

Patient-188

Patient-188 went to Dr. Ronald Hillock at Nevada Orthopedic for help with damage caused by knee surgery. The patient had problems caused during two previous surgeries on his knee by Dr. Edward Ashman at Nevada Orthopedic. The patient's knee is very painful and sticks out 3-5 inches in front of his other knee. Dr. Hillock would NOT help the patient and only said the scar tissue would dissolve. (Remember that Health Plan of Nevada forces all orthopedic patients to go to Nevada Orthopedic, so the patient was only allowed to see another doctor at Nevada Orthopedic.)

Patient-187 went to Dr. Arthur Taylor at Nevada Orthopedic for a post-op appointment.

My cast was taken off today.

The doctor should have stayed to check my hand and arm. He didn't.

I had to ask, firmly request, to have his P.A. check my arm and hand.

No therapy ordered either.

I found it very careless.

Why is he still operating when he cannot stop shaking? One of the assistants in the office told me he has early signs of Parkinson's??

Why in the world would the medical board still allow this?

I hope to God my arm and hand heal properly and everything is okay.
