PASTOR'S LETTER

ASH WEDNESDAY: LENT BEGINS

The Catholic Church begins the liturgical season of Lent on Ash Wednesday. During these 40 days, through fasting, prayer, and almsgiving, the faithful prepare for Holy Week, the time when the Church focuses entirely on contemplating the mysteries of the Passion, Death, and Resurrection of the Lord Jesus. The celebrant places ashes on the forehead of each of the faithful, making the sign of the cross, while saying: "Repent and believe in the Gospel." In the early centuries of the Church, the faithful began Lent with public penance, performed on the first day, during which they were sprinkled with ashes, dressed in sackcloth, and required to remain apart until they were reconciled with God on Holy Thursday. When these practices fell into disuse between the 8th and 10th centuries, ashes began to be placed on the forehead, or on the head, of all members of the congregation. In more recent times, the liturgy prescribes that the celebrating priest imprint or mark the foreheads of all the faithful with the sign of the cross. For this purpose, he uses the ashes obtained by burning the olive branches and palms that were used on Palm Sunday of the previous year. In the early Church, the duration of Lent varied, but eventually it began six weeks before Easter. This resulted in only 36 days of fasting (since Sundays are excluded). In the 7th century, four days were added before the first Sunday of Lent, establishing the forty days of fasting, to imitate Christ's fast in the desert. It was common practice in Rome for penitents to begin their public penance on the first day of Lent. With the imposition of ashes, a particularly significant spiritual season begins for every Christian who wishes to prepare themselves worthily to live the Paschal Mystery. The beginning of Lent also marked the start of public penance for those guilty of serious sins (apostasy, murder, adultery): after the imposition of ashes, they would walk through the city dressed in penitential garments, recalling the expulsion from Paradise. This powerful time of the Liturgical Year is characterized by a biblical message that can be summarized in a single word: "metanoieite," that is, "Repent." This imperative is presented through the austere rite of the imposition of ashes, which, with the words "Repent and believe in the Gospel" and the expression "Remember that you are dust, and to dust you shall return," invites everyone to reflect on the duty of conversion, recalling the inexorable transience and ephemeral fragility of human life, subject to death. Conversion is a return to God, valuing earthly realities in the unfailing light of his truth. Ash Wednesday is observed as a response to the Word of God, which invites us to conversion, marking the beginning and gateway to the Lenten fast and the journey of preparation for Easter. Lent begins with ashes and ends with the fire, water, and light of the Easter Vigil. Something must be burned and destroyed within us—the old self—to make way for the new life of Christ's resurrection. Ash Wednesday is a day of fasting and abstinence, as is Good Friday. Fasting is obligatory for those between the ages of 18 and 60 and consists of one main meal. Abstinence from meat applies from the age of 14. Fridays during Lent are also days of obligatory abstinence. The ashes, therefore, remind us of the hope to which we are called, because Jesus, the Son of God, mingled with the dust of the earth, raising it to heaven. And He descended into the depths of the dust, dying for us and reconciling us with the Father, as we hear the Apostle Paul say: "For our sake he made him to be sin who knew no sin, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God" (2 Corinthians 5:21). This hope, brothers and sisters, is what revives the ashes that we are. Without this hope, we are condemned to passively endure the fragility of our human condition and, especially in the face of death, we sink into sadness and desolation, ultimately reasoning like fools. The hope of Easter, towards which we are journeying, sustains us in our weaknesses, assures us of God's forgiveness, and, even when covered in the ashes of sin, opens us to the joyful confession of life: "I know that my Redeemer lives, and that in the end he will stand upon the earth" (Job 19:25). Let us remember that "man is dust and to dust he shall return, but in the eyes of God he is precious dust, because God created man destined for immortality" (Benedict XVI, General Audience, February 17, 2010).

Living the Mass: The Eucharist We Celebrate Shapes the Life We Live A Parish Journey into the Eucharist

Part III: We Believe and We Pray: The Faith We Profess, the Hope We Share

After listening to God speak through Sacred Scripture, the Church responds with faith and prayer. In the Profession of Faith and the Prayer of the Faithful, we stand together before God and say, in word and intention, "We trust you." This moment of the Mass reminds us that belief is never private and prayer is never only about ourselves. What we profess and what we pray shapes who we are as disciples.

Each Sunday, we recite the Nicene Creed. These familiar words are not a summary of personal opinions, but the shared faith of the Church handed down through the centuries. When we say, "I believe," we are not speaking alone. We are united with Catholics across the world and across time, with parents teaching their children, with saints who lived the faith heroically, and with ordinary believers who trusted God in quiet fidelity.

"What we believe shapes how we pray, and how we live."

The Creed proclaims the great mysteries of our faith: a God who creates, a Son who saves, and a Spirit who gives life. It reminds us that our faith is rooted in real events, the Incarnation, the Cross, and the Resurrection. Saint Irenaeus once wrote that the glory of God is the human person fully alive. When we profess our faith, we are claiming that our lives find their meaning and purpose in the God who has revealed Himself to us.

For families, the Creed is a powerful teaching moment. Children hear the language of faith repeated week after week, learning not only what the Church believes, but how belief sounds when it is spoken aloud with confidence and love. In time, these words become a foundation they can return to throughout their lives.

Having professed what we believe, the Church then turns outward in prayer. In the Prayer of the Faithful, also called the Universal Prayer, we bring before God the needs of the Church, the world, our community, and those who suffer.

This prayer teaches us that faith always leads to concern for others. We learn to see the world not as spectators, but as disciples entrusted with the needs of our brothers and sisters.

This moment of intercession is an act of stewardship. God entrusts us with the care of one another, inviting us to lift up joys and struggles that may not be our own. When we respond, "Lord, hear our prayer," we accept that trust. Our prayer at Mass becomes a commitment to act with compassion, generosity, and mercy beyond the church doors.

Saint Monica, known for her persevering prayer for her son Augustine, reminds us that faithful prayer is often quiet and patient. Week after week, the Church teaches us to pray with hope, trusting that God hears even the prayers that seem unanswered.

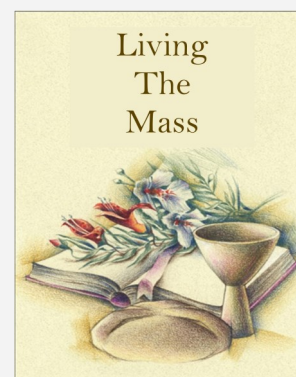

The Catechism teaches that after hearing the Word of God, "the people respond in faith and prayer" (cf. CCC 1100). In this response, we learn stewardship of faith and stewardship of prayer, receiving the gift of belief and offering it back to God through lives shaped by trust.

As we approach the beginning of Lent, this part of the Mass invites us to reflect more deeply. Do we profess our faith with intention, or only by habit? Do we pray for the needs of the world with sincere hearts? What might God be asking us to carry in prayer this week, and to act upon in love?

God of truth and mercy, strengthen our faith and enlarge our hearts. Teach us to believe with conviction and to pray with generosity, that our lives may reflect the hope we profess
each time we gather at your altar. Amen.

Questions for discernment:

Question 1:

What challenges do you see exist in the wider, general community for all denominations? Examples would be how do we make ourselves known to newcomers as we experience growth in our areas? What role should we play in assuring affordable housing and food security?

Question 2:

What challenges do you see that exist in the Five Mountain Catholic Community? An example could be having several families with teenagers but not being able to hire a youth minister.

Question 3:

Having heard information from the community demographics report, what opportunities do you see in our Five Mountain Catholic Community and, in the wider community to more effectively serve and accompany others? Is there anybody that we can do a better job of reaching?
