Greetings, brothers and sisters. Many members of our parish community, particularly among Portuguese and Brazilian communities, tend to beautiful gardens and vines for growing wonderful fruits and vegetables. Of course, it's not uncommon to find grape vines among those gardens, and the wine produced is often extraordinary. (I can speak personally of this from the 'vintage' gifts I've received from the Frias family!!!) Such gardens don't just happen by themselves. They must be carefully developed and maintained by preparing and cultivating the soil, making sure they receive the right sunshine, moisture and nutrients, and of course, let's not forget the pruning. When all of this care is taken, the odds are good that what is produced will have all the desirable qualities that the gardener was looking for. As our son likes to say, 'Hard Work Pays Off'.

A Message from Our Clergy

The garden, the gardener, and the fruits produced are wonderful metaphors for not just our natural lives, but our spiritual lives as well.

Let's begin with Isaiah. His prophesy uses the metaphor of the garden. God, the gardener, has lavished the vineyard – the house of Israel - with everything it needed to produce good fruit. The hillside was fertile. It was cleared of stones. Around it was a watchtower and hedge to protect it from the wild beasts. And yet, despite all that went into preparing it, it produced only wild grapes. How tragic and sad.

In our natural lives, we have the opportunity to ask ourselves – what are we producing? Are there areas in our lives where we are not tending properly to the gardens of our families, our work, or our relationships as carefully as we should? Is what we sow into them sometimes not healthy for them? Are we lavishing them with everything that they need to grow productively, beautifully? Have we protected them from things that can harm them?

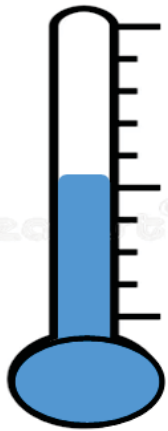

The metaphor extends to our spiritual lives as well. God has given us everything we need to know, love and serve Him well – to become saints through our lives on earth. We likely all wish we had more money in the bank, a nicer house and newer cars – but these don't help us gain salvation with God in heaven. God is particularly interested in the garden of our hearts, and not what's on our resume. Are our hearts loving in the same way He has loved us? Do we love one another with the same compassion that He provides to us? Do we demonstrate that by our actions with each day we live? God lays the groundwork and makes available everything we need to live our lives as He teaches us. How do we use those gifts? Isaiah warns the house of Israel that, despite all that God has given them, if they do not turn from their evil ways and return to faithfulness with God, they will fall to ruin.

Lord – help us to be mindful, appreciative and grateful for all you have given us. Help us to use those gifts as you've intended, and to make of our lives a most beautiful garden worthy of thanks – to You!

Wishing you abundant peace!

Deacon Chuck

UNDERSTANDING

the Mass, Part by Part

The Entrance Procession and Song

Mass begins not with a lecture but with a gathering — the assembly's declaration that the People of God are one Body coming together to worship. As the priest and ministers process to the altar, an opening hymn "calls the assembly to worship and creates a spirit of unity" (Diocese of San Diego, Guide to the Mass). The priest reverences and kisses the altar, a symbol of Christ himself present in our midst. Before a single word of the Mass is spoken, the Church reminds us that Christ is already here, at the heart of the assembly, waiting to meet us.

Standing for the entrance procession is itself a form of prayer—"the posture of the Christian at prayer that expresses our attentiveness" (Diocese of San Diego). We stand because something is about to happen, and because we, too, are being gathered into something larger than ourselves.

Next time you rise for the opening hymn, notice that Mass has already begun before Father reaches the altar. You have already been drawn out of yourself and into communion — with God, and with everyone around you singing the same words.

The Greeting

After venerating the altar and making the Sign of the Cross — itself a profession of faith in the Trinity that recalls our baptism — the priest turns to greet the assembly, often with the words, "The Lord be with you." This is not small talk. It echoes Christ's own promise: "For where two or three are gathered in my name, there am I in the midst of them" (Matthew 18:20). The priest is proclaiming a truth about the room itself.

