Why Latin Still Matters at Mass

You may notice that some prayers at Mass are sung or spoken in Latin—Sanctus (“Holy, Holy, Holy”), Agnus Dei (“Lamb of God”), or Kyrie eleison (“Lord, have mercy”). These aren’t just old words; they’re part of our unique Catholic identity.

Vatican II guidance: The Constitution on the Sacred Liturgy (Sacrosanctum Concilium), reminds us that “the use of the Latin language is to be preserved in the Latin rites” (SC 36). It also encourages the faithful to know and sing parts of the Mass in Latin (SC 54).

Our heritage: As members of the Latin Rite Church, Latin is our “mother tongue” of worship. It links us with Catholics across the world and across centuries.

Why it’s beautiful: Latin gives a sense of universality, connects us to tradition, and adds reverence and mystery to our prayer.

So when we sing Agnus Dei or the Sanctus in Latin, we’re not stepping back in time—we’re stepping into the living stream of our faith, united with the universal Church, across all time. What a gift!

As we leave the Christmas season and head into the new year, it is common for us to make new plans and put in place our New Year's resolutions. As you do that, I would suggest that you take a look at Psalm 145. I was blessed on Christmas Eve with the reading of it at a service I attended and I would like to pass that blessing on to you. In it, King David tells you pretty much all you need to know about God and his relationship with His people.

My favorite line is, "The Lord is faithful to all His promises and loving to all He has made." God wants your life to be the best that it can be. He's watching over you. Are you looking up to him? All relationships work best when they go two ways. You might want to read David's words before you make your resolutions.

Why do priests burn incense at Mass?

Love the scent or hate it, incense is a valuable part of Catholic worship.

So why do Catholics use it so often? We derive our use of incense from Scripture. Psalm 141:2 reads, "Let my prayer be incense before you; my uplifted hands an evening offering." Also, in Revelation, John describes incense as a symbol of the prayers of the saints in heaven. Incense has long been a part of Judeo-Christian worship. In the Old Testament, incense was used for worship, and Catholics used incense even in the early Church.

We use incense in the Mass to symbolize our prayers rising to heaven, and how the grace of the Mass purifies and sanctifies us. Also, when the burning incense rises into the air, representing our prayers going to heaven, we are reminded of the spiritual connection as earth and heaven meet in the sacrifice of the Mass.

Incense is used at certain points in the Mass, including during the entrance procession, at the proclamation of the Gospel, at the offertory, and at the consecration. Priests also burn incense at funerals around the coffin to represent our prayers to heaven for the deceased person, and also to commemorate that this person's

Mass Minutes
By Deacon Ed Winter

We have looked at the Sending at the end of Mass, but that action may also be considered in the realm of the mysteries of the Mass. We may, as good Christians, recognize our obligation to honor the Sabbath, to "keep it holy" by attending Mass every Sunday and yet, to see it as separate from the rest of the week,; as something to get done, a chore to check off each weekend and not see it in the sequence of the week, a part of the week as a whole.

Appropriately, the calendar doesn't see Sunday as the end of the week but as the beginning. At the end of Mass every Sunday, we are sent out to live the week as messengers, (in fact as carriers), of Christ. It is he, Jesus, who sends us out to bear the good news of salvation to "all nations," not just Fr. Matthew or other celebrants but Jesus, the Christ, and we need to take that command seriously.

For many, Sunday dinner is a special event bringing family together for a big meal and conversation about the past week and the one beginning. That is great, but in what better way can we begin the week than by carrying Christ and the word of God to all we meet?

JANUARY INTENTIONS

Pope Leo XIV: For prayer with the Word of God: Let us pray that praying with Word of God be nourishment for our lives and a source of hope in our communities, helping us to build a more fraternal and missionary Church.

Bishop Ricken: For the Diocese of Green Bay, as we enter the Share Jesus years: May we, who have discovered, and now follow and worship him every Sunday, go out on mission to foster households and communities of discipleship who share Jesus with everyone we meet.
