whose heart is clean,
who desires not what is vain.

He shall receive a blessing from the LORD,
a reward from God his savior.
Such is the race that seeks him,
that seeks the face of the God of Jacob.

(From Psalm 24)

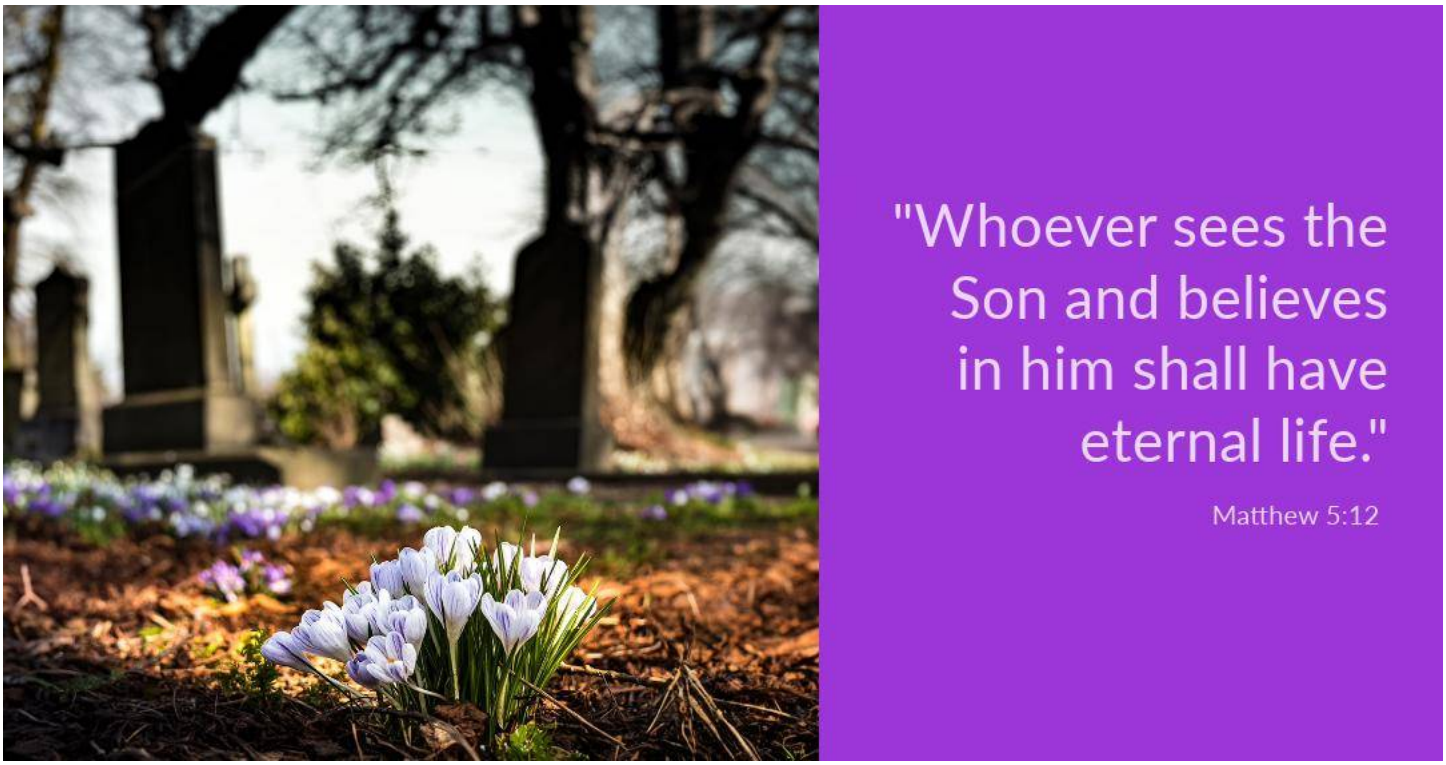

Living the Word This Week

How can I make my life a gift for others in charity?

If possible, visit a Catholic cemetery and pray for those who have died, especially those who have no one to pray for them.

All Souls' Day - Mass Schedule

St. Patrick Church

Monday - November 2nd – 7:30am

Shortening days, falling leaves, and less sunlight may feel not only like winter approaching, but also like signs of death. Today and throughout the month of November we remember those who have died. They have been taken from our sight, but our faith assures us that their lives have not ended. Their lives on earth are brief compared to eternal life in the kingdom of heaven. As we remember our loved ones who are no longer with us, let us take comfort that they can now be with God.

Humility

One of the best stories of humility I know is that of a man who arrived in 1953 at the Chicago railroad station to receive the Nobel Peace Prize.

He stepped off the train, a tall man with bushy hair and a big mustache. As the cameras flashed and city officials approached with hands outstretched to meet him, he thanked them politely. Then he asked to be excused for a minute.

He walked through the crowd to the side of an elderly black woman struggling with two large suitcases. He picked them up, smiled, and escorted her to the bus, helped her get on, and wished her a safe journey. Then Albert Schweitzer turned to the crowd and apologized for keeping them waiting. It is reported that one member of the reception committee told a reporter, "That's the first time I ever saw a sermon walking."

We've been given a great task - to live in harmony, to weep with the mournful, to laugh with the joyful, to not be conceited. Especially, we are called to be righteous, but not self-righteous.

We are to be humble.

Saints

A little boy attended Church with his grandfather one Sunday. Grandpa's church had beautiful stained-glass windows. Grandpa told his grandson that the windows contained pictures of Saint Matthew, Saint Mark, Saint Luke, Saint John, Saint Paul, and whole lot of other saints.

