

CODING YOUR INJECTORS

Baileys Blueprinted injectors need to be coded to the ECU prior to installation ensuring no coding issues and to achieve optimal engine performance and fuel economy.

It's very important that the correct data is entered. The new serial codes for these injectors are printed on the handy sticker sheet included in the box. Under no circumstances is the old code (printed on the head of the injectors) to be used, as it will not work.

Find your new codes by referencing the injector serial number to the sticker sheet.

Thanks again for purchasing from the Baileys Blueprinted range.
