FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

Finding Peace in the Transition

There is a palpable shift in the air this weekend. Summer vacation is ending, and the anticipation of a new school year is upon us. For many of us, transitions bring a mixture of excitement and hidden anxiety. Will my child thrive? Will I handle the schedule? Will I survive the academic pressure among all the other extracurricular activities?

This Weekend's Scriptures speak directly to these fears. We find the Prophet Elijah exhausted and overwhelmed, and we find the disciples terrified by a fierce headwind in the dark. To both, God reveals Himself not as an added source of stress, but as a sanctuary of peace. Jesus steps onto the water and commands: "Take courage, it is I; do not be afraid."

As our children, teachers, and parents step out of the "boat" of summer comfort and into the unknown of a new school year, let us not focus on the winds and waves of daily stressors. Let's look to Jesus for guidance and comfort. One way we can ensure we are doing just that is making the Sunday Mass the non-negotiable anchor of your week and allowing His grace to steady your family through every storm this semester.

This is a wonderful time of year, and I believe in you and I pray for you often and daily.

Remember, Prayers Work!
