

HYDRO WARS

10 × 60-Minute Premium Docu-Series

Speed Has Consequences.

THE LOGLINE

In Miami's high-stakes world of hydro drag racing, elite jet ski teams battle for speed records, sponsorships, and survival — as a sanctioned national champion and an underground grudge king collide in a season-long fight to determine who is truly the fastest on water.

Two Champions. Two Arenas.

Carlos wins Hydro Nationals and shatters the 145 MPH barrier. Negro dominates the underground grudge circuit — more head-to-head wins than anyone. One question remains: Who is the real king?

The Season Ends With One Race

Neutral location. Equal prep. Agreed rules. The outcome is real, unscripted, and legacy-defining. This is not manufactured drama — it is ego, horsepower, and survival colliding on open water.

Miami Is Not a Backdrop... It Is a Character.

Cuban-American Grit

Immigrant entrepreneurship fueling a sport built in garages, not boardrooms.

Neon & Wealth

Waterfront money meets underground hustle. Spectacle and survival, side by side.

Historic Venues

Miami Marine Stadium and the city's storied waterways give the sport cinematic gravity.

Why Now

The sport is surging on social media — largely unseen by mainstream audiences. The moment is now.

The Risk Is Real

At 145 MPH, a jet ski becomes a projectile.

Split-second mistakes trigger violent ejections, engine explosions, and career-ending injuries. Rescue crews stand by at every race. The danger is not a story device – it shapes every single decision these riders make.

Violent Ejections

Six-Figure Equipment Loss

Shop-Ending Crashes

The Teams

Engineers, immigrants, entrepreneurs, and family businesses — where every blown motor costs thousands and every win reshapes the power structure.

Carlos:

CRT Racing

Sanctioned Champion. Nationals winner. Record breaker. Critics say he avoids the underground. He has the title. But does he have the crown?

Negro:

Boosting Performance

The Underground King. Explosive and relentless. Dominates grudge races. Believes past losses were political. Wants one thing: undeniable proof.

Hector:

Orange Boost

The Master Mechanic. Builds engines for competitors — sometimes racing against his own clients. Precision over ego.

The Teams

Cuco:

Cuco Performance

The Young Challenger. 24 years old. Former world record holder. Smallest shop, fiercest hunger. Fearless enough to risk everything.

Angelica:

Angelica Racing

The Disruptor. The only woman at the elite level. 1,000 HP machine. Trained by her father. Her presence shifts the culture of the sport.

Rob & Dave

The Backbone. Married mechanics powering Boosting Performance. Precision, partnership, and stability inside an extreme-risk world.

The World of Hydro Drag Racing

Innovation doesn't happen in corporate labs — it happens in small shops with immigrant hands and obsessive minds. These machines are rebuilt weekly, tuned by instinct, and pushed past the limits of physics.

