

Patient-95

Patient-95 was referred to Dr. Kevin Sharif at Nevada Orthopedic & Spine Center. He was told that they "don't need business" and new patients have to wait to be vetted to see if they are "worth his while."

I was referred to Kevin R. Sharif at Nevada Orthopedic & Spine Center.

When I called to schedule, the receptionist informed me that they "don't need business" and that there is a waiting period just to be approved as a patient.

This was the first time I've ever heard of such a policy.

She went on to say that the doctor I was referred to "vets his patients to see if they're worth his while."

That statement alone was enough for me to decide this was not the right place for my care.

I believe a good doctor should welcome new patients with open arms, especially those in need of help not make them feel like they're being judged as a number or statistic.

I value character in my healthcare providers, and unfortunately, what I heard here did not align with that.

I called my referring doctor right away to find someone else who truly cares about patient well-being.

Patient-95 saw Dr. Kevin Sharif at Nevada Orthopedic. He was told that they "don't need business" and new patients have to wait to be vetted to see if they are "worth his while."

This is a stock photo illustrating when a doctor makes you feel like a number.

Just say NO to Nevada Orthopedic and just say NO to Dr. Kevin Sharif advance the understanding of environmental, political, human rights, economic, democracy, scientific and social justice issues, and to provide a public service to consumers so they can make informed decisions about their choice of hospitals and surgeons. We believe this constitutes a 'fair use' of any such copyrighted material as provided for in section 107 of the US Copyright Law. In accordance with Title 17 U.S.C. Section 107, the material on this site is distributed without profit to those who have expressed a prior interest in receiving the included information for research and educational purposes.

DISCLAIMER: The contents of this website (including text, graphics and images) are for informational purposes only and do not constitute medical advice. The content is not intended to be a substitute for professional medical advice, diagnosis or treatment. Always seek the advice of a physician or other qualified health provider with any questions you may have regarding a medical condition. Never disregard professional medical advice or delay in seeking it because of something you have read on this website.

@2026 All Rights Reserved