Supervised Contact

Welcome

Hope Supervised Contact is a privately owned & operated Children's Supervised Contact Service supporting families across Sydney & the Central Coast of NSW. We understand that separation brings complex emotions & challenges for every family member. Our mission is to facilitate professional, safe, & child-focused Supervised Contact Visits that allow children to maintain meaningful relationships with both parents during this transition.

We operate from a neutral, unbiased position using trauma-informed, strengths-based practices. Our highly qualified & experienced team holds current Working With Children Checks (WWCC), Police Checks, & First Aid Certificates. More importantly, we bring compassion, understanding, & genuine care to every interaction. We recognise that each of our families are navigating difficult circumstances.

We provide professional supervision during contact visits, ensuring children's safety & wellbeing as they spend quality time with the parent they no longer live with. Our experienced staff facilitate meaningful interactions while maintaining a supportive, child-focused presence.

We manage smooth, conflict-free transitions as children move between parents before & after visits. Our carefully coordinated approach includes staggered arrival & departure times at varying locations to minimise stress & protect children from parental conflict.

Our safe & reliable door-to-door transport service ensures children travel comfortably between home, school, daycare, or other agreed locations & their Supervised Contact Visits. Our modern, clean vehicles are fully equipped with age-appropriate car seats, boosters, prams, & strollers - one less thing for you to worry about!

We're here to support you and your child/children through this challenging time with professionalism, care, & understanding.

Meet Our Founder & CEO - Lisa Joye

Lisa is a passionate advocate for child-centered, trauma-informed Supervised Contact Services that prioritize safety, connection, and long-term wellbeing. Her commitment to improving the supervised contact experience began during her time as a Child Protection Caseworker with the Department of Communities & Justice (DCJ).

Through this work, Lisa came to deeply understand the emotional complexity and relational challenges families face when navigating contact after separation - especially when safety concerns, conflict, or prolonged periods without contact are involved.

She recognised that families need more than just supervision; they need consistency, support, and a compassionate, trauma-informed approach that centers the child's experience while preserving the dignity of everyone involved.

Motivated by these insights, Lisa established Hope Family Cottage, which now operates as Hope Supervised Contact, to create a service for families that is grounded in safety, respect, and meaningful connection. Her wrap around service supports children and parents to rebuild connection through meaningful relationships while strengthening parenting capacity, improving parental communication and building respect between parents as they transition towards self-managed contact arrangements, wherever possible.