The congregation's response affirms that the priest, too, stands among us in a particular way, configured by ordination to act in the person of Christ for this celebration. Greeting and response together announce what the whole Mass will unfold: that this is not our gathering alone, but Christ's.

The USCCB notes that the greeting comes "with words from Scripture," tying this ordinary human moment — a hello — to salvation history itself. From the very first exchange, the Mass insists we have not simply assembled ourselves; we have been called, and Christ has come to meet us.

Brazilian & Portuguese Community Information

Saudações, irmãos e irmãs. Muitos membros da nossa comunidade paroquial, especialmente entre as comunidades portuguesa e brasileira, cultivam belos jardins e videiras para produzir frutas e hortaliças maravilhosas. Naturalmente, não é raro encontrar videiras nesses jardins, e o vinho produzido é, muitas vezes, extraordinário. (Posso falar disso por experiência própria, graças aos presentes de "safra especial" que recebi da família Frias!!!) Tais jardins não surgem por acaso. Eles precisam ser cuidadosamente desenvolvidos e mantidos mediante o preparo e o cultivo do solo, garantindo a exposição adequada à luz solar, à umidade e aos nutrientes e, claro, sem esquecer a poda. Quando todo esse cuidado é dedicado, há grandes chances de que o resultado apresente todas as qualidades desejadas pelo jardineiro. Como nosso filho gosta de dizer: "O trabalho duro compensa".

Uma Mensagem do Nosso Clero

Deacon Chuck

O jardim, o jardineiro e os frutos produzidos são metáforas maravilhosas não apenas para a nossa vida natural, mas também para a nossa vida espiritual. Isaías dá início a essa reflexão. Sua profecia utiliza a metáfora do jardim. Deus, o jardineiro, prodigalizou à vinha — a casa de Israel — tudo o que era necessário para produzir bons frutos. A encosta era fértil. As pedras haviam sido removidas. Ao seu redor, havia uma torre de vigia e uma cerca viva para protegê-la dos animais selvagens. E, no entanto, apesar de todo o empenho no seu preparo, ela produziu apenas uvas bravas. Quão trágico e triste.

Em nossa vida cotidiana, temos a oportunidade de nos perguntar: o que estamos cultivando?

Existem áreas em nossa vida — como a família, o trabalho ou os relacionamentos — em que não estamos cuidando dos nossos "jardins" com o devido zelo? Será que aquilo que neles plantamos nem sempre lhes faz bem? Estamos oferecendo tudo o que precisam para crescer de forma produtiva e bela? Temos protegido esses aspectos de tudo o que possa lhes causar danos?

Essa metáfora estende-se também à nossa vida espiritual. Deus nos deu tudo o que precisamos para conhecê-Lo, amá-Lo e servi-Lo bem — para nos tornarmos santos ao longo de nossa vida na Terra. É provável que todos nós desejássemos ter mais dinheiro no banco, uma casa melhor e carros mais novos; no entanto, nada disso nos ajuda a alcançar a salvação junto a Deus no céu. Deus interessa-Se, sobretudo, pelo jardim de nossos corações, e não pelo que consta em nosso currículo. Será que nossos corações amam da mesma maneira que Ele nos amou? Amamos uns aos outros com a mesma compaixão que Ele nos dedica? Demonstramos isso por meio de nossas ações a cada dia que vivemos? Deus estabelece os fundamentos e disponibiliza tudo o que necessitamos para viver conforme os Seus ensinamentos. Como utilizamos esses dons? Isaías alerta a casa de Israel de que, apesar de tudo o que Deus lhes concedeu, se não abandonarem seus maus caminhos e retornarem à fidelidade para com Deus, acabarão em ruína.

Senhor, ajuda-nos a estar atentos, a valorizar e a ser gratos por tudo o que nos deste. Ajuda-nos a usar esses dons conforme a Tua vontade e a fazer de nossas vidas um jardim belíssimo, digno de gratidão — a Ti!

Desejo-lhe paz em abundância!

Diacono Chuck
