FIRST READINGA Reading from The Book of the Prophet Ezekiel
Ezekiel 18:25-28

Thus says the LORD:

You say, "The LORD's way is not fair!"

Hear now, house of Israel:

Is it my way that is unfair, or rather, are not your ways unfair?

When someone virtuous turns away from virtue to commit iniquity, and dies, it is because of the iniquity he committed that he must die.

But if he turns from the wickedness he has committed,
and does what is right and just,
he shall preserve his life;
since he has turned away from all the sins that he has committed, he shall surely live, he shall not die.

Thanks be to God.

Responsorial Psalm Psalms 25:4-5, 6-7, 8-9

R. Remember your mercies, O Lord.

Your ways, O LORD, make known to me;
teach me your paths,
guide me in your truth and teach me,
for you are God my savior.

R. Remember your mercies, O Lord.

Remember that your compassion, O LORD,
and your love are from of old.
The sins of my youth and my frailties remember not;
in your kindness remember me,
because of your goodness, O LORD.

R. Remember your mercies, O Lord.

Good and upright is the LORD;
thus he shows sinners the way.
He guides the humble to justice,
and teaches the humble his way.

R. Remember your mercies, O Lord.

SECOND READINGA Reading from the letter of St. Paul to the PhilippiansPhilippians 2:1-5

Brothers and sisters:

If there is any encouragement in Christ, any solace in love, any participation in the Spirit, any compassion and mercy, complete my joy by being of the same mind, with the same love, united in heart, thinking one thing. Do nothing out of selfishness or out of vainglory; rather, humbly regard others as more important than yourselves, each looking out not for his own interests, but also for those of others.

Have in you the same attitude that is also in Christ Jesus.

Thanks be to God.

GOSPELA Reading from the Gospel according to Matthew Matthew 21:28-32

Jesus said to the chief priests and elders of the people:
"What is your opinion? A man had two sons.

He came to the first and said, 'Son, go out and work in the vineyard today.' He said in reply, 'I will not,' but afterwards changed his mind and went. The man came to the other son and gave the same order.

He said in reply, 'Yes, sir, 'but did not go.
Which of the two did his father's will?"

They answered, "The first."

Jesus said to them, "Amen, I say to you, tax collectors and prostitutes are entering the kingdom of God before you. When John came to you in the way of righteousness, you did not believe him; but tax collectors and prostitutes did. Yet even when you saw that, you did not later change your minds and believe him."

The Gospel of the Lord.

By Father Edward A. Murphy

Gospel of Matthew

Our first reactions are not always our best ones. They do not always express what, deep down, we really intend. We all struggle with various forms of self-centeredness and selfishness, and sometimes our initial 'no' comes out of that. We might initially say 'no' to avoid what we think will be difficult or demanding. Yet, very often, when we think back over our 'no', we come to realize that it has not done us justice. We recognize that saying 'yes' would be the more generous thing to do, more in keeping with what we desire at the depths of our being. Having reflected a little, we can find ourselves contacting the person to whom we initially said 'no' and saying something like, 'Look I have thought this over, and I would like to do it'.

It is this readiness to change our mind, this willingness to change our 'no' into a 'yes' that Jesus is trying to encourage by means of the parable of the two sons. It is addressed to those who have said 'no' to John and Baptist and to Jesus and who show no sign of changing their 'no' into a 'yes'. The religious leaders had not only rejected the appeal of John and Jesus, but having seen how others - like tax collectors and prostitutes - had responded generously to John and Jesus, they refused to 'think better of their no.' They persisted in saying 'no' to God's invitation, even though something was happening which should have given them reasons to reconsider their initial negative response. The parable indicates that the Lord is not put off by an initial 'no'. What does trouble him is a persistent and enduring 'no', an ongoing refusal to reconsider our initial negative response. Indeed, the parable suggests that the Lord can put up with a lot of 'no's on the way to a final 'yes'. In other words, the Lord is patient; he can wait. He is prepared to keep on knocking, as long as there is some prospect that sooner or later we will respond. He is slow to take 'no' for an answer.

Points to Ponder

In today's Gospel we find the two sons, each doing the opposite to what they declare; while Jesus tells us that tax collectors and prostitutes paid attention to John the Baptist and they changed too. There is plenty of common ground between those bible figures and our own fickle behavior.

One day we can be full of fervour and keen to profess our Christian faith, come what may. The next we can't pray. We ask where is the God of yesterday? Is all our time wasted? Those who reject belief, faith, Church, religion and moral responsibility continue life as contented, apparently, as everyone else. Many of them were our classmates with whom we received our First Holy Communion and Confirmation. They don't darken the door of the Church anymore, They changed their minds!

Of all the gifts given to us by God, the freedom of choice is perhaps the greatest. We're not predetermined beings; our choices are sacred and are literally our making, our doing and undoing. When we respond positively to God's grace as also reflected in the best and noblest inspirations and aspirations of our environment, we're shaping ourselves more firmly in the image and likeness of God our Creator.

Part of the challenge of our day is to ignore the choices made by others and content ourselves with our own good choices which uplift, and determine a better tomorrow for ourselves and society.

Let us pray for those who have changed their minds or way of life and turned away from God. May they experience afresh the fervour of their early faith and experience anew God's gifts of peace and joy.

Saint Vincent de Paul

Feast Day: September 27th

Saint Vincent devoted his whole life to the service of the poor, like a Mother Teresa of the 17th century. He founded a congregation of priests for missionary work, groups of laymen to help paupers and galley-slaves. and, with St Louise de Marillac, the Sisters of Charity. He inspired the later foundation of the lay-run St Vincent de Paul Society. A man of deep faith, keen intellect, and enormous creativity, he has become known as the “The Apostle of Charity.”
