Implementation principles

Minimize paperwork by using existing sources of information

Make information available at the time it is needed in the redetermination process

Identify new health conditions or events in a timely manner

Innovate and evaluate to focus on continuous improvement of the process

Compliance and exemption check using information available to the Commonwealth

Compliance Check:

Records show applicant is meeting work or other compliance activities through available avenues

Exemption/Hardship Check:

Records show applicant meets an exemption such as being a caregiver, recent incarceration, is medically frail or other qualifying activity

Applicant Provided Information:

Limited to situations when information is not available to the state to determine compliance with or exemption from community engagement requirements

HR1 Implementation: Medical Frailty

Process will vary for new applicants versus renewal

At Renewal

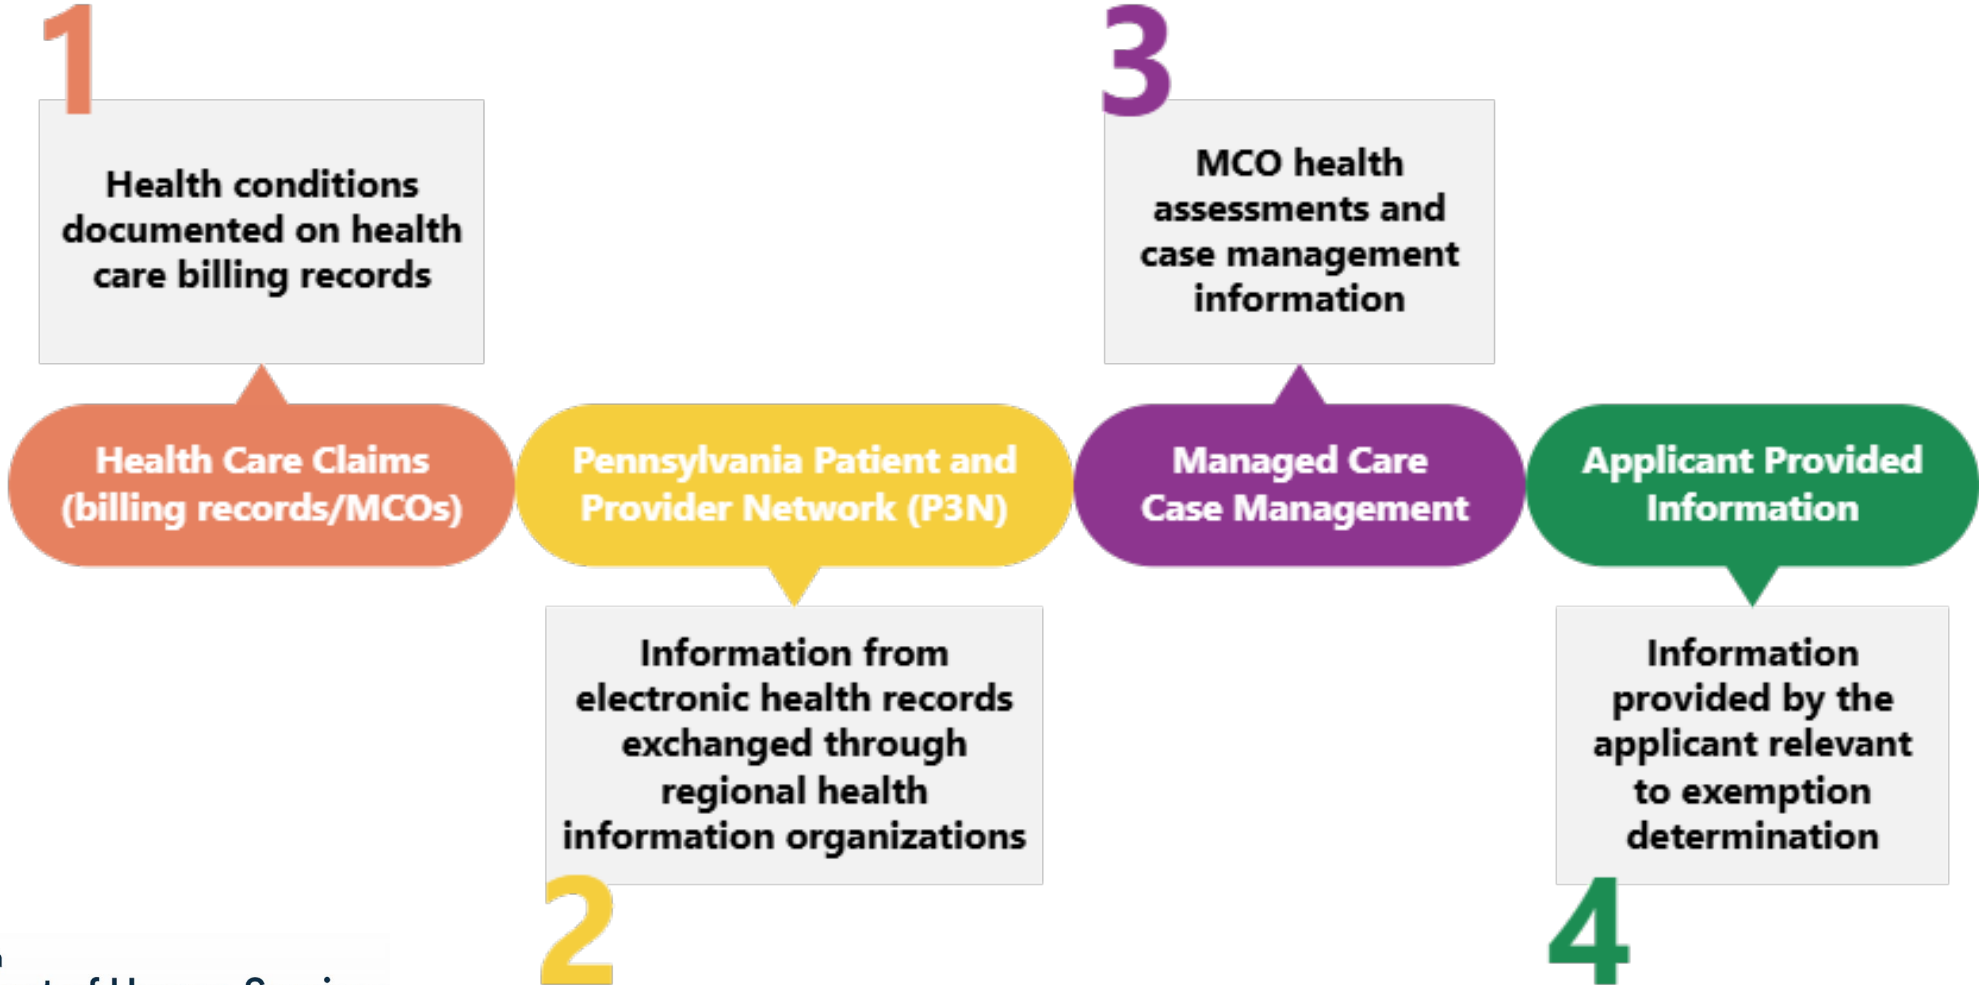

- More information available from Medicaid records to determine if medically frail
 - Past health care use and associated health care conditions
 - Other MCO records

At Application

- Less information available to determine if medically frail (i.e., no recent Medicaid records)
- Process may require more information from the applicant
- Exploring use of PA Patient and Provider Network (P3N) for new applicants

Use information from multiple sources

Health care claims

1

Health conditions
documented on health care billing records

Health Care Claims
(billing records/MCOs)

- Review past health care billing data to determine medical conditions (recent and chronic)
- Compare to a list of eligible medical conditions that meet the medical frailty definition
 - Preliminary list built from the CMS Chronic Condition Warehouse and other sources and refined with clinical review
- Anticipate permanent versus short-term medical frailty
- Timing is an important limitation of claims - it can take several months from the time of clinical care for claims to be present which can limit ability to "see" recent health care events and diagnoses

