

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
STUDENT PRIVACY POLICY OFFICE

August 2026

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA)

Statute: 20 U.S.C. 1232g. Regulations: 34 CFR Part 99.

Rights of Parents

FERPA provides that an educational agency or institution that receives Department of Education (Department) funds may not have a policy or practice of denying parents the right to:

- Inspect and review education records¹ within 45 days of a request (§ 99.10);
- Seek to amend education records believed to be inaccurate, misleading, or in violation of the student's privacy rights; request a hearing if the request is denied, and the right to insert a statement on the matter in the education record if the hearing does not result in an amendment (§§ 99.20, 99.21, and 99.22); and
- Consent to the disclosure of personally identifiable information (PII) from education records except as specified by law (§§ 99.30 and 99.31).

These rights transfer to the student when he or she turns 18 years of age or enters a postsecondary educational institution at any age ("eligible student"). As previously noted, FERPA only applies to educational agencies and institutions, by which we generally mean school districts, public elementary and secondary schools, and colleges and universities. While State educational agencies (SEAs), may receive funds from the Department under programs that the Department administers, we generally do not view SEAs as educational agencies. As previously explained, FERPA only applies to "education records," defined, in pertinent part, as records directly related to a "student," defined as excluding an individual who has not been in attendance at the educational agency or institution. Because students generally are not in attendance at an SEA, SEAs are generally not considered educational agencies to which FERPA applies. Therefore, in general, records maintained by an SEA that directly relate to students would not qualify as education records subject to FERPA's disclosure restrictions unless the SEA obtained such records from a FERPA-covered educational agency or institution without the prior, written consent of a parent or eligible student (which is permissible under specific FERPA exceptions).

In addition, FERPA provides parents with the right to inspect and review education records maintained by an SEA within a reasonable period of time, but not more than 45 days after it has received a request. 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(1)(B); 34 CFR 99.10(a)(2). This includes, for example, ¹ Education Records as defined by this agency and FERPA include, but are not limited to, all records involving a student's "gender identity," regardless of how those records are stored by the institution, unless otherwise considered an excepted record under FERPA. 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(3), (4).

State assessments completed by students maintained by the SEA. The SEA may make the education records available to the parent either directly, by sending them to the local educational agency (LEA) for inspection and review or making other appropriate arrangements. For more information on this provision, see 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(1)(B); 34 CFR 99.10.

Permitted Disclosures to SEAs

FERPA permits educational agencies and institutions, such as LEAs and their constituent schools, to disclose PII from education records to SEAs and other designated State educational authorities without a parent's prior consent under certain conditions. For a review of the exceptions to the general prior consent rule in FERPA, see 34 CFR 99.31. The most common exception that relates to disclosure to a State educational authority is found in §§ 99.31(a)(3) and 99.35. The disclosure must be in connection with:

- An audit or evaluation of Federal or State supported education programs; or
- The enforcement of or compliance with Federal legal requirements relating to such programs.

Information collected under this provision generally must be:

- Protected so that information is not disclosed to anyone other than the authorized representatives of the State educational authority (§ 99.35(b)(1)); and,
- Destroyed when no longer needed for the purposes listed above (§ 99.35(b)(2)).

ESEA Provisions Regarding Disclosure of Disciplinary Records

Section 8537 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), as amended, 20 U.S.C. § 7917, requires that each State that receives funds under the ESEA have “a procedure in place to facilitate the transfer of disciplinary records, with respect to a suspension or expulsion, by local educational agencies to any private or public elementary school or secondary school for any student who is enrolled or seeks, intends, or is instructed to enroll, on a full- or part-time basis, in the school.” Section 99.31(a)(2) of the FERPA regulations provides specifically that an educational agency or institution may disclose education records, without parental consent, to a school in which the student seeks or intends to enroll, subject to conditions set forth in 34 CFR § 99.34. FERPA also allows disclosure of appropriate information regarding specified disciplinary actions to teachers and school officials, including those in other schools, who have legitimate educational interests in the behavior of the student. See 34 CFR § 99.36(b). LEAs should include a notice in their annual notification of rights under FERPA that they forward education records to other schools that have requested the records and in which the student seeks or intends to enroll (34 CFR §§ 99.7, 99.31(a)(2), and 99.34(a)(ii)).