The Machines

1,000–1,500 HP custom engines

0–130 MPH in seconds

The Arenas

Hydro Nationals

Underground canal races

Social media matchups

$15K–$50K+ purses

The Stakes

145+ MPH speed records

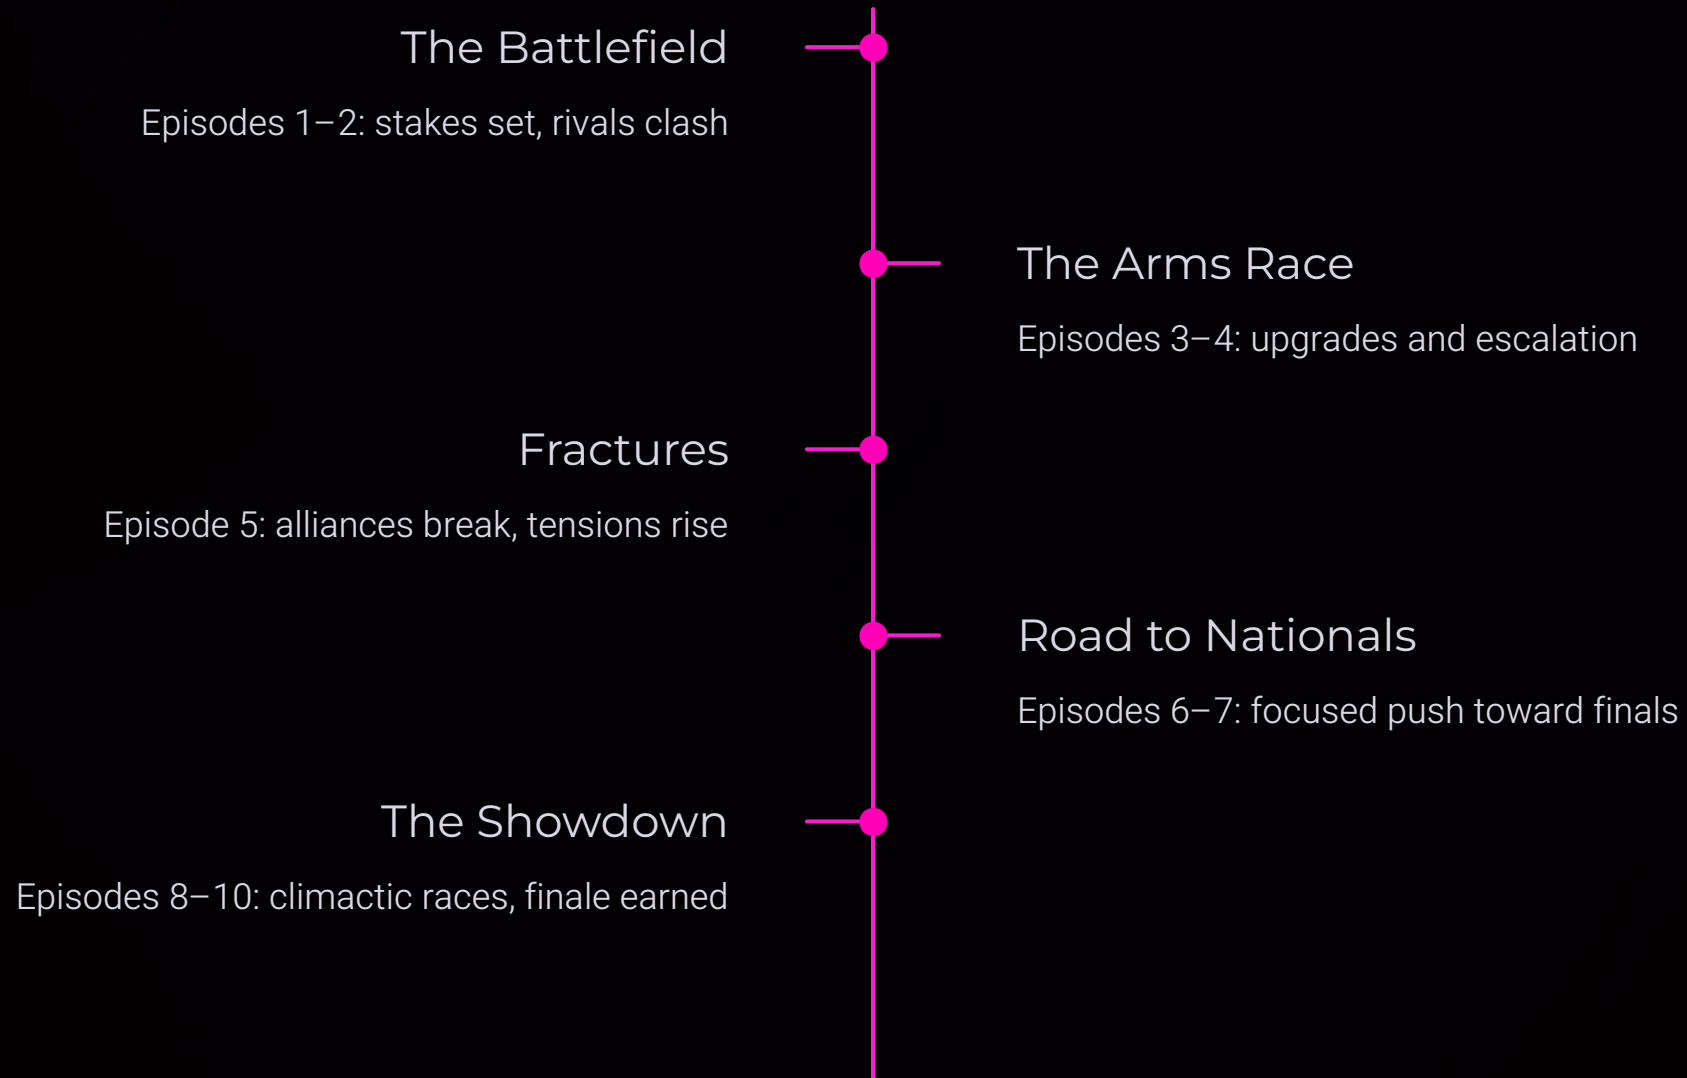

Sponsorship retention

Shop survival

Reputation

Engineering Warfare at Full Throttle

Season Arc — 10 Episodes

Ten episodes of organic escalation — each ending in a race, each raising the stakes. The engine is clear, the format is repeatable, and the finale is earned, not manufactured.

Visual Style

Aerial Cinematography

Drone tracking over Miami canals. Ultra-slow-motion launches frozen in stunning detail.

Night Race Atmosphere

Cinematic practical lighting. Neon waterfront energy. Latin music woven into race sequences.

Shop Intimacy

Engine tear-down with ASMR-level detail. Hands-on builds. The quiet before the thunder.

Why This Series Works

Built-In Series Engine

Every episode ends in a race. Stakes are measurable in MPH. Rivalries are real. The season-long arc builds to a single, undeniable, unscripted moment. No manufactured drama required.

Future Seasons Are Already Written

- Can the sport break 150 MPH?
- Does the loser demand a rematch?
- Can Angelica rise to championship dominance?
- Do new shops enter the arms race?
- Will underground racing be forced into sanctioning?

 This is not a one-season story. This is a franchise with velocity.

01

Clear Season Engine

Organic escalation with repeatable episode structure.

02

Cultural Authenticity

Cuban-American identity, immigrant hustle – rooted in real community.

03

Scalable Format

Built for future seasons as the arms race toward 150 MPH continues.

The Top Teams In Florida Hydro Drag Race Scene

One Race. One King.

Neutral location. Equal prep. Real stakes. The outcome is unscripted and legacy-defining — earned over ten episodes of rivalry, sacrifice, and speed.

SPEED HAS CONSEQUENCES

HYDRO WARS — AVAILABLE FOR ACQUISITION

