President's Message

Dear Cadillac Friends:

Wicked Donuts has been the place to be this summer—lots of Cadillacs and new donuts along with breakfast sandwiches. It's the last Tuesday of the month. I hope to see more of you. There were 17 of us in June! 14 in July.

Steiner's/Bufalo—just when you thought it couldn't get any better—hope to see you there for breakfast on the first Tuesday.

September meeting: You won't want to miss—at Maloof Auto Collection—Thanks Jerry R for organizing. Parking is limited so keep in mind.

Carl Starkey: I recently received a call from Carl Starkey's family that he had passed away. WE always loved seeing him at CTTY. Sympathy to the family.

Membership: Just a reminder, LVCC membership expires the end of the year. $25 per year for local. You also need to join the national. I suggest just do national at the same time.

Rigo's Cads: if looking for 40/50s Cadillac Parts? See Flyer or contact at 702-454-1147/ RigoCads@gmail.com.. He took over E. Cholakian business. He worked for him 20 years. (see flyer)..

Suggestions for events? Topics for the Board Meeting?

Email us at lvcadillacclub@gmail.com or call / text me.

Most importantly, drive your Cadillac.

Cadillac Update

All The International Markets Cadillac Is Heading Into

By Jonathan Lopez July 26, 2025 2:02 am

Source: gmauthority.com/blog/2025/07/here-are-all-the-international-markets-cadillac-is-heading-into/

Cadillac is undergoing a major transformation, the primary driver of which is its expanding lineup of all-electric vehicles. In addition to launching new EVs, the luxury marque is also bringing a renewed focus on global growth, deepening its footprint in certain regions, while re-entering key international markets and making its debuts in entirely new ones.

Currently, Cadillac maintains a presence in North America (including the U.S., Canada, and Mexico), as well as in South Korea, China, Japan, and ten regions across the Middle East. Now, however, the luxury marque is staging a return to the European market. The last Cadillac-branded model offered in Europe was the diesel-powered XT4, but now, the luxury marque is crossing the ponds with a variety of EVs, initially launching in France, Germany, Sweden, and Switzerland. Expansion to the U.K. market is also expected, although has yet to fully materialize. In a brand first, Cadillac is also launching in Australia and New Zealand, markets historically absent from its global portfolio. Additionally, Brazil is now on the list for future expansion, signaling an ambitions to tap back into the South American market.

How Many Standalone Locations Does GM's Luxury Brand Have?

By Jonathan Lopez July 27, 2025 5:34 am

Source: gmauthority.com/blog/2025/07/cadillac-dealers-how-many-standalone-locations-does-gms-luxury-brand-have/

This network of approximately 200 standalone Cadillac dealers handles roughly 60 percent of Cadillac's total domestic sales volume. However, in addition to the standalone dealers, Cadillac also has an additional 367 dealerships that share space with at least on other GM U.S. brand (Chevrolet, Buick, or GMC). While these multi-brand locations are more common, they account for only one-third of Cadillac's sales.

DETROIT (July 29, 2025) – With back-to-back podium finishes, including a double podium in the most recent IMSA WeatherTech SportsCar Championship race at Watkins Glen International, Cadillac Wayne Taylor Racing is riding a wave of momentum.

What's A GTP?

GrandTouringPrototype (GTP) The newest and most technologically advanced Prototype race car took to the track for the first time in 2023, featuring a common hybrid powertrain for all entries that takes kinetic energy gained in braking and stores it in batteries for later use when needed. Six global automotive manufacturers – Acura, Aston Martin, BMW, Cadillac, Lamborghini and Porsche – are entered in the class. Each manufacturer developed its own unique internal combustion engine and bodywork styling to take on this cutting-edge challenge.

Cadillac's Having Its Best Moment In Nearly 20 Years

GM might have finally figured out the formula to return Cadillac to greatness.

Source: .thedrive.com/news/cadillacs-having-its-best-moment-in-nearly-20-years

JOEL FEDER

It only took multiple decades, but Cadillac just might be back to setting the bar for others as sales skyrocket and enticing product hits showrooms. In Seattle, Washington at the launch of the 2026 Lyriq-V Cadillac's Global Marketing Director Brad Franz said the first half of the year has been the automaker's best in nearly 20 years.

While EV sales are helping bring fresh blood to Cadillac showrooms, the automaker's gas-powered lineup is having its own moment. The V-Series has finally taken hold and buyers are trending younger than the average Cadillac buyer, according to Franz. The performance sub-brand is also bringing money into the showroom with V-Series owners trending more affluent, and more likely to be male.

Cadillac has abandoned its plan to have a fully electric lineup within five years, but new EVs are still launching on time as originally planned. The shift is not whether the automaker is moving away from its EV plans, rather it just won't kill the gas-powered cars.

The Cadillac Eldorado is back! In this first look at the 2026 Cadillac Eldorado, we dive into its stunning design, cutting-edge technology, powerful performance, and luxurious features. Cadillac is bringing back an icon, and it's more refined than ever. From its bold exterior styling to its high-tech interior, this car is set to make waves in the luxury segment.

Expect a starting MSRP around $120,000, while the fully loaded flagship version with all the bells, whistles, and adrenaline will flirt with the $150,000 mark. This isn't mass market.
