FR. JOSEPH JUKNIALIS

Some people find love in their lives; others complain of loneliness. Some find peace, while others seem to be perpetually angry. Some live comfortably amid human diversity, yet others insist that the rest of the world be like them. There are those who are able to forgive and compromise and offer compassion and those who cannot. The difference seems to be the ability to forgo one's own desires for the sake of a greater good or the common good. Such may be the narrow gate through which some may not be strong enough to enter.

Phrases like the kingdom of God or the kingdom of heaven are not just references to places to which we go but also ways of being or states of existence. They all refer to God's presence, to life with God. You've heard people say they were so happy that they felt it was like heaven on earth. It wasn't a place they went but an experience of being filled with joy and peace. It's pure gift. No one ever finds it by focusing on oneself. It is the narrow gate by which we find our way into such a life. It is the doorway of caring for others. ●

A Note from our Pastor

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ Jesus,

Last week I was in Canada with my two brothers and their spouses. My sister and her husband had to cancel at the last moment due to some medical issues. We live so far apart (Washington, DC; Foley, AL; Belton, Tx, and Orange Grove, TX) that we don't have time to actually visit with each other. For the last few years, we have started having a "Sibling Trip" so we can keep in touch and visit each other face to face! Talking over the phone is okay, but seeing each other's face and feeling their presence in front of you is so much more wonderful. If you haven't visited you siblings (parents or grandparents) recently, I strongly encourage you to do so. It is not only good for yourself, but it can be very uplifting for them. We shared six days of visiting the sites and having some really great meals. I like going on these trips as I am a "foodie" and really like trying new foods! Since, my sister-in-law Margaret had never seen Niagara Falls, we made a special side trip to see the Falls. It was great to see the awe and wonder in her eyes. We siblings had been there before during a family vacation years ago, but it was so impressive to see them again now as an adult. We decided during the first sibling trip, that six days together was more than enough time together.

For the next week of my time away from the parish, I choose to go to Puerto Vallarta on the Mexican west coast. I have been there several times before, so it was more of an "old home week". Sometimes we go on a vacation and just "go, go, go!" But every so often I go on a vacation that is more of a "retreat" and a time to "relax and unwind". No work, no sites to visit, and no things to do. Days to sleep in until you naturally wake up, spend time in your PJ's until you get hungry enough to go have your first meal of the day. Sometimes, that might be a late lunch rather than a breakfast. That is my time in Puerto Vallarta. This time I went with a great friend of mine – Keith. One good thing about Puerto Vallarta is all of the very great restaurants. Any if you like seafood, it is one of the great places to visit.

There are two types of vacation, one is to go and see and to do new things, and the other is to step back from the world and to recharge. I found this quote years ago and I have it where every few months I see it and read it again. I share it as it speaks to me and these types of vacation. I hope that you enjoy it.

"A vacation or retreat is a "reset button". Always remember that you a duty before God that is unique and only yours. When we are overburdened by all of the noise of the world around us, how can I take time for silence to listen to God. How can we be present to God and one another when we are overburdened. We need to take time for silence and to be present to God during that silence. "Trust in the slow work of God". It is the time to let the Holy Spirit do his work in you and on you. God works on us in His time and in His way. To take a vacation is to reflect, "What is God's plan for me and for my purpose in the world".

Next weekend I should be back, rested and possibly tanned (or red like a lobster).

Love and Prayers,
Fr. Patrick

Donohoe Family Vacation ~ Margaret, Dennis, Fr. Patrick, Michael, and Marion

Dear Padre,

My wife mentioned that neither the Book of Mormon nor the Catholic Bible mentions purgatory. Please comment.

A not-uncommon frustration is when a person searches the Bible for a particular word or phrasing. Frankly, it is expecting too much from the religious text to be able to faithfully record a particular word or phrase that originated hundreds of years after the ancient text was composed. Purgatory is one such example of this frustration. The concept of purgatory is referenced in the biblical text, particularly in 2 Corinthians 5:10 and 7:1, Hebrews 9:27 and 12:14, and 2 Maccabees 12:46, but the word is never used.

This should come as no real surprise because it was not until the writings of St. Thomas Aquinas (1225–1274) that the concept was expanded and formed into a theological statement of belief that has become central to Roman Catholicism. And what is that belief? The Catechism of the Catholic Church is clear: “All who die in God’s grace and friendship, but still imperfectly purified, are indeed assured of their eternal salvation; but after death they undergo purification, so as to achieve the holiness necessary to enter the joy of heaven. The Church gives the name purgatory to this final purification of the elect, which is entirely different from the punishment of the damned” (CCC, 1030, 1031a). The Book of Mormon never references purgatory, but it does speak about the afterlife and the experience of “waiting” in the spirit world for the completion of earthly time. ●

A WORD FROM POPE FRANCIS

The narrow door is an image that could scare us, as if salvation is destined for only a select few, or for perfect people. But...a little further ahead, [Jesus] confirms, “Men will come from east and west, and from north and south, and sit at table in the kingdom of God.” Therefore, this door is narrow, but is open to everyone!