When he got home, the boy told Mom and Dad all about it. Dad, wanting to be funny and curious about what his son had learned, asked, "What is a saint?" The boy thought for a minute and then replied, "A saint is somebody the light shines through."

I've always thought that was a pretty good definition of a Saint.

Who are your saints? Who are the people in your life who let the light of God shine through them for you to see?

How about you?

How much of the light of God shines through you?

International meeting for peace in Assisi: More than words, concrete action

On the sidelines of the International Meeting for Peace in Assisi, the regional director of the Strategic Initiative for Women in the Horn of Africa, Hala Alkarib, speaks about the importance of turning words into concrete actions for peace.

“Achieving an unarmed and disarming peace stems from placing the human person at the center. “It’s about humanity. It’s about us being in existence and living in peace and sharing the resources we have, protecting our environment and protecting our ecosystems,” Ms. Alkarib noted.

These messages are important in the process of building peace, she shared. Without them, “the whole issue is becoming very transactional with human life. It’s about time for faith-institutions, which represent a very powerful force to show their positions and to speak up and to come together for the good of humanity.”

Be happy and you will have a great reward in heaven

All Saints Day

Draw a line from the first half of each beatitude to its correct ending.

Blessed are those who grieve...	...they will be treated with mercy.
Blessed are the merciful...	...they will be called God's children.
Blessed are those who make peace...	...they will see God.
Blessed are those with pure hearts...	...they will find comfort.

How can you be like a saint? Finish these sentences

I am like a saint when I...

I am like a saint when I...

We will be honoring the memories of loved ones who have gone before us. Please join us in celebrating the impact and influence they have had in our lives as we pray a rosary commemorating them.

The name of your loved one will be mentioned during the rosary. Each bead of each decade will be represented by their name and an optional candle. We ask that after the rosary, those who opted for a candle take it home and continue to keep it lit in their honor.

Forms and payment can be dropped in the collection basket or turned in at the rectory office. Payment and form is due before the end of the day on November 1, 2026 to assure they are included in the rosary. Thank you!

This past week, Fr. Amal has been in Zambia, Africa visiting the St. Francis de Sales Primary School, which can be seen in the background of the two photos on the right. Last year the parishes of St. Patrick, St. Andrew the Apostle, and Our Lady of the Mountains jointly raised funds to assist in the completion of the school.

"When we pray for the Dead, we develop in ourselves a sense of the unreality of the present world – for a part of it which was dear to us is gone – and of the reality of the other world, whose actual existence is confirmed by our love for the Dead."

- Fr. Alexandr Elchaninov

CATHOLIC QUIZ

1 November 2026

This week's Question: "What is the 'San Damiano Cross'?"

The answer to last week's Question: "What is the 'odor of sanctity'?"

It is a pleasant odor that was emitted from the body of a saint, especially after death, and believed by many to be evidence of sanctity. It is believed to be referred to by St. Paul in 2 Corinthians 2:15-16: "For we are a fragrance of Christ, which spreads among those who are being saved. . .a fragrant aroma, an acceptable sacrifice, well-pleasing to God." St. Francis's stigmata (wounds) reportedly emitted a sweet perfume on occasion. Likewise, a powerful, very pleasant fragrance has been noticed coming from the grave of St. Teresa of Avila and other saints! It has also been noted in the case of contemporary saints by those around them!

Fundraising: Each FOCUS Missions Participant has the opportunity to fundraise the entire cost of his or her mission trip. Ernesto's goal is $3,800

Hello, my name is Ernesto Olmos Suarez. I am a first-year student here at Northern Arizona University, and my Catholic Newman Center is embarking on a mission to Iguazu (ee-gwah-SOO), Argentina, where we will meet a local priest and he will take us on the adventures of immersing in the culture, getting to teach people from there and to lead Bible studies. The whole mission of this trip is to evangelize and help the people of Iguazu grow closer to their faith or help them in encountering Christ.

Ever since I reconnected to my faith one year ago, I have wanted to serve the Lord in any way possible. I want to go on this trip to help share and spread the life, love, and Gospel of the Lord our God. This is something I've always wanted to do, even back home in Bisbee, when I started my first Bible study and had no clue where to start. Now, I'm going into this with newly gained knowledge, care, love, and joy to help the people of Iguazu, Argentina.

I miss everyone down there, and I'll be praying for you all always!

Diocese of Tucson Vocations Prayer

Loving and generous God, we need more vocations to the priesthood.
Send us faith-filled servants to minister as dedicated and loving priests in the Diocese of Tucson. Inspire us with your Holy Spirit so that we will encourage and foster a culture of vocations in which many will hear your call to serve your people. Bless our Diocese with men and women who will work together with your priests as deacons, religious, and lay ministers to bring to life the Gospel and to realize the Church's mission in our Diocese.
We ask this through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Remember...

St. Patrick Church & St. Michael Mission

in your Will

Today, the Parish faces a shifting landscape. Changing demographics and cultural attitudes challenge full engagement, while economic pressures make sustaining ministry more difficult.

By leaving a gift in your Will, you help ensure that the Church's mission and pastoral outreach that have been important to you and so many others will continue for today's needs and those in the future.

Please, consider leaving a planned gift that demonstrates your faith and inspires future generations to carry on Christ's work. With your help, we can build a stronger, more vibrant Faith Community for many years to come.

God bless you for your prayerful consideration.

"As each one has received a gift, use it to serve one another as good stewards of God's varied grace."
