TWENTY-FIFTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME; CATECHETICAL SUNDAY

Teach us

“Catechetical Sunday” is a day to celebrate the importance of all who teach and pass on the faith, not only religious education instructors but everyone who has taught us about our faith: parents, spouses, children, and other family, teachers, clergy, coworkers, books, movies—the list goes on. Think of all the people who have helped to form you in your faith, either by what they said or how they lived. Then think about the people you have an opportunity to teach. Without people to pass on the tradition for a new day, the faith would wither away. What a blessing and responsibility it is to follow in the footsteps of Christ the Teacher. Embrace it.

Isaiah 55:6-9; Philippians 1:20c-24, 27a; Matthew 20:1-16a (133). “Seek the LORD while he may be found, call him while he is near.”

FEAST OF MATTHEW, APOSTLE, EVANGELIST

A radical welcome

Jesus’ choice of dinner companions ranged from “nice” people like the law-abiding Pharisees and friends like Martha and Mary, to seamier types—not insignificant for an observant Jew. With a knack for becoming the host at any table where he sat, Jesus generously shared the Good News he bore in his heart with those hungry enough to listen. And while Matthew turned his life around breaking bread with Jesus, we do not see Jesus setting out to convert anyone. It was enough for Jesus just to be with those cringing under the law, beaten down, excluded. Such radical welcome is enough to change a heart.

Ephesians 4:1-7, 11-13; Matthew 9:9-13 (643). “Why does your teacher eat with tax collectors and sinners?”

Be light of heart

Imagine the contents of your heart on the scales of heaven right now. Would you be found heavy with cares or light with hope? Are your intentions solid gold or an amalgam of mixed motives? Yesterday the Jewish community observed its holiest feast, Yom Kippur, when the faithful seek atonement for the sake of being close to God. The Catholic Church teaches that “Jews remain very dear to God . . . since God does not take back the gifts he bestowed or the choices he made,” as the Second Vatican Council document Nostra Aetate teaches. Lighten your heart from any burden of discrimination.

Proverbs 21:1-6, 10-13; Luke 8:19-21 (450). “All the ways of a man may be right in his own eyes, but it is the LORD who proves hearts.”

MEMORIAL OF PIUS OF PIETRELCINA, PRIEST

Beyond appearances

Those who have heard of Padre Pio usually think of a mysterious Italian monk who, like his spiritual father Saint Francis of Assisi, bore the stigmata, the physical wounds of Jesus. But there’s a lot more to Pio. As one of his biographers said, “Those who knew Padre Pio well loved him not because of his mystical gifts but because he was a wise, good, unassuming, and amiable Christian gentleman, who, through his virtues . . . led men and women closer to God.” He spent 50 years hearing Confessions—it is estimated he heard 2 million—and giving counsel to troubled people. He also built a state-of-the-art hospital dedicated to serving the poor. Sometimes people—even saints—are more than they seem. Learn more about the people you encounter each day. Their goodness may surprise you.

Proverbs 30:5-9; Luke 9:1-6 (451). “He sent them to proclaim the Kingdom of God.”

The Qoheleth in all of us

Qoheleth is the speaker in the Old Testament book of the same name, better known as Ecclesiastes. There is a bit of Qoheleth in all of us. He is cynical and confused and a bit fatalistic. He struggles to make logical sense of life as we see it unfold in the world around us. How to make sense of all the cruelty, foolishness, greed, and violence? The Qoheleth in us wants to throw up our hands and declare that our strife and struggle is all in vain. The message is at times so seemingly bleak that if the book hadn’t been mistakenly attributed to King Solomon early on, it likely would have been cast aside long ago. Return to Qoheleth when you need a reminder that much in life remains a mystery. The best we can do is embrace it.

Ecclesiastes 1:2-11; Luke 9:7-9 (452). “Vanity of vanities! All things are vanity!”

The cycles of life

American author Hanna Rion (1875-1924) noted that the “greatest gift of the garden is the restoration of the five senses.” True enough. But a garden is more than a sensual feast. It is the place we are most aware of the rhythms of life. In a garden we never question that there is “a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to uproot the plant.” Why do we believe that our lives are any different? Like the flowers and trees, our lives have a rhythm, and we are most at peace when we are in harmony with it. There is much to learn from a garden, if we only take the time. Plan to visit one and let it teach you.

Ecclesiastes 3:1-11; Luke 9:18-22 (453). “There is . . . a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to uproot the plant.”

Pay attention

In today’s gospel, Jesus wants to make sure his message is heard and absorbed. “Pay attention to what I am telling you,” he urges. His message is difficult: Human beings will betray him by putting self-interest before love. And that’s the way it continues to be. Jesus is eager for his followers to hear his words so that we would know to look very close to home when determining where redemption and conversion are most needed in this world. Betrayal and kindness manifest themselves in unexpected places. The best advice for each of us is to keep our faith in God above all others. As Saint Gerard Majella points out: “Who except God can give you peace? Has the world ever been able to satisfy the heart?”

