THOUGHTS FROM OUR PASTOR

Prepare to welcome the Prince of Peace

Our Lord in our Gospel today speaks to His disciples and us: "So stay awake, because you do not know the day when your master is coming. Therefore, you too must stand ready because the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect." This Advent season of preparation for the Birth of Christ should cause us to pause, to have perspective on our relationship with the Lord, and make space in our hearts and lives to bring His light where there may be shadows of sin and selfishness. God's love wants to break through the darkness so that we may be redeemed and be made new in His promises; this is our great hope. He alone can bring peace. May we take in, the grace of this season, quieting ourselves so that we may watch and listen for the Lord who is already present in our midst. Make Him the center of your lives.

Our Advent Parish Mission starts on Friday at 7:00pm!

As I wrote to you recently, our Advent Parish Mission, featuring a mission speaker from "Hallow" will be with this coming Friday at 7:00pm, Saturday, at 7:00pm and Sunday at 5:00pm. Bring your smart phone with you and prepare to immerse yourself into time-honored prayer forms in the Catholic Tradition. Each day will offer Adoration and confessions for one hour prior to the presentation. Start this Advent in prayer to the Prince of Peace. — Fr. Tom

Lumen Christi School

Living Faith, Celebrating Family, and Achieving Excellence

⇒ Principal's Update:

What a busy week it has been! We started off the week with a stomach bug illness (most likely norovirus) working its way through about 10-15% of our student body. Our absent numbers spiked on Tuesday, but each day since has brought students back to school. We have been working closely with the Municipal public health department to determine the cause (if we can) and, more importantly, review our health and hygiene protocols. It appears that norovirus numbers are spiking all over the city, so this isn't limited to just our school community. This was coupled with another illness—a persistent head and chest congestion—in other students. Thank you to everyone who kept/is keeping their students at home if they feel ill. Please continue to pray for good health in our community.

The Virtue of the Week is APPRECIATION. The Vice is ENTITLEMENT. I used this week as an opportunity to take a speaking tour around Houses during 7th period to encourage all students to Be Appreciative, not Entitled. I think this is a particularly important message as we go into the THANKSGIVING holiday. In my 6–8-minute talk, I emphasized two main points: 1) appreciation and respect for our teachers and 2) appreciation and respect for our school—our common home. I wasn't accusing anyone, or any group in particular but rather reiterate our high expectations of behavior here at Lumen Christi. We've had an uptick in student disrespect—arguing, talking back, and speaking condescendingly—towards teachers. In addition, some students are not abiding by classroom rules and expectations of behavior—most notably in the abuse of computer privileges (playing games during class, for example) or leaving trash/garbage all over the classroom. I asked all students to show appreciation for our hardworking and dedicated teachers going forward and avoid having a sense of entitlement. We've also had an uptick in a general lack of respect for our common home and school property. Students often rock back in chairs, put feet up on tables and desks, draw/write on school property, and leave trash all over locker rooms, rest rooms, classrooms, the hallway, etc. I reiterated that not all students are doing these things but asked everyone—staff and students—to rise to the challenge to pick up after ourselves and respect our school property to show our appreciation as good stewards of our “home away from home.” To do otherwise shows a sense of entitlement (e.g. a mentality that “someone else will just clean or pick it up”). I related to our students that my dream is that one day, our school janitor, Romy, and his wife Nora, would tell me “we didn't need to clean the school this evening because your students cleaned it themselves during the day! We headed home early!” I realize that this may not happen, but it is certainly a worthy goal ALL OF US can work towards! Lumen is a very special place and all of us make it so. Thanks for your help while on break in reinforcing this important message.

We wish our girls' volleyball team good luck in the Borealis Conference Tournament held at Lumen Christi this weekend. I encourage you to come out, support, and cheer our ladies on to victory! May you have a blessed and safe extended Thanksgiving break. See you, Dec 1st!

Blessings... Brian

First Sunday of Advent 2025

This Sunday is the first Sunday of Advent—a time of waiting. Often, we say joyful waiting. This year, however, our waiting is again unique, many of us are waiting with anxiety. Will I keep my job? Will I have enough savings to pay my bills, mortgage, have Christmas for my family? We wait, not knowing what is in store for us. Along with anxiety, we feel alone, angry, abandoned, abused. The gospel urges us to feel aware, alive, attentive, awake. Advent asks us to be aware of our consciousness. How?

The Advent mantra, "Come, Lord Jesus" means we all have to live out a kind of emptiness. We know perfect fullness is to come created by God and we try to stay open to His Grace and His plan for us. We are trying to hold out for the complete picture God has for us. Even in our uncertainty, "Come, Lord Jesus" mantra helps us keep strong the virtue of hope. The theological virtue of hope is the patient and trustful willingness to live without seeing the end, without understanding the full picture, and still move forward knowing our Lord is more than we are and He has a plan for each of us. Hope is not without its struggles and conflicts. Sickness, loss of our "normal" life, restrictions not even imagined at the beginning of this year are serious oppositions. We cannot face these alone. Jesus is here for us; He will give us the love and strength beyond ourselves to carry us forward. When we feel anguish and unable to know WHAT to pray, may we remember the mantra, "Come, Lord Jesus" and call it out as a shout of hope.

Questions:

1. What is your most pressing worry this Advent?
2. What demand/expectation can you let go of to allow Jesus to work in your life?
3. Waiting alone is distressing. With whom can you share your worries? Share them.

Challenge:

Now that you have identified your most pressing worry, pray specifically about it, knowing Jesus hears and will answer you. If no words come, remember to say the "Come, Lord Jesus" mantra. "I know the plans I have for you says the Lord, to give you a future and a hope."
~Jeremiah 29:11

Quote:

"I plead will you! Never, ever give up on hope, never doubt, never tire, and never become discouraged. Be not afraid."
~St. John Paul II
