‘Ten Were Cleansed, Were They Not?’

BY ALICE CAMILLE

Happy thanksgiving! OK, so it's not that special occasion, not just yet. But in the context of our Eucharist (which as we all know means "thanksgiving") every day we find a reason for gratitude. In the scheme of our lives, too, we have many reasons to be grateful—though we don't always focus on them. Things that are wrong and need attention take up a lot more space in our field of vision.

Think about it. In every hour probably a thousand things go stupendously north while one tiny detail goes south and that one acts like a magnet for our energies. In this one hour, if your heart kept beating, your lungs functioned admirably, and your senses are not impaired, you probably didn't notice. But if your heart skips a beat or you sneeze or your vision gets blurry, it's the loud blip on your radar. Wellness never gets applause, but pain becomes the immediate fulcrum of our experience. If we paid all the bills this month, nobody throws a party for us; we don't even get a note of congratulations from our creditors. But if the light bill didn't get covered, we're bound to attract attention, maybe even find ourselves sitting in darkness later tonight. The nerve of these people not to remember how good we usually are!

Because the negative attracts more attention than the positive, we're better at prayers of petition than those of thanksgiving. We race to God when things fall apart—and may forget to return when everything's running smoothly. If you have relatives you only hear from when he needs a handout or she needs a shoulder to cry on, you may feel ambivalent about answering the phone when their number comes up. It would be nice if the office complainer or parish critic would also acknowledge when praise is in order. I've noticed whenever there's a prayer service involving writing down sins or healing intentions on a piece of paper, everyone gets busy with their pencils right away. But if we passed the basket around at the offertory this weekend and asked for an offering of thanks for what's gone well in the parish (or diocese or church as a whole) in the last year, would folks be as quick to compose elaborate lists?

Jesus scores 10 for 10, every single time: That number comes to him for healing; that same number goes away with restoration in the bag. One practically falls over his feet racing back to say thank you. What were the excuses of the other nine? We can hear them from here: Oh, look, now it's raining! Guess I lost my old job for good. And jeez, look who's welcoming me home, it's that Margaret woman.

CATHOLIC Q&A

QUESTION

I have seen the title of Vicar General and Chancellor used in our Catholic newspaper. Who are they and what do they do?

ANSWER

A bishop is in charge of a diocese and appoints people to help with its administration. Two of those positions are the Vicar General and the Chancellor. Both play a role in the life of a diocese, despite the many jokes priests may tell at their expense! A chancellor is the archivist of a diocese, charged with task of keeping the records of the diocese. Often a bishop may add other responsibilities and the chancellor may end up being like the executive director of the diocesan office. The chancellor does not need to be a priest.

The vicar general is a priest, appointed by the bishop and acts in the name of the bishop in administering the diocese. He has an advanced degree in canon law or theology. He also has executive authority within the diocese. This means that he is involved in the day-to-day pastoral and temporal administration of the diocese. Canon law does not allow a bishop to appoint a relative to the position, nor the priest in charge of the sacrament of penance. In both cases, the purpose of the law is to avoid conflicts of interest.

In the Diocese of San Diego, Maria Olivia Galvan is the Chancellor. The Vicars General are Bishop Ramon Bejarano and Bishop Felipe Pulido.

SOCIAL ACTION COMMITTEE

With increasing prices and cutbacks from governmental sources for the funding of food pantries, a crisis is growing. Our neighbor, the Stella Apartments, and the food bank at Holy Family Parish in Linda Vista are having difficulty keeping food on their shelves. Your generosity in bringing a couple cans of soup, chili or other non-perishable foods to church on the weekend of the first Sunday of the month helps greatly. In Nov, coin donations go to Holy Family Church Food Bank.

WEDDING GOWN AVAILABLE

If you know of a bride-to-be who is looking for a preowned and generously donated wedding dress and veil, please email Jojo in the Parish Office at jrangle@missionsandiego.org for more info.
