Francis and Stigmata, Unknown Umbrian Artist, 20th Century,
Assisi

The new commandment in today's gospel from St. John is to love one another.

This is grounded in what Jesus has continuously told his disciples about how he is one with the Father, and the Father is one in him, and he is one in us.

The juncture of this unity is the cross, at the point that love unites us without limitations. It is in this love that St. Francis experienced the stigmata, the wounds of Jesus in his own flesh.

Our call through baptism is to draw closer each day to this union in Jesus. It is expressed in our ability to love our world, and its people even in suffering for their sake.

This is the Way we proclaim salvation to all.

Please pray for the sick of our parish