Health information exchange (P3N)

Pennsylvania Patient and Provider Network (P3N)

Information from electronic health records exchanged through regional health information organizations

- Draw on live clinical exchange and statewide hospital admission and discharge notifications which provides more real time clinical information
- Identify more recent health events and diagnoses (e.g., recent ER visits and hospital admissions)
- Supplements health care billing information but is not a substitute (not all providers and health care visits are included and does not always go as far back in time)
- May contribute to process for new applicants

Additional information from MCOs

3

MCO health assessments and case management
information

Managed Care
Case Management

- Managed care organizations complete health risk assessments at enrollment
- Members with complex conditions are enrolled in case management
- Seeking to collaborate with MCOs to identify health issues such as functional limitations from health risk assessments and case management or other available clinical information

Applicant provided information

Applicant Provided Information

Information provided by the applicant relevant to exemption determination

- Some individuals will have serious or complex medical conditions or other conditions that qualify for an exemption but are not identified in administrative records.
- Client contact and client provided information will then be an important pathway.
- Goal is to maximize use of administrative information and minimize burden on the applicant.

Summary

- Approach is designed to:
 - reduce paperwork burden
 - streamline the process and limit burden for beneficiaries
 - maintain coverage consistent with HR1
- Focuses on leveraging data to the extent possible to support beneficiaries
- Approach implementation with a continuous improvement framework utilizing rapid-cycle innovation methods to evaluate and improve our approach in year 1
- Awaiting final CMS guidance

Thank You!
