

swəná?x Camp 2025

THE EVENT

The Indigenous Roots and Reparation Foundation (IRR F) is hosting our 4th Annual swəná?x Huckleberry Camp September 2024. This camp is for tribal members & descendants located on the homelands of the p'squosa (Wenatchi) tribe. Since time immemorial, p'squosa People have traveled up to the Cascades in late summer to gather berries and connect with the land.

You can be a part of this meaningful effort to help Indigenous peoples return back on to their traditional homelands. IRR F is seeking financial support to make Huckleberry Camp a reality. Funds are needed to make this weekend accessible for all tribal descendants. IRR F's goal is to reduce barriers for all participants by providing meals, lodging, travel expenses and honorariums for elders and participants sharing stories and traditional crafts.

ABOUT IRR F

The Indigenous Roots and Reparation Foundation (IRR F) is an Indigenous led nonprofit established in 2021 to preserve history, culture, traditions and language through education and advocacy. Our goal is to provide a space on ancestral homelands for members of all tribes to practice cultural traditions, ceremony, and fellowship.

OUR IMPACT

- We host several culturally significant events each year.
- Participants ages range from 1-78
- 2024 is our largest camp yet! Registration filled up in 18 minutes!

Creating opportunities to gather and connect with the land is central to IRR F's LandBack mission.
