

We are delighted to offer you the opportunity to sponsor the International Association of Applied Neuroscience Conference from Thursday 10 September to Saturday 12 September 2026.

The international conference with attendees and first class presenters from around the world, will cover topics regarding some of the most recent findings in the application of neuroscience. Related fields such as business, education, early childhood, people working in high-risk environments, allied health, medical, the arts, complex trauma related fields, to name a few.

Interest in the conference has been high, and we would recommend coming onboard without delay and be part of this exciting event. We have different sponsorship opportunities available, and should you be interested in becoming a major sponsor we would suggest registering immediately as spots are going fast.

If you need more information or would like to sign up, please contact or email the IAAN Secretary at office@iaan.com.au
