Dear Friends,

Stepping into the role of Executive Director this past summer, I quickly recognized the strong culture of philanthropic support in this close-knit community. Through your generosity, the Kalmar Nyckel Foundation (KNF) continues to strengthen its role as a vital educational resource and a world-class cultural destination for all of Delaware. We are deeply grateful.

Thanks to supporters like you, we engaged more than 36,000 individuals in fiscal year 2025. These opportunities, which include field trips, classroom sessions, community events, public sails, volunteer training, and private programs aboard Kalmar Nyckel and at the Copeland Maritime Center, all reflect the meaningful impact your investment has on learners of all ages.

■ LEARNING: Nearly 13,500 children and adults participated in our school field trips, classroom and community outreach programs. We offered free field trips and classroom programs to all K-12 Delaware public schools thanks to generous donors and sponsors.

■ MARITIME HERITAGE: We hosted 12,000 people aboard the Tall Ship of Delaware in Wilmington, Historic New Castle, and ports from Virginia to New England.

■ COMMUNITY: 10,500 people visited our campus and our community anchor events in Wilmington: Underground Railroad History Day (February), LEGO Shipbuilding Day (March), Captain Kidd's Pirate Day (June), and Halloween Ghost Ship (October).

■ CATHERINE PARSELLS MARITIME INNOVATION FUND: In recognition of her contributions over her 15 years as Executive Director, donors helped KNF create a special fund to support ship projects, education programs, fundraising, and technology.

■ VOLUNTEERS: We reached the incredible milestone of 1 million volunteer hours since 2000 (when electronic tracking began). This year alone, volunteers gave 38,300 hours to sail and maintain our ship, deliver education programs and events, and support our growth.

I invite you to review this annual report and learn about these and more.

With deep appreciation,

2025 Board of Trustees and Staff

FROM THE BOARD CHAIR

Dear Friends,

During 2025, our long-serving Executive Director, Cathy Parsells, informed us of her decision to retire. Cathy directed the Foundation for fifteen years and guided the organization through changes that included the 2015 construction of our beautiful Copeland Maritime Center and docks. We hailed Cathy “farewell” in October at her retirement event.

We undertook a search for our new Executive Director and welcomed Sarah Kirspe in May 2025. Sarah has settled in and we look forward to her leadership especially this year as Kalmar Nyckel and the Foundation are invited to participate in 250th anniversary activities celebrating the signing of our country’s Declaration of Independence.

NEW LEADERSHIP

Executive Director Sarah Kirspe

took the helm in August when Cathy Parsells retired.

We look forward to her leadership especially this year as Kalmar Nyckel and the Foundation are invited to participate in 250th anniversary activities celebrating the signing of our country’s Declaration of Independence. I end by thanking our hard working, dedicated volunteers who maintain and sail Delaware’s official tall ship. Thank you to our loyal donors and patrons. I thank our hard-working, dedicated staff. Lastly, thanks to our generous, devoted volunteer Trustees who serve the Foundation with dedication and enthusiasm.

Please visit us and enjoy the exhibits at the Copeland Maritime Center, and sail with us aboard Kalmar Nyckel.

Fair winds,

Robert V.A. Harra, Jr.

Congratulations 2025 Volunteer of the Year Jon Caspar

Ten years ago, Jon Caspar joined the Kalmar Nyckel Foundation's volunteer crew. Today he fills "almost any role" on the ship for education sails with children as well as voyages to East Coast ports. For his numerous contributions, Jon was honored as KNF's 2025 Volunteer of the Year.

Jon has dedicated an impressive amount of time year-round to the carpentry shop. As Captain Sharon explains, "He started as an apprentice carpenter, but as his skills grew his title morphed into volunteer shipwright." That's a huge compliment.

He has also volunteered to work for many years at dry dock – our biennial haul out for maintenance and mandatory Coast Guard hull inspection. He's helped with everything from scraping to specialty tasks. He has also taken some of KNF's best photos of Kalmar Nyckel under full sail – many have graced magazine covers.

"Jon takes his work sailing the ship seriously, and this creates some really interesting technical discussions about the rig, the process of sail evolutions, and especially the specifics of running the fore deck," says Captain Lauren. "I appreciate that he takes his volunteer activity to the highest of levels. His spirit of scientific inquiry drives him to ask questions – and helps keep me engaged and exploring as well." She adds, "He also has an amazingly bountiful vegetable garden, which is responsible for much of our ship's actual nutrition."

Both Captains are quick to mention Jon's humor, "It's always clever, sometimes sophisticated, sometimes more accessibly 'punny,' frequently sarcastic but never mean-spirited," says Lauren. "He helps us laugh at ourselves – and if there's one thing this organization needs, it's the ability to share laughter in the midst of our own chaos. Thank you, Jon!"

