Epiphany of the Lord

Pope Francis consistently links Epiphany with humility, especially through the Magi's posture of adoration before the Child and their willingness to journey, bow down, and change their route. For him, their humility is not sentiment but concrete conditions for true faith and worship.

Humility as prerequisite to faith

- In a 2022 Epiphany homily, Francis stated that "humility is a prerequisite to faith," pointing to the Magi who "fell down and worshipped" as a sign of their openness to God's newness.
- He contrasts this with pride and self-sufficiency, which leave people closed in on their own certainties and unable to recognize God's surprising ways.

The Magi's humble worship

- At the Angelus for Epiphany, Francis said the Magi teach that to worship we must first become small, accepting that salvation comes in weakness and littleness, not in worldly power.
- Their prostration shows that their "true wealth" is not status or gifts, but the ability to kneel before God and hand over what they have received.

Finding God in littleness

- In his 2024 Epiphany homily, he emphasized that the Magi sought the "great God" and found a child, urging believers to "find God in flesh and bone, in the faces of those we meet each day, and especially in the poor."
- He insists that God reveals divine greatness in the "infinitely little," and that only a humble heart can recognize and adore this hidden presence.

Humility versus spiritual show

- Reflecting on Epiphany, Francis warns against "showing off our virtues in every step of our life," calling instead for a humble journey that keeps the gaze fixed on the Lord rather than on appearances.
- He notes that the Lord "shuns ostentation," inviting the Church to reject worldliness and choose the simple, often hidden ways where God waits to be worshipped.

Epiphany as examen of the heart

- Francis repeatedly invites an Epiphany examination: are we centered on ourselves and our pretenses, or willing to become small so that Christ may be at the center?
- He prays that Mary, "servant of the Lord," would teach Christians their "vital need for humility and the vibrant desire to worship," so that Epiphany becomes a real shift from self-focus to adoring faith.

Epiphany against self-centeredness

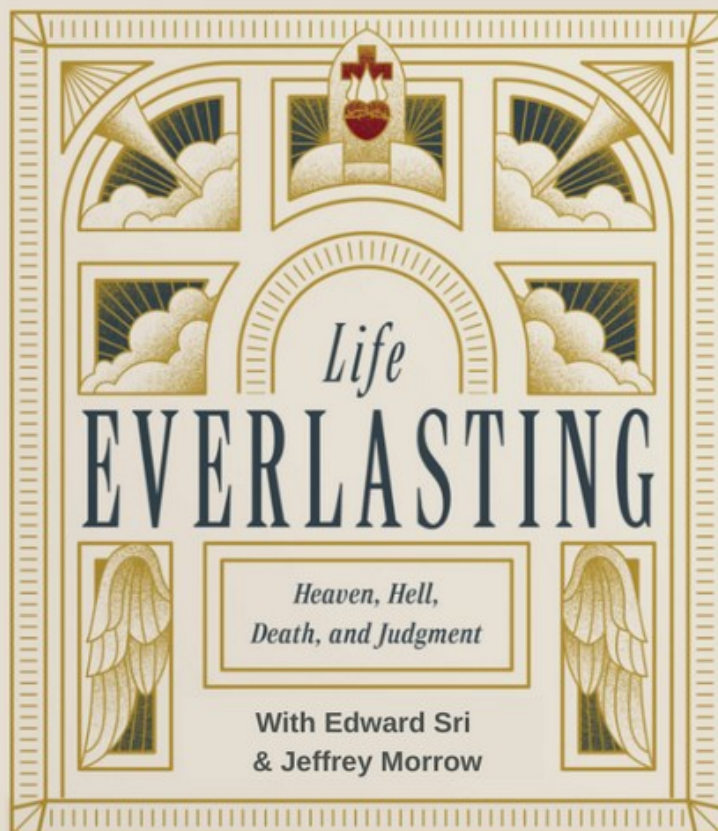

- Pope Francis describes the Magi as men who "do not put themselves at the center, but bow down before the One who is the center," and who go to the Lord "not to receive, but to give."
- This stands in direct contrast to an attitude that "makes us idolize ourselves" and think "life is good if I profit from it," closing us to others and to God.

Herod self-centeredness

- Herod felt threatened by any rival to his power, manipulating others (the Magi), and willing to destroy lives to preserve his fragile "kingdom of self."
- Francis notes that Herod prefers "the earthly lights of success and power" to the humble light of God, a description that fits the addiction to image, control, and spotlight.

Magi as path out

- The Magi leave their security, endure a long journey, and accept being led by Another's light; this is the opposite of narcissistic autonomy that refuses dependence or docility.
- Their worship is physical and concrete: they prostrate and offer costly gifts, enacting what Francis calls the move from "our pretentious robes" to the humble posture that lets God be first.

Dear Students, Parents, Faculty, and Staff,

As we stand at the threshold of 2026, let us pause to thank God for the many graces of the past year and for the gift of our St/ Catherine Catholic School community. The Christmas season reminds us that Christ, the Light of the world, enters our ordinary lives and classrooms, transforming them with His presence and love.

In this new year, our desire is to grow as a "family" of faith in which every child is known, loved, and formed as a disciple of Jesus Christ. We will continue to pursue academic excellence rooted in the Gospel, helping our students to seek truth, goodness, and beauty in all things as they discover God's plan for their lives.

I am deeply grateful to our dedicated teachers and staff, whose work is truly a vocation, and to our parents, the first educators of their children, for partnering with us in this mission. Together, under the guidance of the Holy Spirit and the protection of Our Lady, we will strive to make 2026 a year of growth in faith, learning, and service to others.

May the Lord bless you and your families with health, joy, and deep peace in this new year. Know of my daily prayers for each of you and let us keep one another in prayer as we begin 2026 with hope in Christ.

Sincerely in Christ,

Fr. José
Pastor

It began with a random email to St. Catherine Principal Steve Cullipher. It ended with a Tony Rosa painting of Our Lady of Guadalupe placed on the hallway wall leading to the lunch doors.

Tony is also assisting our 8th grade students with their legacy project, decorating Campo San Jose. Campo San Jose was renovated a few years ago and the school has been using it for weekend retreats for our students. The students decided to leave their mark by creating and acquiring Catholic memorabilia to enhance the experience for everyone who has events at Campo San Jose.

Parish Hall Upgrade

If you haven't been to the parish hall for a while, you're in for a treat. We solicited bids to have the hall painted in preparation for the Gala in March 2026. Lo and behold, a group of volunteers agreed to do the work if the school would provide the paint and materials. It was a deal we couldn't refuse!

"Special thanks to the following volunteers who did a terrific job painting the Parish Hall so that we are "Gala-ready."