Redisclosure and Recordation

Under the regulations, State and local educational authorities, as well as the Secretary of Education and other Federal officials and agencies that are listed in § 99.31(a)(3), may redisclose personally identifiable information from education records on behalf of educational agencies and institutions in accordance with the requirements in § 99.33(b) that require that the redisclosure meet the requirements of § 99.31 and be recorded. An educational agency or institution may comply with § 99.32(b) and record the names of the additional parties to which the receiving party may make further disclosures and their legitimate interests under § 99.31 or, if the educational agency or institution where the education records originated does not make this recordation of the further disclosures, then a State or local educational authority or other Federal official or agency that is listed in § 99.31(a)(3) that rediscloses education records on behalf of an educational agency or institution may comply with this recordation requirement (§ 99.32(b)(2)(i)(A)). An educational agency or institution is required to obtain a copy of a State or local educational authority's record of further disclosures and make it available in response to a parent's or eligible student's request to review the student's record of disclosures (§ 99.32(a)(4)). The State or local educational authority must make its record showing its redisclosures available to an educational agency or institution upon request within a reasonable period of time not exceeding 30 days (§ 99.32(b)(2)(iii)). The regulations permit the State or local educational authority to maintain the record by the student's class, school, district, or other grouping rather than by the name of the student (§ 99.32(b)(2)(ii)).

The Student Privacy Policy Office (SPPO) in the Department, the office that administers FERPA, has issued guidance documents about FERPA for parents and for eligible students. Those documents are available at: <https://studentprivacy.ed.gov/resources/parent-guide-family-educational-rights-and-privacy-act-ferpa> and <https://studentprivacy.ed.gov/resources/eligible-student-guide-family-educational-rights-and-privacy-act-ferpa>.

FERPA Regulations

The current FERPA regulations can be found at: <https://www.ecfr.gov/current/title-34/subtitle-A/part-99>. The current statutory language may be viewed at: USCODE-2017-title20-chap31-subchapIII-part4-sec1232g.pdf.

Statutory Amendments to FERPA Not in Regulations

There are two statutory amendments that Congress has made to FERPA that are not yet reflected in the regulations. These amendments are described below:

Uninterrupted Scholars Act of 2013: In January 2013, Congress passed the “Uninterrupted Scholars Act (USA)” which amended FERPA to permit educational agencies and institutions to disclose personally identifiable information from education records of a student in foster care placement to an agency caseworker or other representative of a State or local child welfare agency or tribal organization who is authorized to access a student's case plan when such agency or organization is legally responsible, in accordance with State or tribal law, for the care and protection of the student. See 20 U.S.C. 1232g(b)(1)(L). The USA also amended the exception to the general requirement of consent in FERPA that permits an LEA's or school's disclosure of PII from students' education records, without consent, if the disclosure is necessary to comply with a lawfully issued subpoena or judicial order. FERPA requires LEAs and schools to make a reasonable effort to notify the parent or eligible student of the subpoena or judicial order before complying with it in order to allow the parent or eligible student to seek to quash the subpoena or order or to seek protective action unless an exception to the general notification requirements applies. The USA amended this general notification requirement, adding an additional exception so that a school or LEA does not have to notify a parent if the court has already given the parent notice as a party in specified types of court proceedings. Specifically, the amendment modifies FERPA's statutory provision that generally requires that parents and students be notified of judicial orders or subpoenas in advance of compliance by the educational agency or institution by adding the following exception to the notification requirement-except when a parent is a party to a court proceeding involving child abuse and neglect (as defined in section 3 of the Child Abuse Prevention and Treatment Act (42 U.S.C. 5101 note)) or dependency matters, and the order is issued in the context of that proceeding, additional notice to the parent by the educational agency or institution is not required. [See 20 U.S.C. 1232g(b)(2)(B).]

