COLD DAYS HOT DEALS

Reference page 2 for details

SPOTLIGHT: JUST AROUND THE CORNER

As the cold weather nears, so does the need to check the condition of engine Antifreeze & Coolant during vehicle service.

It may seem like a simple fluid, but coolant is actually one of the most complex and critical under-hood products. A quick service check can prevent costly breakdowns, and knowing which coolant to use is key to customer trust.

Why Coolant Matters

- More than water and antifreeze: coolant is a balanced mix of glycol, water, and corrosion inhibitors.
- Glycol prevents freezing and raises the boiling point, protecting engines in both hot and cold conditions.
- Without corrosion inhibitors, coolant oxidizes and damages radiators, pumps, and gaskets.
- Over time, coolant formulas have evolved to match changes in engine design, materials, and emissions requirements.
- That's why every vehicle manufacturer specifies a particular type of coolant—and why using the correct fluid matters.

Expert Insight: Coolant does more than just manage temperature. It lubricates the water pump, prevents cavitation damage in high-performance and heavy-duty engines, and protects aluminum, magnesium, and composite materials used in today's cooling systems. Improper coolant selection or neglect can cause scale buildup, corrosion, and even head gasket failure.

Understanding Today's Antifreeze/Coolant Technologies

Coolant chemistry has evolved dramatically over the past few decades. No longer "one size fits all," antifreeze is now engineered to protect engines built with very different metals, gaskets, and performance demands. Here's a breakdown of the major coolant chemistries in today's marketplace:

IAT – Inorganic Additive Technology

- Base Chemistry: Ethylene glycol + inorganic salts (silicates, borates, phosphates)
- Service Interval: ~2 years / 30,000 miles
- Applications: Older domestic vehicles (pre-1995), some industrial uses

OAT – Organic Acid Technology

- Base Chemistry: Glycol + organic acid inhibitors (carboxylates)
- Service Interval: ~5 years / 150,000 miles (varies by OEM)
- Applications: Widely used in late-model GM (DexCool®), Chrysler, and many import vehicles

HOAT – Hybrid Organic Acid Technology

- Base Chemistry: Blend of OAT + inorganic salts (commonly silicates or phosphates)
- Service Interval: ~5 years / 150,000 miles
- Applications: Many Ford, Chrysler, and Mercedes-Benz models

P-HOAT – Phosphated HOAT (Asian Vehicles)

- Base Chemistry: OAT + phosphate salts
- Service Interval: ~5 years / 150,000 miles
- Applications: Toyota, Honda, Nissan, Hyundai, Kia, and other Asian OEMs

Si-HOAT – Silicated HOAT (European Vehicles)

- Base Chemistry: OAT + silicates
- Service Interval: ~5 years / 150,000 miles
- Applications: VW, Audi, BMW, Mercedes-Benz, Volvo, Jaguar, Land Rover

Universal / Extended Life Coolants

- Base Chemistry: OAT or HOAT blends formulated for broad application
- Service Interval: Typically, ~5 years / 150,000 miles
- Applications: Designed for aftermarket service when OEM-specific coolant is unavailable

Heavy-Duty Coolants

- Fully Formulated (Pre-Charged): Contain nitrites, molybdates, and other additives for liner pitting protection in diesel engines
- Extended-Life (ELC): OAT/HOAT chemistries for heavy-duty use, requiring Supplemental Coolant Additives (SCAs) at longer intervals
- Applications: Class 8 trucks, construction, agriculture, and off-highway equipment
- Special Requirement: Protects against cavitation erosion in wet-liner diesel engines

NAPA Vehicle Specific Antifreeze and Coolants are designed to take complexity out of the many different coolants in the market.

NAPA offers vehicle-specific formulas that meet OEM requirements across Asian, European and North American applications. Each is engineered to deliver up to 5 years or 150,000 miles of protection (with a complete flush and fill) while safeguarding against overheating, freezing, rust, and corrosion.

Asian Vehicle Formulas (POAT)

- Blue, Red/Pink, Green – Designed for Asian makes requiring phosphate-enhanced organic acid technology. Each matches the factory-fill color and chemistry to ensure compatibility with Toyota, Honda, Nissan, Hyundai, Kia, and other Asian vehicles.

European Vehicle Formula (Si-HOAT)

- European Blue – Meets requirements of VW, Audi, BMW, Mercedes-Benz, Volvo, and others with silicate-enhanced hybrid OAT chemistry for aluminum protection and long life.

North American Vehicle Formulas

- Gold (HOAT) – Used in many Chrysler and Ford vehicles.
- Orange (OAT / DexCool® type) – Designed for GM and late-model Ford vehicles.

CONVENTIONAL GREEN ANTIFREEZE & COOLANT

helps provide immediate corrosion protection with a shorter service life-best for older domestic vehicles and light-duty trucks.

EXTENDED LIFE ANTIFREEZE & COOLANT

features an extended life coolant technology that is compatible for use in an all automobiles, light-duty trucks and motorcycles, regardless of make, model, year or original antifreeze color.

DEXCOOL ANTIFREEZE & COOLANT

is an orange-colored ethylene glycol-based antifreeze that may be used in all General Motors vehicles requiring Dexcool® antifreeze and coolant, newer Ford vehicles requiring Motorcraft specialty orange engine coolant, as well as other automobiles, light duty trucks and motorcycles with aluminum radiators.

HEAVY DUTY ANTIFREEZE & COOLANT

is fully formulated with nitrite/molybdate inhibitors for liner-pitting protection in wet-sleeve diesel engines. Compatible with supplemental coolant additives (SCA) for extended service intervals in on- and off-highway equipment.

DON'T WAIT FOR WINTER, PREPARE FOR IT.

Without lighting that can lead the way through blistering snow-storms and foggy conditions, you might as well not even leave your fleet's base. More excessive winter conditions could mean little visibility for your driver and other drivers on the road.

We applied our self-regulating heating technology through lighting applications across the entire vehicle, preventing ice and snow build-up so commercial vehicles can see and be seen from all angles during the entire season.
