TODAY'S LITURGY OF THE WORD: (Please note that this is for the 28th Sunday in Ordinary Time readings, not the St. John XXIII feast day readings.) In the first reading the prophet Isaiah describes a vineyard that produces bad grapes; he explains that the vineyard is the house of Israel. In the second reading, Paul encourages the Philippians to find the peace of God by contemplating the good. In the Gospel, Jesus tells a parable in which the tenants ignore the landowner's agents when they try to collect the produce and even kill the landowner's son. Paul says to have no anxiety but rather to think about what is true, honorable, and just; what is pure, lovely, and gracious; and anything excellent and worthy of praise. When we contemplate the good around us instead of dwelling on the negative, we are reminded that life is a gift, and that we play a role in God's plan to redeem the world.

TODAY'S RESPONSORIAL PSALM: The Lord is my shepherd; there is nothing I shall want.

READINGS FOR NEXT SUNDAY, OCT 18: Is45:1, 4-6; Ps 96:1, 3, 4-5, 7-8, 9-10; 1 Thes 1:1-5b; Mt 22:15-21

This year is particularly special: it's the 100th Anniversary of Pope Pius XI's creation of the World Mission Sunday. Since 1926, the Church has invited us to focus on the missionary vocation that flows from baptism. This year's theme, One in Christ, United in Mission, invites us to rediscover the unity we share in Christ through the sacraments and how that Christian identity is meant to overflow into personal involvement to bring all peoples into communion with Jesus.