Accordingly, if a school receives a judicial order or lawfully issued subpoena that was issued in the context of either of the foregoing two types of proceedings to which the parent was a party, FERPA permits the school to disclose the PII from education records necessary to comply with the order or subpoena, without consent. However, as explained, the school generally must make a reasonable effort to notify the parent or eligible student prior to disclosing the education records unless an exception to the notification requirement applies, such as when the court has already provided notice to the parent in the foregoing specified types of court proceedings.

We issued guidance on this change to FERPA in May 2014. Here is a link to the guidance: <https://studentprivacy.ed.gov/resources/uninterrupted-scholars-act-guidance>.

The Healthy, Hunger-Free Kids Act of 2010: In December 2010, Congress passed “The Healthy, Hunger-Free Kids Act of 2010.” This Act, in part, amended FERPA to permit educational agencies and institutions to disclose PII from students’ education records to the Secretary of Agriculture or authorized representatives of the Food and Nutrition Service for purposes of conducting program monitoring, evaluations, and performance measurements of programs authorized under the Richard B. Russell National School Lunch Act or the Child Nutrition Act of 1966, under certain conditions. See 20 U.S.C. 1232g(b)(1)(K).

Protection of Pupil Rights Amendment (PPRA)

Statute: 20 U.S.C. 1232h. Regulations: 34 CFR Part 98.

SPPO has issued guidance about parent rights under the PPRA and education official obligations in implementing the PPRA at <https://studentprivacy.ed.gov/resources/protection-pupil-rights-amendment-ppra-general-guidance>. Additional information on PPRA can be found at this link: <https://studentprivacy.ed.gov/content/ppra>. In summary, PPRA may apply to the programs and activities of a State educational agency (SEA), LEA, or other recipient of funds under any program administered by the Department. It governs the administration to elementary and secondary school students of a survey, analysis, or evaluation that concerns one or more of the following eight protected areas:

1. Political affiliations or beliefs of the student or the student’s parent;

2. Mental or psychological problems of the student or the student's family;
3. Sex behavior or attitudes;
4. Illegal, anti-social, self-incriminating, or demeaning behavior;
5. Critical appraisals of other individuals with whom respondents have close family relationships;
6. Legally recognized privileged or analogous relationships, such as those of lawyers, physicians, and ministers;
7. Religious practices, affiliations, or beliefs of the student or student's parent; or
8. Income (other than that required by law to determine eligibility for participation in a program or for receiving financial assistance under such program).

Under PPRA, parents are required to be notified and provide consent for any survey, analysis, or evaluation that falls into these eight categories. In addition, as explained further below, an LEA must implement a policy concerning the right of parents to inspect, upon request, any instructional material used as part of the educational curriculum for students, and the procedure for granting a request by a parent for such access within a reasonable period of time after the request is received.

As explained in more detail below, PPRA also concerns the development of local policies concerning student privacy, parental notification of these local policies and of the specific or approximate dates of certain specific activities (e.g., the administration of certain invasive physical exams or screening to students), the opportunity for the parent to opt the student out of participation in certain specific activities, and parental access to information. The rights under PPRA transfer from the parents to a student who is 18 years old or an emancipated minor under State law.

LEAs must provide parents and eligible students effective notice of their rights under PPRA. In addition, LEAs are required, in consultation with parents, to develop and adopt local policies concerning student privacy, parental access to information, and administration of certain physical examinations to minors. The general notice of rights under PPRA may include the specific local policies. <https://studentprivacy.ed.gov/annual-notices>

PPRA requires LEAs to work with parents to develop and adopt policies on the following items:

