A Holy Nation

BY ALICE CAMILLE

A lot of folks are puzzled as to why Jesus asked his disciples not to go into pagan territory or to visit Samaritan towns on their first foray into ministry. Some scholars suggest that Jesus originally saw his role as narrowly provincial, and only later did he expand his vision when challenged by outsiders (most notably the Canaanite woman) to do so. Other scholars say it was Matthew and the Early Church that were thinking small and had to reconsider their horizons. Either way, the impression is that somebody made a mistake.

But perhaps Jesus meant what he said on that day and didn't need to reconsider anything. For the first mission, cleaning up the house of Israel may have been right on target. Israel, after all, was the holy nation, the kingdom of priests, the light set on a hill that would lure all nations out of the darkness. Israel's mission, according to centuries of prophecy, was to be the beacon. So it wasn't really narrow or nationalistic at all for Jesus to concentrate the original mission on the house of Israel. If you're going to get all those ships into safe harbor, start by refurbishing the lighthouse.

How Israel got to be holy

The Pentateuch tells the story of Israel's vocation to be a holy nation. God chose Abraham and Sarah to be the parents of a new people and called Moses to lead this people out of slavery into freedom. Those actions arguably made them special but not particularly holy. In fact, if you read the stories, you won't find a whole lot of evidence that this nation ever attained any outstanding merit in the sanctity department. What made Israel holy was not anything the people did, in the end. It was the very idea that God chose to dwell in their midst.

Holiness, like ritual impurity, was understood by the ancients to be a contagious phenomenon. When the Tent of the Presence was set up and the throne of the Ark in place, God's glory settled upon it in a way that was unusually particular for an omnipresent Being. God was the lamp on Israel's lamp stand, so to speak. So what was true of God became true for Israel. The nation communicated the light of God the way Moses returned from Mt. Sinai with a glory too bright to behold on his face.

So Israel became holy-by-association as a result of God's decision to pitch a tent and dwell at the center of the nation. This privileged proximity had its obligations, needless to say. The entire Law of Moses was put into place precisely to make it safe for the people to live in the constant presence of their God. Just as the holy utensils used in sacrifice were not to be touched by anyone but the priests, under pain of injury or possible death, so too a nation abiding with the Lord had to keep itself clean and pure at all times.

When circumstances led to periodic uncleanness, the persons involved were expected to remove themselves from the camp so as to keep the contamination to a minimum until the episode of impurity passed. If it didn't, of course, one might get very lonely on the outskirts of the community, but there was no recourse on the books for such an eventuality.

Dying for the unjust

Just as Israel was consecrated as a "holy nation" through no merit of its own, so, too, we Christians inherit salvation not because we're just but because God is. This is Paul's argument in Romans, and we'd be foolish not to take him up on the deal. He's making this point from the Jewish mindset about holiness and how it spreads from the indwelling God to the less-than-deserving nation. In the same way, it is understood that God's justification of less-than-deserving sinners in the Blood of Christ, while sufficient for our salvation, does not absolve us of the obligation to be just. But it sure doesn't rely on it. The work of salvation would go nowhere fast if it depended on humanity to be worthy of it.

This is what makes reconciliation a divine enterprise. The task of forgiving sins is a lopsided business: We sin and louse up the universe. God saves us and restores what was lost. It's the same deal every toddler gets with the parental units: I mess up the house. You put everything back where it belongs.

When Jesus makes his arrival into the house of Israel, the toddlers have been at it quite a while. Jesus sees sheep without a shepherd, vulnerable wanderers in the landscape of their vast ignorance. If salvation were to be merited, this nation would certainly be lost. And because this nation is the beacon destined to draw all others, it is here that the teacher must begin to teach, and the healer begin the process of healing.

But Jesus doesn't intend merely to restore Israel to holiness by the old method of the Law: banning the suspiciously sick, leprous, demonic, and those who have had contact with the dead to the outskirts of the community. Instead, he sets about to restore them to wholeness and to the community. If it's shepherds that are needed, he's got 12 handy to begin to gather the fold back together.

- A Pro-Life Rosary is prayed every first Thurs in the Mission Church at 5:00 pm. Next rosary: July 2.

