MORVEN

MUSEUM & GARDEN

National Historic Landmark Morven Museum & Garden
—home of Founding Father Richard Stockton—commemorates America’s 250th with events throughout 2026

Including the new exhibition
*Five Independent Souls: The Signers from New Jersey

PRINCETON, NJ (February 5, 2026) — As the nation prepares to mark the 250th anniversary of American independence, Morven Museum & Garden in Princeton, NJ—the only home of a New Jersey signer of the Declaration of Independence open to the public—is commemorating the semiquincentennial throughout 2026!

Visitors can immerse themselves in history, culture, and civics through new exhibitions, public programs, and special events that illuminate the story of America’s founding.

Two new exhibitions will be on view:

- Five Independent Souls: The Signers from New Jersey (opening May 3, 2026) assembles personal items, manuscripts, furniture, and artwork to examine the lives of Abraham Clark, John Hart, Francis Hopkinson, Richard Stockton, and John Witherspoon. As all five were enslavers, the exhibition will also examine how the rhetoric of revolutionary America—freedom, equality, and liberty—was intertwined with the practice of slavery. Visitors will be able to see actual signatures of those who signed the Declaration of Independence!

“Less than two weeks before the 13 colonies’ voted on independence, New Jersey’s delegates, who wanted to delay a vote, were replaced with five courageous men who were ready to vote yes—John Adams called them ‘independent souls.’ Five Independent Souls reveals who they were as people: their ideals, their familial background, and influence. We’ve spent years securing loans from institutions and private collections across the nation, and are excited for visitors to experience this landmark exhibition.”

—Elizabeth Allan, Deputy Director and Curator

- Voices in Print: New Jersey Black Women Printmakers Shaping the American Narrative (opening September 4, 2026), a collaboration with Princeton University Art Museum and the Arts Council of Princeton titled Re-Visioning America: 1776–2026, features powerful prints by Black women artists with a connection to New Jersey. Curated by Judith K. Brodsky and Rhinold L. Ponder, this will be the first exhibition held in the Stockton Education Center.

From its beginning in the 1750s, Morven has played a significant role in New Jersey and American history. Two special exhibitions will be on view:

- Northern Family, Southern Ties (through 2028) is the first exhibit examining the overlooked connections between families straddling the Mason-Dixon Line and the interstate movement of enslaved people, unveiling a story spanning the late eighteenth century through the Civil War.
- Morven Revealed: Untold Stories from New Jersey’s Most Historic Home (through March 1, 2026) explores not the battles, speeches, or legislation that Morven witnessed, but rather the quotidian experiences of dressing, child rearing, housekeeping, and hosting that made it a home.

Visitors can also explore the permanent exhibition Historic Morven: A Window into America’s Past, and understand the Stockton family’s role in the American Revolution, including Richard Stockton’s capture by British Loyalists—the only signer to become a prisoner of war. Morven is one of numerous historical sites, from the Princeton Battlefield to Nassau Hall (temporary capitol of the U.S. in 1783), that make Princeton a must-visit destination in 2026.

“As we approach this extraordinary anniversary, Morven is proud to stand where American independence began—and to share these stories with new generations. Our program partners are helping us bring history to life in inspiring and meaningful ways. We’ve been preparing to make 2026 unforgettable, and we can’t wait to welcome visitors of all ages from around the world to Morven.”

—Rhonda DiMascio, Executive Director

Special semiquincentennial events at Morven include:

- Men W/O Shoes: A Student-Led Tribute to Forgotten Heroes (February 19-21, 2026). At least fourteen Black men fought alongside General George Washington to secure a crucial victory in the Battle of Princeton. Students from Foundation Academies in Trenton have been engaged in research to uncover the identities of these men. The project, which grew from a collaboration with the Princeton Battlefield Society, culminates at Morven with a striking art installation of student-created works that reflect the resilience, sacrifice, and legacy of Black soldiers in war.

- LivingHistory USA Weekend (April 11–12, 2026). Morven’s first floor will be transformed with an immersive tour with historical figures from the home’s past aiding visitors in solving a centuries-old mystery.
- Fourth of July 2026 (July 4, 2026), a free festival featuring music, speakers, artmaking, community partners, food, and more—all exploring what it means to be an American and community member for different generations of people, past and present.
- Princeton 1776 Fest (Oct 3, 2026). This community celebration 250 years in the making will include live music, living history interpreters and craftspeople, special exhibitions, and food and drink. Presented in partnership with the Historical Society of Princeton, Princeton Battlefield Society, and Daughters of the American Revolution.

About Morven Museum & Garden:

Most historic sites celebrate a single notable resident—Morven is different. Built in the 1750s for Richard Stockton (a signer of the Declaration of Independence) and his wife, Annis Boudinot Stockton, an early published poet, Morven was home to five generations of the Stockton family as well as generations of enslaved men and women and later, immigrant servants. The twentieth century saw the innovative industrialist and humanitarian Robert Wood Johnson, Jr. and five New Jersey governors.. Over 250+ years, its walls have witnessed the lives of governors, political leaders, celebrities, and everyday families alike.

Today, Morven Museum & Garden welcomes visitors to explore this layered history through exhibitions, programs, and historic gardens. The museum, located at 55 Stockton Street in Princeton, NJ, is open Wednesday through Sunday from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The gardens are open daily until dusk. Learn more at morven.org.