Ecclesiastes 11:9–12:8; Luke 9:43b-45 (454). “Pay attention to what I am telling you. The Son of Man is to be handed over to men.”

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED: THE LAMBS PROGRAM

If you are interested or have any questions, please talk to Father Chip or call the office at 203.775.1035.

Thank you for your consideration.

Life isn't fair!" How many times have you heard this from someone who felt that they received the short end of the stick? And many times, their cry is well-founded. No, life is not fair. But where is it written that it has to be?

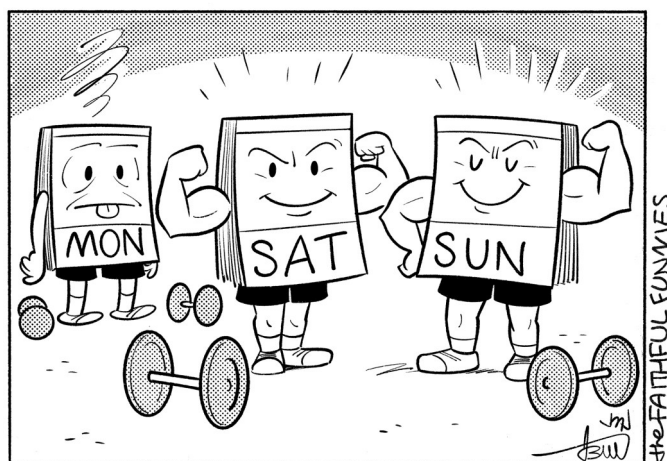

We have an example of this in Matthew's Gospel this weekend with the parable of the landowner and his laborers. One man was hired by a landowner to labor in his vineyard at dawn, followed by others at 9:00 a.m., noon, 3:00 p.m., and 5:00 p.m. At the end of the day, it was time to pay the workers. The latecomers were paid first, and they received the usual daily wage. Naturally, the others who worked the full day presumed they would get more. When they didn't—receiving only what they had originally agreed to—they grumbled. The landowner said, "Are you jealous of me because I am generous?" Jesus ends the parable with the phrase, "The last shall be first, and the first shall be last."

So no, life is not always fair, but where is it written that it has to be? The lesson is to be grateful for what we have received. More importantly, we do not know the whole story of how and why God is working in the lives of others. That is why comparing our lives with the lives of others is a fool's errand. It usually doesn't end well because there will always be others who appear to have it better than us.

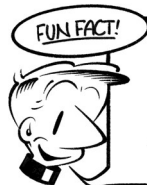

Try not to judge by appearances, they can be very misleading. Be grateful with what you have been blessed; for one day you may be the 3pm laborer!

Women's Reflection

WRAP

of St. Joseph's and Prayer Group

The Women's Reflection and Prayer group is pleased to offer "A Biblical Walk Through the Mass" by Dr. Edward Sri.

Everything we say and do in the Liturgy is steeped in biblical language. A Biblical Walk Through the Mass explores the extraorinary biblical roots of the Liturgy and reveals what it all means and why it all matters. This fascinating tour of the Mass will renew your faith and deepen your love for and devotion to the Holy Eucharist.

Our program begins Tuesday, September 29 in person and Tuesday, October 6 on Zoom. Both programs will meet for 5 sessions at 7:15 pm. A break will be taken for an Advent study as well.

- To register, email wwwpstjiosbrookfield@gmail.com as soon as possible but no later than September 25, and let us know if you will be attending in-person or on Zoom.
- Order your book and workbook (study set) by going to ascensionpress.com > Programs > Adult Faith Formation and clicking on the image for A Biblical Walk Through the Mass. Online access, including the videos, is available for a small additional charge, but is not required.
- You will also need a Catholic Bible.

We will send confirmation emails to registrants on September 27. Please let us know by the 28th if you have not received your confirmation email (check your Spam/Junk folder first). If you have any questions about our program, please contact Barb Roeder at (203) 470 - 3832.

George and Katherine Awwad, representatives of The Good Shepherds of Bethlehem will be visiting our parish on September 26th and 27th.

They will be offering a beautiful collection of hand-carved olive wood religious items made by Christian families in Bethlehem and the surrounding Holy Land villages.

Your purchase directly supports these families and helps sustain Christian presence in the land of Jesus' birth, where many are struggling due to conflict and limited economic opportunities.

Please take a moment after Mass to visit their display and consider purchasing a hand-crafted item for yourself or as a meaningful gift.

Your support makes a real difference in the lives of our brothers and sisters in Christ in The Holy Land.

One Truth.
One Youth.

Bereavement Ministry

Coping with the loss of a loved one can weigh us down physically, emotionally and spiritually, but it is not a journey we need to walk alone.

St. Joseph's 8th Station Bereavement Ministry offers comfort and help during the grieving process.

This group meets the 2nd Saturday of each month, at 10:00 AM in the Parish Center. The sessions are led by Mary Shaughnessy and Patricia Tharrington.
