MESSAGE FROM THE PRODUCER

Rhoda Wilson

AI and Film Scheduling

Manual film scheduling can often be stressful, time-consuming, and complex — and I've experienced this firsthand on multiple occasions. Fortunately, AI is now transforming this once daunting task into a streamlined process.

Tools like <https://studiovity.com/> can analyse a wide range of variables — from cast availability to weather forecasts and budget limits — and generate optimised schedules within minutes. That said, human input remains essential to guide the system and ensure the final outcome aligns with creative and logistical needs.