Boats, Friends, Adventure and Supporting KNF

In November 2019, Chris Blidan heard about a KNF volunteer recruiting event that met her goals: boats, friends, and adventure. She recalls, "I came to the party, had a good time, and never left."

Two weeks later, Chris volunteered for ship maintenance, sanding and scraping. In January 2020, she began Winter Crew Training, Class 50. When COVID hit, classes moved to Zoom. Trainees practiced helm commands at home with brooms, and many hardly set foot on the ship until after passing the final exam.

Adventure takes many forms, from crewing on day sails and voyages to KNF's education programs for school children. "I like shipboard learning stations such as "Life of a Sailor" and the capstan." Chris learned to demonstrate blacksmithing at KNF's forge. "I just started with the new early learners' program and like it a lot," she adds.

"I love giving deck tours – you interact closely with the officers. I try to work all the community events: LEGO Shipbuilding, Pirate Day and Ghost Ship." Night watch is usually "easy hours" and different every time." The past two years she served at KNF's annual fundraiser, "Guest bartending is another adventure out of my comfort zone. I did it twice, learned to pour tap beer, and came in second this year (for most funds raised)."

"The Kalmar Nyckel Foundation is one of many nonprofits I enjoy supporting," says Chris. "I also donate to the Seamen's Center of Wilmington." Beyond maritime organizations, she supports social justice, educational, and faith-based nonprofits. "I've been blessed and believe I should share my blessings."

Her favorite part of volunteering for KNF? "The people I've met. It's all part of the adventure!"

2025 Tourism & Sailing Season

◀ FORT CHRISTINA

PARK: One of six sites that make up Delaware's First State National Historical Park, the park marks the location where the original Kalmar Nyckel landed in 1638 and Underground Railroad conductors helped freedom seekers. Today, the Foundation offers free interpretive tours and Junior Ranger Badges in partnership with the State of Delaware.

Fiscal Year 2025 Financials

KNF operated with $1,578,000 million annual operating revenue and 32 employees (9 full-time; 23 part-time/seasonal) during the 2025 Fiscal Year (November 1, 2024 to October 31, 2025). The Foundation continues to be supported by 250+ active volunteers who gave 38,300 service hours (valued at $1,332,200) to sail and maintain our ship as well as deliver educational programming in 2025. In summation, FY25 delivered our best results since 2019, exceeding both our FY24 results and our expectations with an operating surplus of $121,000. Capital expenditures totaling $241,000 were largely covered by specific foundation and individual gifts.

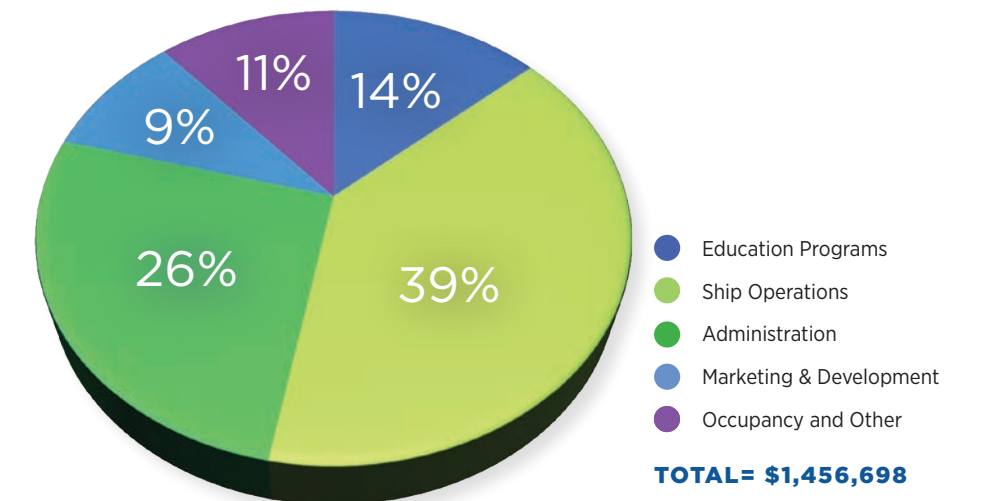

The Foundation continues to develop our long-term strategy: to expand partnerships and improve our maritime campus. We have invested more than $15,100,000 in the ship, Copeland Maritime Center, permanent exhibits, modern dockage, and shipyard improvements. We are a significant and committed contributor to Wilmington's Christina Riverfront.

FY 2025 OPERATING REVENUE

In addition, the value of volunteer time (38,300 hours), is $1,332,200.
