Cadillac In The News

Americans Are Now Paying More for Cadillacs Than BMWs and Mercedes

Dec 15, 2025 By Karl Furlong Senior Editor, Autoblog

- Cadillac's average transaction price soared to $87,739 in November, surpassing most luxury competitors.
- Strong Escalade and EV sales, with high conquest rates, drive this price increase.
- Cadillac's EV strategy and flagship models revive its stature in the American luxury market.

The top three finishers in the Las Vegas Grand Prix took a special ride to the podium in a bright pink LEGO replica of a 1950s Cadillac.

- This big build comprises of over 418,000 LEGO elements, along with a selection of other components to make it capable of driving
- Close to 4,000 combined hours were spent on the development and construction of the big build
- This big build were created by 17 master builders, engineers and designers from the LEGO Group
- The big build is capable of reaching up to 25km/h while bringing the top three drivers of the 2025 LAS VEGAS GRAND PRIX to the podium celebration
- The big-build weighs over 2 tons (about the same as the Cadillac) and seats five people, featuring fully functioning lights and vintage tires
