Mock Interview Coaching Program

Interview coaching isn't just about answering questions at your next high-stakes interview, it's about shaping perception, owning your narrative, and walking into the room with presence and power. It's where preparation meets positioning—so you're not just qualified, you're unforgettable. In today's competitive market, confidence isn't optional. It's your differentiator and your path to leadership roles and higher lifetime earnings.

Before we meet, I dedicate time to reviewing your resume, the job description, and your discovery call notes to ensure our time together is targeted and tailored to you.

Every session includes:

- Role-specific mock interviews tailored to your target position
- Real-time feedback on clarity, tone, structure, and delivery
- Coaching on high-impact communication techniques
- A video recording and meeting notes for reflection and refinement

Whether you need a single session or a full transformation, there is a coaching plan designed just for you.

If you're not ready to commit to a multi-session program, that's okay. You can start with a single Power Session and decide from there. If you choose to continue, this session fee can be credited toward a multi-session package.

For longer programs, flexible payment options are available.

◆ Option 1: Power Session – $285

One 90-minute session (not the usual 60). Because meaningful preparation deserves a little more space.

Best for professionals with a high-stakes interview coming up who need fast, strategic polish. You'll walk away with refined responses, a confident mindset, and clarity on how to handle curveball questions.

◆ Option 2: Smart Prep Plan – $785

Three 90-minute sessions (not the usual 60).
