

SPONSORSHIPS AVAILABLE

We are delighted to offer you the opportunity to sponsor the International Association of Applied Neuroscience Conference from Thursday 11 September to Saturday 13 September 2025. This international conference with attendees and world class presenters from around the world will cover topics regarding some of the most recent findings in the field of neuroscience – many focusing on applied neuroscience, our area of expertise. These topics may relate to fields including Allied Health Professionals, Medical Professionals and people in working high-risk environments such as Mining, Construction, Armed Forces and Police and those working in Childhood Complex Trauma to name a few.

Interest in the conference has been high, and we would recommend coming onboard without delay and be part of this exciting event. We have different sponsorship opportunities available, and should you be interested in becoming a major sponsor we would suggest registering immediately as spots are going fast.

Attached a preliminary brochure with information on the Keynote Presenters and the program for each day. If you need more information or would like to sign up, please contact or email the IAAN Secretary at office@iaan.com.au