- The right of parents to inspect, upon request, a survey created by a third party before the survey is administered or distributed by a school to students and the procedure for granting a request by a parent for such access;
- Arrangements to protect student privacy that are provided by the LEA in the event of the administration of a survey to students containing one or more of the eight protected items of information noted above (including the right of parents to inspect, upon request, a survey that concerns one or more of the eight protected items of information);
- The right of parents to inspect, upon request, any instructional material used as part of the educational curriculum for students, and the procedure for granting a request by a parent for such access within a reasonable period of time after the request is received;

- Administration of physical exams or screenings of students;
- The collection, disclosure, or use of personal information (including items such as a student's or parent's first and last name, address, telephone number or social security number) collected from students for marketing purposes, or to sell or otherwise provide the information to others for marketing purposes, including the LEA's arrangements for protecting student privacy in the event of collection, disclosure, or use of information for these purposes; and
- The right of parents to inspect, upon request, any instrument used in the collection of personal information for marketing or sales purposes before the instrument is administered or distributed to a student and the LEA's procedure for granting a parent's request for such access.

LEAs must notify parents of these policies at least annually at the beginning of the school year. LEAs must also notify parents within a reasonable period of time if any substantive change is made to the policies. (This notification requirement may be included in the general notification of rights under PPRA.) An LEA is not required to develop and adopt new policies if the SEA or LEA had in place on January 8, 2002, policies covering the requirements set forth in this law. However, the LEA must still provide annual notice of these policies to parents.

In addition, an LEA must "directly" notify, such as through U.S. Mail or email, parents of students who are scheduled to participate in the specific activities or surveys listed below and provide an opportunity for parents to opt their child out of participation in the specific survey or activity. The notification must be provided at least annually at the beginning of the school year and must provide the specific or approximate dates during the school year when activities described below are scheduled or expected to be scheduled. If the LEA is unable to identify the specific or approximate dates of the activities or surveys requiring specific notification at the beginning of the school year, it must provide this notification to parents once the activity or survey is scheduled. Parents should be provided effective notification of the planned activities and surveys and be provided an opportunity to opt their child out, as well as be provided with an opportunity to review any pertinent surveys and instruments used to collect personal information from students for marketing purposes. LEAs must offer an opportunity for parents to opt their child out of participating in the following activities:

- The administration of any survey, analysis, or evaluation concerning one or more of the eight protected areas listed above;
- Activities involving the collection, disclosure, or use of personal information collected from students for marketing purposes, or to sell or otherwise provide the information to others for marketing purposes (except as noted below); and
- Any non-emergency, invasive physical examination or screening that is: 1) required as a condition of attendance; 2) administered by the school and scheduled by the school in advance; and 3) not necessary to protect the immediate health and safety of the student, or of other students.²

PPRA does not preempt applicable provisions of State law that require parental notification. Also, requirements concerning activities involving the collection and disclosure of personal information collected from students for marketing purposes do not apply to the collection, disclosure, or use of personal information collected from students for the exclusive purpose of developing, evaluating, or providing educational products or services for or to students or educational institutions, such as the following:

1. College or other postsecondary education recruitment, or military recruitment;
2. Book clubs, magazines, and programs providing access to low-cost literary products;
3. Curriculum and instructional materials used by elementary schools and secondary schools;
4. Tests and assessments used by elementary schools and secondary schools to provide cognitive, evaluative, diagnostic, clinical, aptitude, or achievement information about students (or to generate other statistically useful data for the purpose of securing such tests and assessments) and the subsequent analysis and public release of the aggregate data from such tests and assessments.
5. The sale by students of products or services to raise funds for school-related or education-related activities; and
6. Student recognition programs.

We trust this information is helpful to you. For additional information please visit the SPPO website at: <https://studentprivacy.ed.gov> where you may sign up for our monthly student privacy newsletter and submit questions directly through our student privacy help desk by selecting the “Contact” tab. You may also contact us using our address and telephone number as follows:

Student Privacy Policy Office
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue, S.W.
Washington, D.C. 20202
855-249-3072

² This provision does not apply to any physical examination or screening that is permitted or required by State law, including physical examinations or screenings permitted without parental notification. Additionally, this provision does not apply to hearing, vision, or scoliosis screening.