MASS INTENTIONS

The tradition of offering a Mass Intention is a deeply meaningful and ancient Catholic practice. Since the Holy Mass is the greatest and most powerful prayer of the Church, having a Mass offered for a specific intention is a powerful way to intercede for the living, pray for the dead, and give thanks to God.

To request a Mass intention at Mission San Diego, stop by our Visitor Center & Gift Shop and complete a Mass Intention Request Envelope. Requests for a specific date and time should be made at least one month in advance. If no date is requested, the Mass will be scheduled as soon as possible.

In the Diocese of San Diego, the recommended offering for a Mass intention is $10.00. Offerings received from Mass intentions are given to the priest who celebrated the Mass as part of his compensation. At the Mission San Diego, the priest's Mass intentions are announced by way of the weekly bulletin.

FRANCISCAN SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

Representatives from the Franciscan School of Theology, located at the University of San Diego, will be here this weekend to share information with our parish community about graduate degree programs and continuing education opportunities, and the free summer lecture series for the St. Francis Jubilee Year.

ANNIVERSARY BLESSING

CONGRATULATIONS TO

Lamberto and Caridad Torres

who celebrated their 50th anniversary on June 20.

May the Lord continue to bless you both with his life and love!

GUIDELINES FOR THE RECEPTION OF COMMUNION

On November 14, 1996, the National Conference of Catholic Bishops approved the following guidelines on the reception of Communion. These guidelines replace the guidelines approved by the Administrative Committee of the NCCB in November 1986. The guidelines, which are to be included in missalettes and other participation aids published in the United States, seek to remind all those who may attend Catholic liturgies of the present discipline of the Church with regard to the sharing of Eucharistic Communion.

For Catholics

As Catholics, we fully participate in the celebration of the Eucharist when we receive Holy Communion. We are encouraged to receive Communion devoutly and frequently. In order to be properly disposed to receive Communion, participants should not be conscious of grave sin and normally should have fasted for one hour. A person who is conscious of grave sin is not to receive the Body and Blood of the Lord without prior sacramental confession except for a grave reason where there is no opportunity for confession. In this case, the person is to be mindful of the obligation to make an act of perfect contrition, including the intention of confessing as soon as possible (canon 916). A frequent reception of the Sacrament of Penance is encouraged for all.

For our fellow Christians

We welcome our fellow Christians to this celebration of the Eucharist as our brothers and sisters. We pray that our common baptism and the action of the Holy Spirit in this Eucharist will draw us closer to one another and begin to dispel the sad divisions which separate us. We pray that these will lessen and finally disappear, in keeping with Christ's prayer for us "that they may all be one" (Jn 17:21).

Because Catholics believe that the celebration of the Eucharist is a sign of the reality of the oneness of faith, life, and worship, members of those churches with whom we are not yet fully united are ordinarily not admitted to Holy Communion. Eucharistic sharing in exceptional circumstances by other Christians requires permission according to the directives of the diocesan bishop and the provisions of canon law (canon 844 §4). Members of the Orthodox Churches, the Assyrian Church of the East, and the Polish National Catholic Church are urged to respect the discipline of their own Churches. According to Roman Catholic discipline, the Code of Canon Law does not object to the reception of Communion by Christians of these Churches (canon 844 §3).

For those not receiving Holy Communion

All who are not receiving Holy Communion are encouraged to express in their hearts a prayerful desire for unity with the Lord Jesus and with one another.

For non-Christians

We also welcome to this celebration those who do not share our faith in Jesus Christ. While we cannot admit them to Holy Communion, we ask them to offer their prayers for the peace and the unity of the human family.

The restoration continues

Look around you: The community is not yet whole. Who stands apart from the rest of us because of impurity or unworthiness imposed from the outside? We marginalize our sisters and brothers for a variety of reasons: economic or moral, racial or ethnic, because of how they speak or dress or how they got here among us to begin with.

Most often it's the same vast ignorance that Jesus saw when he looked out over Israel that keeps us from becoming a whole community. We neglect the elderly, forget the sick, avoid the incarcerated, turn a blind eye to the unborn, blame the foreigner, are made uncomfortable by the mourner, and resent the presence and the message of the one who speaks for justice. Jesus still needs plenty of shepherds to bring the community together and to raise the light high enough for it to serve as a beacon for all.
