Dr. Murphy of Ronald A. Murphy DMD has been helping his local schools, libraries, and several other youth organizations, including the Boys & Girls Clubs and Toys for Tots, to bring excellent reading material to our youth.

In the past few months, he decided to take his help out even further and support America's first responders.

He united with other professionals to celebrate and recognize the courage and sacrifices of all firefighters for International Firefighters Day on May 4. And then again, on May 15, 2023, Ron also showed his support for police officers for National Police Day. He created and sent mini reading/listening libraries to police and fire stations throughout the state of Illinois.

He included a note of thanks for their selfless service and this special gift box of great reading materials for them and their families.

A 2009 study at the University of Sussex found that reading can reduce stress by up to 68%.

Dr. Murphy said, "The last few years have been tough. Our first responders have not failed to be there for our communities, families, and friends. They have worked day and night, showing up and answering the call. The pressure and stress connected with their everyday lives are a reality. I want to thank them and support them in return. Not just with my words but by sending them a gift box of great reading/listening materials they can enjoy and share with their families. I appreciate them, and this is a way I can give back."
